Dice, Rings, Tokens & The Council of Rivendell

LOME/WOME/KOME Dice, Elven Rings, and Ruler token restrictions.

• A base game Elven Ring ability can be used once per turn (i) to change an Action die or a KOME Ruler die result (but not a LOME die or WOME Faction die, and not into a Will of the West), or (ii) to remove cards like "The Palantír of Orthanc", or (iii) to change a non-Eye Action die result to an Eye result before taking an action, and then play or pass (this is often done by Shadow to increase the number of Eyes in the Hunt Box). Note: Using a base game Elven Ring is not an action, and so the same player must play or pass after doing this.
• Keepers and Lesser Minions are not eliminated due to (i) Using a Keeper's Elven Ring special ability, or (ii) Losing a Keeper or Lesser Minion die by a ★ "Remove" symbol. This is a frequently misunderstood point.
• Note that only a single base game Elven Ring or a single KOME Ruler token may be used per turn.
• An Elven Ring may be used for its LOME Keeper Elven Ring ability (but only if that Keeper is currently in play) or its base game ability. LOME Keeper Elven Ring abilities are not restricted to one per turn and could all be used in the same turn (or even more times if "Three Rings for the Elven Kings" is played). LOME p14.

"Any Action die result" and LOME/WOME/KOME dice.

WOME Faction dice do not act as "any Action die result" under any circumstances. They are not "normal Action die for any other purpose (such as Events requiring the use of "any Action die", or the influence of Elven Rings), unless otherwise stated." (WOME p8). However, LOME Keeper or Lesser Minion dice and KOME Ruler dice are "any Action die result" for all game functions, e.g., for the base game Strider Guide ability, or, e.g., to remove cards like "The Palantír of Orthanc" or "A Power Too Great" from play.

The Council of Rivendell (LOME) is optional, i.e., both players must agree for it to be in use. Note that even if it is not in use, the Free Player still has the right to choose Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya (LOME p30).

• Choose Companion versions and Guide. The Free Player secretly picks which Companion versions will be in play if the Council is in play. Show the initial Guide to the Shadow player.
• Recover Action Dice Phase. Recover the Narya die if Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya, is the initial Guide (even if Strider is later chosen to be the turn 1 Guide in the Fellowship Phase).
• Draw Event Cards. Take one card from each deck (including the WOME Faction deck if WOME is in play).
• Fellowship Phase. The Free Peoples player must choose the turn 1 Guide. If The Council of Rivendell is in use: a) The Free Peoples player may send any LOME Companions to their alternate starting locations (any Hobbits of the Shire to The Shire, Boromir to Minas Tirith, Gimli to Erebor, Legolas to Woodland Realm). b) If 1 LOME Companion is chosen to start outside of the Fellowship, the Shadow player then decides on which Action token he will take ("Move all Nazgûl and Minions" and "Advance a Shadow Nation on the Political Track"). If 2 or more LOME Companions are chosen to start outside of the Fellowship, the Shadow player takes both tokens. Note that the decision on whether Companions will start outside of the Fellowship is made after drawing Event cards, e.g., if LOME Gimli is in play and "Book of Mazarbul" is drawn, it may be useful to start Gimli in Erebor.
• Allocate Hunt Box & Roll Action Dice. The Shadow player may place Action dice into the Hunt Box (placing no Action dice is also permitted on turn 1) and then both players roll Action dice for turn 1 simultaneously.

Warriors of Middle-earth Factions

Faction	Faction Activation Use an Action die "Muster" or Faction die "Recruit" result to bring Faction into play.	Faction Elimination Remove that Factions figures immediately if eliminated and cannot re-enter play later after elimination.	Movement
Dead Men Stacking: no limit	If Strider/Aragorn adjacent to Erech (including through impassable mountains, and if under siege). Recruit 2 Dead Men to Erech.	Eliminate Faction if there are no Dead Men in play, or if Strider/Aragorn chooses to disband the Dead Men. [2]	By "Wraiths of Fear" only.
Eagles Stacking: no limit	If the Ring-bearers figure is not in Rivendell, or if Gandalf the White is in play. Recruit 2 Eagles to Eagles Eyrie.	Eliminate Faction if there are no Eagles in play. [2]	By Cards only. ∞ / 4 including through impassable borders.
Ents Stacking: no limit	If Saruman is in play and a Companion (this could be Treebeard or the Army of the Dead [web]) is in Fangorn. Recruit 2 Ents to Fangorn.	Eliminate Faction if there are no Ents in Fangorn, or no Companion is in Fangorn (or for Treebeard, if he is not in Fangorn or Rohan). [2]	By "March of the Ents" only.
Corsairs Stacking: 5	If Southrons & Easterlings are "At War". [1] Recruit 3 Corsairs to Umbar.	Eliminate Faction if Umbar is ever conquered. [1] [3] Corsairs remain in play if no Corsairs figures are in play.	Move with Army, or by cards: 4, or 2 + attack.
Dunlendings Stacking: 3	If Saruman is in play. [1] Recruit 4 Dunlendings, 2 in each of North/South Dunland.	Eliminate Faction if North/South Dunland are ever both conquered. [1] [4]	Move with Army, or 2 by cards.
Spiders Stacking: no limit	If the Ring-bearers figure is not in Rivendell. Recruit 2 Spiders, 1 in Minas Morgul and 1 in Dol Guldur (even if one or both are conquered).	Eliminate Faction if there are no Spiders in play. [4] Spiders remain in play if Dol Guldur and Minas Morgul are both captured.	Move with Army, or 2 by cards.

1. A Faction can't be pre-eliminated before it enters play, e.g. Corsairs can enter play if Umbar was captured but then is recaptured by Shadow. [web]
2. Free Peoples Faction figures are never with a Free Peoples Army, and so are not eliminated if a Free Peoples Army in the same region is eliminated.
3. Corsairs' figures are with a Shadow Army in the same region (and can move with them) but are not eliminated if the Army they are with is eliminated.
4. Dunlendings and Spiders figures are eliminated "similarly to Characters", e.g., if "The Spirit of Mordor" eliminates a Shadow Army, it will not affect Dunlendings and Spiders (or Minions and Nazgûl), but if the Shadow Army they are with is eliminated in battle, then they are also.

Faction Movement.

Faction figures (except for Eagles) cannot move (or attack) through impassable borders.

Dead Men can only move via the "Wraiths of Fear" cards.

Eagles can move anywhere on the map when "Move all Eagles" is on a card. Eagles Call to Battle cards state "within a distance of 4 regions", and impassable borders can be moved over for this movement. (WOME p17)

Ents can only move via the "March of the Ents" cards (but can never move back into Fangorn using this card).

Corsairs can move with a Shadow Army, or using the Faction Event cards "A Great Fleet", "Black Sails" (up to 4 regions) or transporting Armies with "Ships of Great Draught" (up to 4 regions, or, up to 2 regions and then attack). Any coastal or Gondor region (except Erech) is legal, and, on their own, may move into or through regions with an enemy Army or unconquered enemy Settlements (normal movement restrictions apply when transporting Armies). Corsairs cannot be "under siege" and, on their own, can move in and out of besieged Stronghold regions.

Dunlendings can move with a Shadow Army, or alone by cards up to 2 regions. When moving alone, they cannot move into a region with a Free Peoples Army, or into an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold (unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army); they may move anywhere else, including unconquered Free Peoples Towns and Cities.

Spiders can move with a Shadow Army, or alone by cards up to 2 regions. When moving alone, they cannot move into any region with a Free Peoples Army, or into any unconquered Free People Settlement (Town, City, or Stronghold), except to a Stronghold that a Shadow Army has besieged.

Disbandment of the Army of the Dead (rules altered in November 2022). Once the Dead Men Faction are in play, after either player chooses an Action die but before declaring what to do with that die, the Free Peoples may disband the Dead Men. If he chooses not to disband, he cannot change this option later if, for example, Shadow declares that he is attacking a Free Peoples Army in the same region as the Army of the Dead. [web]

Automatic disbandment of the Army of the Dead happens immediately if the last Dead Men figure is removed from the board. This can happen due to a "Wraiths of Fear" card, or a Dead Men Call to Battle card. Strider/Aragorn and any Companions with him stay in their current region (and if there is a Free Peoples Army in the region, they immediately join that Army). If this is mid-battle, the Companions can immediately be eliminated with that Army, or by cards that affect Companions ("Black Breath", "Hideous Speed"), but they cannot use their Combat abilities or Leadership until the start of the next Combat round. [web]

Kings of Middle-earth Summary

Setup & Ruler dice. Place all non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereign figures in their home regions. Dark Chieftains and Ruler dice do not start in play. Each player gains their Ruler die only on turns with one or more of their Rulers in play. After the Action Roll, each player must discard either their Ruler die or another Action die (discarding a Ruler die Eye result is allowed, but not an Eye result on another Action die). LOME/WOME dice cannot be discarded in this way. The Shadow player discards first if both Ruler dice are in play. [web]

Sovereign corruption attempts require that the Free Peoples have one or more Action dice still in their Action Pool, and that there are at least two Eyes in the Hunt Box. 1. Shadow uses an Eye (as an Action) from the Hunt Box and chooses a non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereign to target; each Sovereign can only be targeted once per turn. 2. Draw a Hunt tile (secretly, only Shadow may view) per remaining Eye in the Hunt Box up to a maximum of three tiles; set aside any Eye, Special tile (blue or red), or LOME Sméagol tile, drawing a new tile to replace each. 3. If a Kings tile is drawn, it counts as 0; immediately place it face up on the Sovereign Corruption board for that Sovereign. Otherwise, the Shadow player picks and views one of the drawn tiles and then places that tile face down on the Sovereign Corruption board. Show the other drawn tiles and then return them to the Hunt Pool. 4. If the total corruption on a Sovereign is equal to or exceeds his Shadow Resistance, show his tiles, discard one with the highest value (a Reveal icon counts as a higher value if there is a tie), and return the other tiles to the Hunt Pool. Discard the Sovereign figure and play the Corrupted Sovereign in his home region.

Corruption removal. If a Companion is with a Sovereign and has that Sovereign's Nation icon (or the Free Peoples icon): (i) if the Nation becomes active (a retreat into that region does not qualify [web]) and/or moves on the Political Track, remove one Corruption tile from the Sovereign [web], or (ii) if the Sovereign is already Corrupted, use an Action die Character result (as an Action) to remove that Corrupted Sovereign from play.

Awakening Sovereigns & Recruiting Dark Chieftains Use a Muster result on an Action die or any non-Eye result on a Ruler die to awaken a Sovereign or Recruit a Dark Chieftain (see the conditions and placement requirements for each on the Rulers table below). LOME Action tokens from the Council of Rivendell may also be used with a Muster result or any non-Eye Ruler die to recruit a Dark Chieftain, ignoring recruitment rules (but not placement rules). Upon awakening a Sovereign, the Free Peoples player takes that Sovereign's Ruler token.

Ruler die abilities & Ruler/Dismay tokens. Each Sovereign's second ability requires a specific result on the Ruler die. Each Free Peoples Ruler's token may be used once per game to change the Ruler die to that Sovereign's required result, and must immediately use that Sovereign's second ability. In a single turn, only one Ruler token or one Elven Ring (base game effect) may be used (but LOME Keeper Elven Ring effects do not have this restriction and may be used freely in any turn). Dismay tokens are optional (but are recommended in LOME or WOME games). If (i) an Awakened Sovereign is eliminated, or (ii) his Ruler token is used, flip the token to its "Dismay" side and give it to the Shadow player; it can be used immediately after an Action Roll to (i) re-roll the Shadow Ruler die, or (ii) force the Free Peoples player to re-roll their Ruler die.

Forfeited Combat cards The Dark Chieftains or Brand may forfeit a played Combat card to replace that card effect (including its initiative) with an effect unique to each Ruler. (i) The card must still be "played" and so its play condition must be valid. (ii) Dark Chieftains decide on using this ability before revealing Combat cards, but Brand decides after. (iii) The card played that will be forfeited cannot be a WOME Call to Battle card.

- LOME (i) An Eye result on a Lesser Minion or Keeper die in the Hunt Box may be used as an Action for corruption attempts by the Shadow player, (ii) dice added to the Hunt Box by "Captain of Despair" cannot be used for corruption attempts in any way, but still function for the Hunt as normal (place those ones added by the "Captain of Despair" effect in the right half of the Hunt Box and the "normal" Hunt dice in the left half).
- WOME An Eye on the Shadow Faction die in the Hunt Box may be used (as an Action) for corruption attempts.
- Fate of Erebor. Do not use Dáin / Brand, or the KOME "Dain Ironfoot's Guard" / "King Brand's Men" cards.

- Variants. (i) Visible Corruption tiles (optional) remain face up to all players; if a card effect refers to "hidden Corruption tiles", read this as meaning "any Corruption tiles other than Kings tiles". (ii) Sequential Corruption tile draws (optional). The Shadow player can stop drawing tiles in a corruption attempt when they want (up to the maximum allowed). The last drawn tile must be used. (iii) Removing Ruler tokens (optional). When playing with LOME and/or WOME, do not use Ruler tokens. Dismay tokens will only be granted to the Shadow player when an Awakened Sovereign is eliminated. (iv) Corruptor token (non-optional). In four player games, Shadow players must alternate corruption attempts in a turn; give this token to the last Shadow player who did so this turn.

a. Gandalf the White can move up to 4 regions alone (or with a single Hobbit), but 3 regions when moving with any other Companions.

b. Gandalf the White has 1 Leadership, or 0 Leadership if he uses The White Rider to forfeit Leadership for the entire battle.

c. Elrond or Galadriel are not Companions for non-combat Event cards (e.g., "Stormcrow" cannot be played on the Elven Nation due to their presence) but are Companions (Level 3) for combat-related Event cards, and all Combat / WOME Call to Battle cards, e.g., for "Heroic Death" they may absorb 3 hits, and for "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld", "The Fighting Uruk-Hai", they meet the condition to allow the Free Peoples to play a card on the first round of combat in battles started by those cards. [web] The effect of WOME "Majesty and Glory" can be activated by Elrond or Galadriel (as it is a combat-related Event card).

Shadow cards that draw Hunt tiles (Rafamir, base+LOME)

Painted miniatures: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11, Notes: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 Terrain and maps: 1 2 3 4

Gandalf the Grey, The Grey Wanderer Level 3. Leadership 1. Can activate any Nation (at a City or Stronghold). Captain of the West.

• Guide ability. This allows drawing the same type of card just played (which could also be from the WOME Faction deck if that expansion is in play), only if an Event result is used and Gandalf is the Guide at the end of the Action. Example 1. Gandalf is the Guide. An Event Action die result is used to play "I Will Go Alone" and Gandalf separates from the Fellowship. At the end of the Action, Gandalf is no longer Guide, so his Guide ability is not triggered. [web] Example 2. Strider is the Guide and Gandalf is also in the Fellowship. An Event result is used to play "I Will Go Alone" and Strider separates, so Gandalf becomes the Guide (as he is now the highest-Level Companion in the Fellowship) and so the Free Peoples player may trigger this ability.

• If the Guide ability is used after using an Event die to play a card that provides an additional card draw, the Free Peoples Player may draw twice (once for the card, and then again for Gandalf's Guide ability). [web]

• This Gandalf version is separate from and cannot use any of the abilities of the other Gandalf versions, i.e. Gandalf the White, or LOME Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya.

• Captain of the West. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army with Gandalf the Grey, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more Captains of the West / LOME Champions are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5.

Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya Level 3. Leadership 1. Can activate any Nation (at a City or Stronghold).

• Guide ability. If Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya is the Guide during the Recover Action Dice phase, recover the Narya die. The die will remain in play for the whole turn even if Gandalf is subsequently eliminated in the Fellowship Phase (e.g., this can happen due to the LOME Balrog or "The Gates Are Closed" after declaring) or if the Free People's player decides to change the Guide in the Fellowship Phase to Strider (because the decision on changing the Guide happens after the Recover Action dice phase). The Narya die is not recovered if Gandalf only becomes Guide during the Fellowship Phase. Conversely, Similarly, if Sméagol was the Guide and the Fellowship declared into an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold as Sméagol is discarded if that happens, and this causes Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya to become the Guide, this is after the Recover Action Dice phase, and so the Free Peoples player will not get the Narya die on this turn.

• This Guide ability only activates if a Free Peoples Action die is recovered from the Hunt Box. The following do not meet this condition: (i) an Action die recovered from the Fellowship Box due to LOME Strider, Dúnadan's Guide ability, (ii) a Keeper die "Eye" result recovered from the Hunt Box, (iii) if the Fellowship moves due to base game "There Is Another Way", WOME "Swift Boats", or WOME "Lifted up and Borne Far Away" cards (since the die used to play those cards does not go into the Hunt Box). i.e., The Narya die is only recovered if at least one non-"Eye" Free Peoples Action die is recovered from the Hunt Box as the result of a Fellowship movement.

• This Gandalf version is separate from and cannot use any of the abilities of the other Gandalf versions, i.e. Gandalf the White, or base Gandalf the Grey, The Grey Wanderer. Notable, this version does not have the Captain of the West ability (even though Gandalf the Grey, The Grey Wanderer does have that ability).

• If multiple Keeper dice are in play, and one (or more) rolls an "Eye" result, then an "Eye" result must be used this turn (discard the other Keeper dice and recover them next turn if their Keeper is still in play).

• Narya the Great. Gandalf cannot use this Keeper Ring ability while in the Fellowship; he must separate from the Fellowship first, i.e., the Free Peoples Player cannot separate Gandalf from the Fellowship, move him to e.g., Westemnet, and then use the Narya Keeper Elven Ring to activate and move Rohan to "At War" all in a single Action. Gandalf must be at a Settlement, then use any Action die (a Keeper die may be used, but the WOME Faction die may not) to flip the Narya Keeper Elven Ring token and pass it to the Shadow player and activate the Narya the Great ability. This ability will override "Wormtongue" (discard it from play). [web] The ability cannot be used from within the Fellowship (e.g., if the Fellowship is at a Free Peoples Settlement and Gandalf is in the Fellowship). Other Gandalf versions cannot use this ability.

Gandalf the White, Emissary of the West Level 3. Leadership 1. Can activate any Nation (at a City or Stronghold).

• Use a Will of the West Action die result to bring Gandalf the White into play if a) Gandalf the Grey has been eliminated or has left the Fellowship, and b) any valid Minion is (or has been) in play (e.g., if Saruman entered play and then was eliminated, and no other Minion is on the board, Gandalf may come into play). If Gandalf the Grey is outside of the Fellowship and in play, replace him with Gandalf the White; otherwise, place Gandalf the White in Fangorn or in an unconquered Elven Stronghold (including a Stronghold that is currently under siege).

• Note that in LOME and KOME, Gandalf the White cannot enter play unless one of the Witch-king, The Black Captain, Saruman, or the Mouth of Sauron (either version) is in play. Hence, the Shadow player may choose to prevent Gandalf the White from entering play by only bringing in certain Minions (LOME Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths, LOME The Balrog of Moria, LOME Gothmog, or KOME Dark Chieftains).

• This Gandalf version is separate from and cannot use any of the abilities of the other Gandalf versions, i.e. Gandalf the Grey, The Grey Wanderer, or LOME Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya.

• If Gandalf the White is currently in play at any Recover Action dice phase, gain his additional Action die for his presence in the game. If Gandalf the White is eliminated in a turn, do not remove his additional die from play; it will remain in play until the next Recover Action dice phase.

• Note that although Gandalf the Grey, The Grey Wanderer has the Captain of the West ability, Gandalf the White does not. Gandalf the White instead may use the White Rider ability in battles.

• White Rider. This can only be announced at the very start of a battle and lasts for the entirety of that battle (i.e., it cannot be turned on or off at each new Combat round; it is either on for the whole battle or off for the whole battle and is decided before Combat card declaration). Gandalf forfeits his Leadership to use this ability which is why "Daring Defiance" is playable (as a least one Companion is in the battle) but has no effect since all Companions in the battle cannot forfeit their Leadership as required by "Daring Defiance". The Shadow player cannot play any card that requires Nazgûl Leadership when this ability is in use (e.g., "Dread and Despair", "Foul Stench", "They are Terrible"), but may play cards that require the presence of Nazgûl (e.g., "Black Breath", "Words of Power").

• Shadowfax. Gandalf the White is level 4 for movement, but only if he is alone or with a single Hobbit, and he is level 3 when moving with other Companions and in battle.

Strider, Ranger of the North Level 3. Leadership 1. Can activate only The North (at The Shire or Dale). Captain of the West.

• Guide ability. The use of "any of your Action die results" to hide the Fellowship may be a LOME Keeper die or KOME Ruler die but may not be the WOME Faction die (WOME p8).

• Strider (either version) can activate the North by ending movement in The Shire or Dale but cannot advance them on the Political Track. He cannot activate Gondor (or any other Nations) until after he becomes Aragorn (crowned as King using the Heir to Isildur ability).

• Captain of the West. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army with Strider, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more Captains of the West / LOME Champions are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5 dice.

• Heir to Isildur. This ability cannot be used in a required region if it is conquered (the only valid regions are Minas Tirith, Dol Amroth, or Pelargir), e.g., even if Strider is in a Free Peoples Army that has besieged a conquered Minas Tirith, he may not use this ability there unless Minas Tirith is recaptured. There is no restriction on using this ability with a Free Peoples Army that is currently besieged inside a Stronghold. If Strider is currently with the WOME Army of the Dead in one of these unconquered regions, he may use this ability (and he will remain with the Army of the Dead in this scenario).

• WOME Recruiting the Dead Men Faction in Erech can even be done if Strider is inside a besieged Dol Amroth or Helm's Deep; move him out of the siege to Erech if so.

Strider, Dúnadan Level 3. Leadership 1. Can activate only the North (at a City or Stronghold). Captain of the West.

• Guide ability. In full, the ability is "If the Fellowship is on step 1 or higher on the Fellowship Track, the first Action die used to move the Fellowship in a turn is not added to the Hunt Box. Place the die in the Fellowship Box instead. This die is recovered normally next turn". There are three conditions that must be met for this ability:

1. The Fellowship Track must be on step 1 or higher at the beginning of an Action.
2. The Action die is the first die used to move the Fellowship this turn (i.e., if an Action die, other than a rolled Keeper die "Eye", is in the Hunt Box or the Fellowship Box, this ability cannot be used).
3. Strider must be the Guide at the end of the Action, when the die is normally placed into the Hunt Box.

- Strider cannot use this Guide ability more than once in a turn, unless the Vilya Elven Ring ability is used to recover the die allowing Strider to use this Guide ability again in the turn. [web]
- If Strider is eliminated during a Fellowship move, his Guide ability cannot be used.
- If no Free Peoples Action dice are recovered from the Hunt Box, but one is recovered from the Fellowship Box from the use of this Guide ability, the Shadow is not required to place any dice in the Hunt Box on the next turn.

E.g., The Fellowship starts a turn on Fellowship Track step 0 and Gandalf is the Guide. The WOME "Swift Boats" card is used to move the Fellowship (when an Event card moves the Fellowship, the die is used to play the card and so does not go into the Hunt Box). The Fellowship is now on step 1 (condition 1 is met) and no die has been used to move the Fellowship yet. A Character result is now used to move the Fellowship (the first die to do so on this turn, i.e., condition 2 is met). The Hunt is successful and a "2" Hunt tile is drawn. The Free Peoples player chooses to eliminate the Guide (Gandalf) for this damage and Strider, Dúnadan is now the Guide at the end of the Action (condition 3 is met). All three conditions are met, and so the Action die is placed into the Fellowship Box instead of the Hunt Box. [web] [web]

• Strider (either version) can activate the North by ending movement in The Shire or Dale but cannot advance them on the Political Track. He cannot activate Gondor or other Nations until after he is crowned as Aragorn (who has the Free Peoples icon that can activate any Nation) with the Heir to Isildur ability.

• Captain of the West. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army with Strider, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more Captains of the West / LOME Champions are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5 dice.

• Heir to Isildur. This ability cannot be used in a required region if it is conquered (the only valid regions are Minas Tirith, Dol Amroth, or Pelargir), e.g., even if Strider is in a Free Peoples Army that has besieged a conquered Minas Tirith, he may not use this ability there unless Minas Tirith is recaptured. There is no restriction on using this ability with a Free Peoples Army that is currently besieged inside a Stronghold. If Strider is currently with the WOME Army of the Dead in one of these unconquered regions, he may use this ability (and he will remain with the Army of the Dead in this scenario).

• WOME Recruiting the Dead Men Faction in Erech can even be done if Strider is inside a besieged Dol Amroth or Helm's Deep; move him out of the siege to Erech if so.

Aragorn, Heir to Isildur Level 3. Leadership 2*. Can activate* any Nation (at a City or Stronghold). Captain of the West.

• If Aragorn is in play at the Recover Action dice phase, gain his additional Action die for his presence in the game. If Aragorn is eliminated in a turn, do not remove his additional die from play; it will remain in play until the next Recover Action dice phase.

• Captain of the West. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army with Aragorn, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more Captains of the West / LOME Champions are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5 dice.

• Aragorn will activate any Nation if he ends movement or enters play at a City or Stronghold of that Nation. If Gondor is not activated, it will be activated when Aragorn is brought into play.

• WOME Recruiting the Dead Men Faction in Erech can even be done if Aragorn is inside a besieged Dol Amroth or Helm's Deep; move him out of the siege to Erech if so.

Lord Elrond, Keeper of Vilya Level 3. Leadership 2. Requires either Sauron Nation or Elven Nation to be At War.
Lady Galadriel, Keeper of Nenya Level 3. Leadership 2. Requires either Sauron Nation or Elven Nation to be At War.

• Use a Muster Action die result to recruit Elrond into Rivendell or Galadriel into Lórien if a) the Elves or Sauron are at War, and b) the Elven Stronghold is unconquered. Either Keeper can be recruited even if the Stronghold is besieged (but not if conquered; if the Stronghold is conquered and then recaptured, Elrond or Galadriel could still come into play, but they can only come into play once per game each. E.g., if a Shadow Army is besieged inside a conquered Lórien, Galadriel cannot be recruited in the Free Peoples Army there unless Lórien is recaptured, but not if she had previously been in the game and eliminated.

• Unlike all other Companions and Minions (who remain in play if they are alone in an empty Stronghold which is then captured), Elrond or Galadriel are eliminated immediately if they are in play and their home Stronghold is captured, e.g., if a Shadow Army moves into an empty Rivendell or Lórien while that Keeper is in play, which includes if a Free Peoples Army retreats out of Rivendell or Lórien and a Shadow Army captures the Stronghold (this is notably different from Saruman or the Balrog who would survive these scenarios). This is noted as a bullet point on the Elrond and Galadriel character cards.

• Elrond or Galadriel may sortie out of a siege, or attack an adjacent region, but may not advance after battle when attacking an adjacent region (however, Army units and other Leaders may advance). [web]

• If a Keeper die had a ★ "Remove" symbol last turn, and Gandalf the White is currently in play during the Recover Action dice phase at the beginning of a new turn, eliminate that Keeper die (but not the Keeper) for the rest of the game.

• Losing either the Vilya (Elrond) or the Nenya (Galadriel) Keeper die due to a ★ "Remove" symbol (if that die was chosen to be used on the previous turn and if Gandalf the White is in play at the start of next turns Recover Action dice phase) does not cause the Keeper (Elrond or Galadriel) to be eliminated.

• If multiple Keeper dice are in play, and one (or more) rolls an "Eye" result, then an "Eye" result must be used this turn (discard the other Keeper dice and recover them next turn if their Keeper is still in play).

• Using Elrond's (Vilya) or Galadriel's (Nenya) LOME Elven Ring ability does not eliminate that Keeper.

• Elrond or Galadriel do not normally act as Companions for Event card text (e.g., "The Eagles are Coming" or "Stormcrow" could not be played due to their presence) but are Level 3 Companions for Combat effects (e.g., up to 3 damage for "Heroic Death"), and that also includes Combat-related Event cards such as "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld", "The Fighting Uruk-Hai" (hence, Elrond or Galadriel do meet the condition to allow the Free Peoples to play a card on the first round of combat if they are present in battles started by these cards [web]), or can use the effect of WOME "Majesty and Glory".

• (Elrond) Vilya, Mightiest of the Three. The Free Peoples Player decides on using Elrond's Vilya Elven Ring ability after the Action has resolved. i.e., after the result of any Action, if Elrond is in play, the Free Peoples player may use the Vilya Elven Ring (flip the Vilya token and pass it to the Shadow player) to keep the Action die just played. [web] The card states, "except a Will of the West." A Will of the West result used to bring Gandalf the White or Aragorn into play, to remove/deactivate the LOME Balrog or to discard a Shadow Event card on the table (e.g., "The Palantír of Orthanc") cannot be kept, but if the Will of the West die is changed to another result (as per normal usage of a Will of the West result), then it is allowed to keep the changed result, i.e., a Will of the West result cannot be kept in an unchanged form with this ability. The Free Peoples player may also use this ability to take back a LOME Keeper die that was just used but may not take back the WOME Faction die. Since the timing of the Vilya ability is at the end of an Action, the Free Peoples player may even use Vilya to retain the same die that was used to bring Elrond into play. [web] The Free Peoples player's Action ends upon using this ability, i.e., he does not then immediately get to play that retained die again; the Shadow player gets to play (or pass) an Action first.

• (Elrond) The Household of Elrond. Elven Elites in Rivendell act as Leaders if Elrond is in play but cannot be chosen to be eliminated by "Black Breath" or WOME "Hideous Speed". [web]

• (Galadriel) Nenya, Ring of Adamant. The Nenya Elven Ring ability may be used whenever an "Eye" Hunt tile is drawn (note that "The Ring is Mine!" red Shadow Special Hunt tile bearing an "Eye" is not a standard "Eye" Hunt tile). This applies for Hunt, and non-Hunt events (e.g., even for the "Challenge of the King" card). [web] The "Eye" tile is cancelled (remove it from the game; this tile will not be put back into the Hunt Pool in Mordor if this happens) and draw a new Hunt tile; apply the effects of the new tile. See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw. Note: KOME corruption attempts are an exception. Nenya (or other game effects) cannot affect tiles drawn during corruption attempts.

• (Galadriel) Valour of the Elven People. "You can recruit Elven units in Lórien, even if it is besieged." The Elven Nation must still be "At War" before it is permitted to recruit Elven units with this ability.

Boromir, Son of Denethor Level 2. Leadership 1. Can activate Gondor (at a City or Stronghold). Captain of the West.
Gimli, Son of Gloin Level 2. Leadership 1. Can activate Dwarves (at Erebor). Captain of the West.
Legolas, Son of Thranduil Level 2. Leadership 1. Captain of the West.

• Guide ability. These Companions have no Guide ability. Hence, if they become Guide during a Hunt (because of another Companion being taken as a casualty), any additional Hunt damage will be applied as direct Corruption.

• Activate their home Nation if they are separated and end movement at a City or Stronghold of that Nation (does not apply if they are still in the Fellowship, but the Fellowship figure can activate any Nation if it stops at a City or Stronghold of that Nation regardless of which Companions are in the Fellowship).

• Each Companion has an ability to advance their respective Nation on the Political track when in a City or Stronghold of that Nation, spending any Action die result.

• Captain of the West. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army with Boromir, Gimli, or Legolas, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more Captains of the West / LOME Champions are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5 dice.

Boromir, Captain General of Gondor Level 1 (but 2 for movement). Leadership 1. Gondor Champion.
Gimli, Dwarven Lord Level 1 (but 2 for movement). Leadership 1. Dwarven Champion.
Legolas, Elven Prince Level 1 (but 2 for movement). Leadership 1. Elven Champion.

• Guide ability. These are identical to the base game Hobbit Guide abilities (the wording is slightly different, but the ability is the same). These variants do not share the base game Hobbits Take Them Alive! ability, so an "Eye" tile from the LOME Balrog or being drawn as a random casualty will eliminate them (they cannot avoid elimination as the Take Them Alive! Ability allows). Similarly, if they are picked for "Lure of the Ring", if the Free Peoples player decides to eliminate them, they cannot separate to avoid elimination. If multiple Companions separate to reduce damage with these abilities (as is possible with the base game Hobbit versions, and the LOME versions of Boromir, Gimli, and Legolas) for a single Hunt tile, then they separate as a group and must end movement in the same region. Resolve each tile fully before drawing another if there are multiple Hunt tiles in the same Action. See Separating to reduce Hunt damage and multiple Hunt tile draws in The Ring-bearers entry for when these Companions use their Guide ability to separate and reduce Hunt damage.

• Messenger of Elrond (& Prince of Mirkwood for Legolas). These Companions do not activate their home Nation by ending movement at a City or Stronghold of that Nation (as base game versions of these Companions do). This ability uses any Action die result (including a LOME Keeper die, but not the WOME Faction die) to activate (if not already activated) and advance their home Nation on the Political Track if the Companion is at a City or Stronghold of that Nation. Note that this ability can be used multiple times during the same turn (once per Action die).

• Note that in LOME-KOME games, Legolas, Elven Prince, is the only LOME alternate Companion who has his Nation icon on his card. Hence, if he starts in Woodland Realm, he can remove Corruption from Thranduil, making Thranduil quite difficult to corrupt if Legolas starts the game in Woodland Realm, and, if Thranduil does become Corrupted, Legolas is able to remove him from play in that region.

• Champion abilities. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of the Free Peoples Army containing the Companion, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more LOME Champions / Captains of the West are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5, but only if the following conditions are met:
- Boromir, Gondor Champion: the defending Army must be in a Gondor region or Osgiliath.
- Gimli, Dwarven Champion: the defending Army must be in a region of the Dwarf Nation.
- Legolas, Elven Champion: the defending Army must be in a region of the Elven Nation.
Note that the defending Army could be a Shadow Army, e.g., Boromir is with an Army in North Ithilien and attacks a Shadow Army in Osgiliath; as the defender is in a valid region, his Gondor Champion ability will apply, but this ability does not apply if he attacks a Shadow Army in North Ithilien from Osgiliath.

Meriadoc Brandybuck, Hobbit Companion Level 1. Leadership 1. Can activate any Nation (at a City or Stronghold).
Peregrin Took, Hobbit Companion Level 1. Leadership 1. Can activate any Nation (at a City or Stronghold).

• Guide ability. "During the Hunt, if the Hunt damage is one or more, separate Meriadoc from the Fellowship to reduce the Hunt damage by one". The Hunt damage must be one or more, so this ability cannot be used in any non-Hunt situation, or say, an "Eye" tile for the LOME Balrog; this is a Hunt, but the Hunt damage is 0 as it is a special effect (Hobbit Companions escape elimination here due to their Take Them Alive! Ability, and not due to their Guide ability which cannot apply as there is no Hunt damage). If multiple Companions separate to reduce damage in this way (can apply to the base game Hobbit versions, and the LOME versions of Boromir, Gimli, and Legolas) for a single Hunt tile, then they separate as a group and must end movement in the same region Resolve each tile fully before drawing another if there are multiple Hunt tiles in the same Action. See Separating to reduce Hunt damage and multiple Hunt tile draws in The Ring-bearers entry for when these Companions use their Guide ability or Take Them Alive! ability to separate and reduce Hunt damage.

• Take Them Alive! This ability applies during both Hunt and non-Hunt events, when their Guide ability cannot apply. For example, if one of the Hobbits is drawn by "Lure of the Ring" (a non-Hunt Event), he may use this ability to avoid elimination and can move up to 1 region (as their movement level is 1). An "Eye" Hunt tile drawn due to the LOME Balrog Fire and Shadow ability is technically a Hunt event with no Hunt damage, so the Guide ability cannot apply. If this ability is used on the Mordor Track, simply remove the Companion from the game (consider them to be lost on the plains of Mordor).

• Activate any Nation by ending movement at a City or Stronghold of that Nation.

• These Hobbits are not Captains of the West or LOME Champions but do have a Leadership of 1.

Meriadoc Brandybuck, Hobbit of the Shire Level 1. Leadership 1, Messenger of Elrond (at Shire or Dale). Champion of the Shire Peregrin Took, Hobbit of the Shire Level 1. Leadership of 1. Messenger of Elrond (at Shire or Dale). Champion of the Shire

• Guide ability. This can only be used if both LOME versions have been chosen in the Council of Elrond, and both are still in the Fellowship (the Free Peoples Player cannot use this ability if one Hobbit is base game and the other is the LOME version), and one of them is currently the Guide. During a Hunt, the Free Peoples Player may then eliminate both LOME Hobbits of the Shire to cancel any standard Hunt tile, i.e., beige tiles, including "Eye" tiles (so does not apply to blue Fellowship or red Shadow Special Hunt tiles). No new Hunt tile is drawn and the Hunt ends. Note that "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" will be activated twice if it is in play (once for each Hobbit) [web], to remove a Free Peoples Character card in play on the table, or a random Character card from the Free Peoples hand on each activation, and note that these Hobbits cannot separate to avoid being casualties (as the base game versions can). Note: If another Companion is Guide and is taken as casualty to absorb part of the Hunt tile, and one of the Hobbits of the Shire becomes the new Guide, they may not use this Guide ability as it must cancel an entire tile. [web]

• Messenger of Elrond These Companions do not activate their home Nation by ending movement at a City or Stronghold of that Nation (as base game versions of these Companions do). This ability uses any Action die result (including a LOME Keeper die, but not the WOME Faction die) to activate (if not already activated) and advance the North Nation on the Political Track if a LOME Hobbit is at The Shire or Dale. This can be done multiple times in the same turn with each use being a separate Action.

• Champion of the Shire. Adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army with a LOME Hobbit, i.e., an additional Combat die (cumulative if more LOME Champions / Captains of the West are in the battle) up to a maximum of 5, but only if the defending Army is in a region of the North Nation. This can apply if the Champion is not in a region of the North Nation, e.g., Meriadoc attacking a Shadow Army in Dale from Erebor, since the defending Shadow Army is in a region of the North Nation.

• Note that although the Champion abilities only function when the defender is in a region of the North Nation, the Hobbits of the Shire also have a Leadership of 1 anywhere on the board.

• The Art of Disappearing. "If a Hobbit of the Shire is eliminated in a battle, put him back in play in an adjacent region". In almost all battles, this means that these Companions cannot be eliminated, but an exception is if the "Words of Power" card is played and a Hobbit of the Shire is picked, this ability will be negated so that if that Free Peoples Army is eliminated in that round, the Hobbit of the Shire will also be permanently eliminated, since Leaders are eliminated immediately when the Army is eliminated (and while this ability is negated). [web] The FAQ states that using this ability follows normal movement rules, but if the Free Peoples Army is inside a Stronghold it is not permitted to move out of a Stronghold under siege. The most recent printing of this ability (Anniversary Edition LOME+KOME) clarifies this; these Hobbits are put back in play in an adjacent region 'at the end of the battle' and must always be put back in play in an adjacent region, even if eliminated while besieged inside a Stronghold and the Free Peoples Army is not eliminated (which means that normal rules of Companion movement are broken). [web]

Gollum, Slave of the Ring

• Guide ability. (i) Gollum ignores reveal icons, but only on standard (beige) numbered Hunt tiles, i.e., standard "Eye" tiles, and red Shadow Special Hunt tiles that show a reveal icon will always reveal the Fellowship if Gollum is the Guide (unless the outcome is altered by, e.g., "Mithril Coat and Sting" or LOME Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability). (ii) Gollum may reveal the Fellowship during a Hunt to reduce Hunt damage by 1, on any tile (even red Shadow Special Hunt tiles), unless the Fellowship is already revealed or was revealed by the tile already (an "Eye" tile or red Shadow Special Hunt tile with a reveal icon will always reveal the Fellowship).

• Any Guide abilities may be used immediately when a new Guide is chosen, including mid-Hunt resolution. e.g., a "2 with reveal icon" Hunt tile is drawn and only Meriadoc (base game version) is left in the Fellowship. He uses his Guide ability to separate and reduce damage by 1, then as Gollum is now the Guide, he ignores the reveal icon. The remaining 1 damage can either be resolved by taking 1 point of Corruption, or, by using Gollum's Guide ability to reveal the Fellowship to reduce damage by 1.

• If the Fellowship declares into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold and the LOME Balrog, or base game "Balrog of Moria" card, or LOME "The Gates are Closed" causes Hunt Damage, Gollum's ability to reveal and reduce damage can never be used to reveal into that City or Stronghold. E.g., The Fellowship declares from Rivendell into an unconquered Minas Tirith with only a Level 1 Companion left in the Fellowship, passing through Moria which contains the LOME Balrog. In order, a) Heal 1 Corruption due to declaring into Minas Tirith (if possible), then b) Draw a Hunt tile for the LOME Balrog's Fire and Shadow ability. A "3" tile is drawn, and the last Companion in the Fellowship is eliminated, and Gollum becomes the Guide, leaving 2 Corruption to deal with. Gollum cannot now use his ability to reveal the Fellowship in Minas Tirith to reduce damage by 1 due to the restriction on revealing into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold so the 2 Corruption must be taken as direct damage.

Sméagol, Tamed Wretch Level is equal to highest Level Companion in Fellowship (the Level is hidden from the Shadow player until it needs to be known).

• Sméagol tiles are not blue Fellowship Special Hunt tiles and follow different rules. Sméagol tiles are applied immediately when drawn, and before any Hunt resolution steps [FAQ]. The first time that a Sméagol tile is drawn for any reason (apart from "Premonition of Danger", or "Challenge of the King" as detailed below), then Sméagol enters play immediately (unless Sméagol has been in play and left, or Gollum is already the Guide, in which case, discard the Sméagol tile and redraw [web]). If a Sméagol tile is drawn while Sméagol is the Guide, then it has no effect (i.e., as if it was a "0" Hunt tile). Note that "Mithril Coat and Sting" cannot be used against Sméagol tiles. [FAQ] See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw. LOME p21: "If Gollum enters play before Sméagol (or if Sméagol has already been in play and subsequently discarded), Sméagol is not played when a Sméagol tile is drawn. Discard the tile and draw another." KOME Corruption attempts and Sméagol tiles. Although Sméagol tiles are not Special tiles, they are treated in the same way as Special tiles for Corruption attempts. "Sméagol tiles are ignored and redrawn during a corruption attempt, similarly to Special tiles." KOME p17

• "Challenge of the King" and "Premonition of Danger" cause some exceptions for Sméagol tiles. (i) If Sméagol has not yet been in play, or is currently in play, then a Sméagol tile acts like a normal tile and will be put back into the Hunt Pool (or permanently discarded from play by "Premonition of Danger") at the end of the Action. [web] (ii) If Sméagol has been in play but has since left the Fellowship or if Gollum is the Guide, Sméagol tiles are discarded immediately and replaced by another tile draw, i.e., Sméagol tiles are treated differently depending upon whether Sméagol has been in play or not.

• Guide ability. Sméagol is always the Guide of the Fellowship while he is in play [web], i.e., the Free Peoples Player cannot choose another Guide if the composition of the Fellowship changes or decide to make another Companion the Guide during the Fellowship Phase. For all game rules, he acts as a normal Companion (e.g., can be selected as a "casualty" and would activate "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" if so, or picked randomly for Hunt resolution, or separate alone or with a group using a Character Action die result, or for cards like "I Will Go Alone" or "Breaking of the Fellowship" though he will be removed from play immediately if this happens [web]). While Guide, he has the same level as the highest Companion in the Fellowship (but does not mirror any other abilities of that Companion).

• If Sméagol is the Guide when declaring in an unconquered Free People City or Stronghold, Sméagol must immediately leave the Fellowship, but if he enters play after declaring in such a region then he remains in play (however, if the Fellowship does not move this turn, but declares in that same City or Stronghold again on the next turn to heal Corruption, then Sméagol will be forced to leave).
Example: Gandalf is the Guide and the Balrog is in Moria. The Fellowship is on step 5 of the Fellowship Track and declares from Rivendell into an unconquered Lórien. The declaration must be fully resolved first, and the Fellowship heals, if possible. Then the Balrog's Fire and Shadow ability is activated (note that this is after the declaration), and a Sméagol tile is drawn. Sméagol immediately enters play as the Guide and is not removed due to the Fellowship being in Lórien as they have already declared. However, if Sméagol were the Guide before declaring into Lórien, he would immediately leave during the declaration and a new Guide would have to be chosen before dealing with the Balrog Hunt tile. [web]
Example: Sméagol is the Guide, and the Fellowship declares into an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold at the start of a turn. Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya is also in the Fellowship, and Free Peoples chooses him as the new Guide when Sméagol leaves, but note that this happens after the Recover Action Dice phase, and so the Free Peoples player will not get the Narya die on this turn.

• If Sméagol is eliminated or separated from the Fellowship, Sméagol tiles in play are left in the pool (however, discard the "We Won't Go Back" card if it is in play). If one of these Sméagol tiles is drawn after Sméagol has left, discard it and draw another, as Sméagol can only enter the game once. It is possible for the Hunt Pool to consist only of Sméagol tiles; in this situation, the Free Peoples player may try to force a tile draw so the Sméagol tiles are discarded causing the Hunt Pool to be refilled; this will then greatly increase the Fellowships chance of avoiding red Shadow Special Hunt tiles or "Eye" Hunt tiles in Mordor. [web]

• "If Sméagol is eliminated or discarded in any way (except being replaced by Gollum), the Event card "We Shall Get It" immediately enters play." The "replaced by Gollum" can appear ambiguous. Example 1. If Sméagol is the Guide and only one other Companion remains in the Fellowship and a random Companion pick takes the other Companion, Sméagol is now the last Companion and so is immediately replaced by Gollum.
Example 2. If all other Companions leave the Fellowship due to "Breaking of the Fellowship" leaving only Sméagol, then Sméagol is immediately replaced by Gollum. "We Shall Get It" will not enter play and Sméagol is not a "casualty" for "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" in these situations.

The Ring-bearers, Frodo & Samwise Can activate any Nation (at City or Stronghold).

• If the Fellowship Track is at 0, then the Ring-bearers figure represents the position of the Fellowship. At 1 or more, the figure represents the "last known position" of the Fellowship; the true location is not known until they reveal or declare (moving the Ring-bearers figure up to the number of regions on the Fellowship Track). The Fellowship Track always stays at 0 when the Fellowship is in Mordor.

• Declaring the Fellowship must follow these steps: a) If the Fellowship declares into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold (which is permitted even if a Stronghold is under siege), Sméagol must leave the Fellowship if he is in play; the Fellowship may heal 1 point of Corruption and activate that Free Peoples Nation, or if the region declared into is a conquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold, Sméagol may remain as Guide if he is in play; the Fellowship may not heal Corruption or activate that Nation politically. b) If the base "Balrog of Moria" card, or the LOME Balrog of Moria figure, or the LOME "The Gates are Closed" card are in play, they may be activated (see those cards for details). c) The LOME Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths may use "He Sees, He Knows" to move to the same region as the declared Fellowship, unless that region is an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold (note that the Chief of the Ringwraiths is permitted to follow to an unconquered Free Peoples City).

• Separating to reduce Hunt damage and multiple Hunt tile draws. Some Companions have abilities that allow them to separate to reduce damage during a Hunt. These separations must a) take place from the position of the Ring-bearers figure at the time that the tile was drawn, and b) if multiple Companions separate on the same Hunt tile, then they must move as a group. Example. The Fellowship is in Hollin and only the LOME variants of Legolas and Gimli and one base game Hobbit remain in the Fellowship. The LOME Balrog is in Moria. The Fellowship moves once and the Hunt fails, then moves again, and the Hunt is a success and a "2 with reveal" tile is drawn. Legolas first separates using his Guide ability to reduce Hunt damage by 1. Gimli is chosen as the new Guide (the Hobbit could also be Guide here as he is also Level 1). Gimli also separates using his Guide ability to reduce damage by 1. As both separations were on the same Hunt tile, they must move together; and can move up to 4 regions (Fellowship Track 2 plus Level 2 for movement) from the location of the Ring-bearers figure at the point the Hunt tile is drawn (i.e., Hollin). They cannot move through Moria to Lórien due to the restriction that Companions must stop if moving into an unconquered Shadow Stronghold, but could instead move, e.g., to Fords of Isen to help defend Rohan or to The Shire. The base game Hobbit is now the Guide. The Ring-bearers figure is moved to Dimrill Dale and revealed, and the Fellowship Track goes to 0. Now the LOME Balrog Hunt tile must be drawn (see the Balrog Fire and Shadow entry; this tile must be before the Stronghold Hunt tile). An "Eye" tile is drawn, eliminating the Guide and the Balrog. The Hobbit cannot use his Guide ability (as there is no Hunt damage) but can use his Take Them Alive! ability to avoid elimination (but the Balrog is still eliminated!) and can move 1 region from Dimrill Dale (he moves to Lórien). Gollum is now the Guide. Finally, a Stronghold Hunt tile is drawn, and this is a "3" tile. The Fellowship is already revealed, so Gollum cannot use his Guide ability to reveal the Fellowship to reduce Hunt damage and so all 3 damage is taken as Corruption.

• Separating Companions in a besieged or conquered Free Peoples Stronghold. If the Ring-bearers figure is at a Free Peoples Stronghold that is currently unconquered but besieged by a Shadow Army, any Companions that separate must join the Free Peoples Army inside that Stronghold and may not leave that region while it is besieged. However, if the Ring-bearers figure is at a Free Peoples Stronghold that is conquered, Companions that separate from the Fellowship may freely move out of that region.

• If a Companion is to be randomly picked from the Fellowship (during a Hunt, or for cards like "Foul Thing from the Deep" or "Lure of the Ring", the Shadow player always performs this action.

• The Ring-bearers figure cannot end movement in an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold when they are revealed. [web] However, they may move through such a region while being revealed (e.g., for the WOME "Western Way" card moving through the Grey Havens). The restriction is simply that the Ring-bearers cannot end movement revealed in an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold.

• "If one or more Fellowship Action dice were in the Hunt Box at the end of the previous turn, the Shadow player must place a minimum of 1 die in the Hunt Box." [p19] Note that a Keeper die that rolled an "Eye" result does not satisfy this condition, nor does a die that is in the Fellowship Box due to Strider, Dúnadan's Guide ability. At least 1 die must have been in the Hunt Box (and that could be a Keeper die if that die was used to move the Fellowship. E.g., Gandalf's Narya die rolls an "Eye", and that die is placed into the Hunt Box. The Fellowship moves once in the whole turn using Strider, Dúnadan's Guide ability. Therefore, the condition requiring the shadow player to put at least 1 die in the Hunt Box next turn has not been met.

• The Shadow player may only ever place a maximum number of dice in the Hunt Pool equal to the number of Companions in the Fellowship (and Sméagol or Gollum each count as 1 Companion for this).

• In Mordor, if the Fellowship does not move or hide in a turn, take one Corruption at the end of the turn (this is not Hunt Damage, so this cannot be cancelled by taking a casualty or using a card like "Axe and Bow"). Note that this is before the military victory condition check; if Corruption moves to 12 due to this, the Shadow player immediately wins the game (even if the Free Peoples is at 4 Victory Points).

• Each of the following in the same region as the Ring-bearers figure provides Shadow one Hunt re-roll (for up to a maximum of 3 re-rolls, one for each):
(i) Any number of Nazgûl (including either version of Witch-king).
(ii) Any number of Shadow Army units.
(iii) An unconquered Shadow Stronghold, or a conquered Free Peoples Stronghold.

- Cities (Shadow or Free Peoples, conquered or unconquered) do not provide additional Hunt re-rolls.
- Shadow Minions (except for the Witch-king, either version) do not provide any additional Hunt re-rolls.
- WOME Faction figures do not affect the Hunt, except if "Armed by Saruman" is in play (makes Dunlendings figures act as Army units for the Hunt), or if "Huge and Horrible" is in play (makes Spiders figures act as Army units for the Hunt).

Awakened Sovereigns

Awakened Sovereigns are Companions for all rules.

Brand, King of Dale	Level 1, Leadership 1, Shadow Resistance 2.
Dáin Ironfoot, King under the Mountain	Level 1, Leadership 1, Shadow Resistance 4.
Denethor, Lord Steward of Gondor	Level 1, Leadership 1, Shadow Resistance 3.
Théoden, King of the Riddermark	Level 2, Leadership 1 (but 3 on first round only), Shadow Resistance 3.
Thranduil, Lord of the Woodland Realm	Level 2, Leadership 1, Shadow Resistance 4.

Brand

Dáin

Denethor

Théoden

Thranduil

• Awaken a Sovereign by using a Muster result on an Action die, or any result on the Ruler die (or by the "Aid in Time of Need", or "There is Hope for Victory" cards). Brand can move and awaken in any unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold, but only if it is within movement equal to his Awakened Level, i.e., he cannot jump from Dale to Lórien to awaken there but may move and awaken in Lórien if he is standing in Dimrill Dale. Other Sovereigns may only awaken at their unconquered home region (it may be under siege if a Stronghold, but they may not enter a Stronghold under siege in this way), with movement equal to their Awakened Level. Sovereign movement in this way is not permitted unless the Sovereign can complete the awakening step. The Sovereign home regions are Dale (Brand), Erebor (Dáin Ironfoot), Minas Tirith (Denethor), Edoras (Théoden), and Woodland Realm (Thranduil).

• When a Sovereign awakens, all Corruption tiles on him are immediately put back into the Hunt Pool, and the Free Peoples player takes that Sovereign's Ruler token, which permits the use of any Ruler die result, once per game, as if it was the required Ruler die result for that Sovereign's second Special Ability (note that a Will of the West could also achieve this by changing the Ruler die result). Discard the Ruler token after use, or, if using the optional Dismay token rules, flip the token to its "Dismay" side and give it to the Shadow player.

• When a Sovereign is Corrupted, the highest valued Corruption tile on him is discarded (a tile with a Reveal icon counts as a higher value if there is a tie, and Kings tiles have a value of 0) and all other Corruption tiles on him are immediately put back into the Hunt Pool. Discard the Sovereign figure and place the Corrupted Sovereign figure in his home region.

• It is not permitted to use a Sovereign's Ruler token to activate a different Sovereign's ability, even if the other ability requires the same Ruler die result; a Ruler token is only usable for that Sovereign's ability.

• Brand Heir to Bard. The decision to forfeit the eligible Combat card happens after Combat cards are revealed and happens at initiative 0. This ability can only be activated once per battle.

• Théoden Forth Eorlingas ability. Gives Théoden a Leadership of 3 on the first round of any combat, whether defending or attacking, and, e.g., started by "The Fighting Uruk-hai" or "Help Unlooked For".

• Thranduil Far-sighted ability. (i) This ability cannot be used at all if the Fellowship is in Mordor (i.e., even the "move or separate Companions" part is not possible). (ii) When moving the Fellowship, the Ruler die is placed into the Hunt Box as normal (i.e., it is not like "There Is Another Way" or WOME "Swift Boats", where the card moves the Fellowship, and the die used does not go into the Hunt Box). (iii) When moving or separating Companions, every Companion involved gains the extra movement (i.e. if multiple separated groups of Companions are moved, they all gain this extra movement). (iv) You cannot use a Ruler die Character result to play a card like "We Prove the Swifter" and gain the Far-sighted ability at the same time (you can either play a card or use this ability, but not both).

• Dáin Ironfoot Dwarvenking, Denethor Stewardship, and Thranduil Elvenking abilities. Replaces a Regular Army unit with an Elite, even if under Siege; this Elite must come from reinforcements (not from casualties), and the Regular unit goes back into reinforcements. KOME p11

• Brand Call to Arms, Dáin Ironfoot Iron Guard, and Théoden Mustering of the Mark abilities. The Army units or Leaders may be recruited with that Sovereign even if he is outside of his Nation's borders.

• Denethor Palantír of Anárion ability. May also draw from the WOME Faction deck if it is in play. Note that Gandalf the Grey, the Grey Wanderers Guide ability may also activate during the same action. [web]

Treebeard, Tree-herd Promotional card. Collected Questions web web

• Treebeard was released as a promotional card during LOME events in 2012, and was updated in 2016. A version shipped with WOME is compatible with Ent Faction mechanics. Treebeard is optional; only use if both players agree to his use at the start of a game.

• To recruit Treebeard, Gandalf the White must be in play and a Companion (not necessarily Gandalf) must be in Fangorn; use a Muster Action die result to place him in Fangorn. Note the difference that recruiting the WOME Ents Faction requires Saruman to be in play and a Companion in Fangorn. Treebeard can act as a Companion for bringing the Ents into play, with the unique ability that he does can leave Fangorn and still maintain the Ents Faction (but only if he stays in a Rohan region). If he is eliminated, and no other Companion is in Fangorn, then the Ents Faction is immediately eliminated. web

• After Treebeard has been recruited in Fangorn, he can be activated (so becomes a Level 2 Companion with movement up to 2 regions or can move along with an Army) after the use of any base game "The Ents Awake" Event, or WOME "March of the Ents" Faction Event cards, or Ents Call to Battle cards. This activation only happens at the end of the action (if an Event card was played), or at the end of Combat round (if a Combat or Call to Battle card was played). Note that he activates even if a Call to Battle card is cancelled by "Swarm of Bats" (or KOME Lord of Bats or Shadows in the North) or if his abilities were cancelled by "Words of Power". web

• In WOME, Treebeard is a Companion and is not a part of the Ent Faction in any way. He is not an Ent for "March of the Ents" / "With Doom We Come", but he does provide a bonus to those cards. web

• Treebeard has 0 Leadership both when inactive (Level 0) and active (Level 2).

• While Level 0, he may not use a Character Action die result to move an Army with him. Once active as Level 2, it is possible to move an Army, even though he has 0 Leadership when he is Level 2. web

• Treebeard may use a Character Action die result to attack an adjacent region with an Army (even if he is inactive Level 0 with 0 Leadership). However, he may not advance after battle if he is still Level 0 (but the Army may advance as that is an after-battle effect not connected to how the battle started). web web

• If a Shadow Army attacks a Free Peoples Army in Fangorn with an inactive Treebeard (Level 0) and the Free Peoples Army retreats (after a combat round, or by playing a "Scouts" Combat card), Treebeard will remain in Fangorn and will not be eliminated if the Shadow Army advances into Fangorn. However, Treebeard is eliminated normally if all Free Peoples Army units with him are eliminated in a battle.

• Fangorn is my name. Treebeard is a Companion for all Event and Combat cards only when in Fangorn or a Rohan region, e.g., if he is active and moves to Fords of Isen, "Stormcrow" could be played against the Rohan Nation, but if he is in Gondor, "Stormcrow" could not be played against Gondor by his presence alone (since Treebeard is not a Companion outside of Fangorn or Rohan).

• Earthborn. Treebeard (even if inactive) adds 1 to the Combat Strength of a Free Peoples Army, if the defending army is in Fangorn, Orthanc or Rohan (i.e., also applies if he is outside these regions and attacks into them). This combines with other Combat Strength bonuses (e.g., Captains of the West). This also applies if in Orthanc, but he is not a Companion there. A Free Peoples Army with Treebeard attacking Orthanc in a field battle from Fords of Isen may use Earthborn and counts as a Companion (as Fangorn is my name makes him a Companion in Fangorn or Rohan, but not in Orthanc).

• KOME If Théoden is corrupted and Helm's Deep is conquered, Mark of the White Hand causes Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold. However, Fangorn is My Name and Earthborn still apply if Treebeard is in a conquered Helm's Deep (as it is still a part of Rohan). web

• Root and branch! This ability applies if Treebeard is in play (inactive or active, and even if he is not in Fangorn or a Rohan region). It allows re-rolling one missed die in each roll triggered by base "The Ents Awake" Event cards, or WOME "March of the Ents" Faction Event cards, or WOME "With Doom We Come" Call to Battle cards. This provides no bonus to the Combat card of base "The Ents Awake" cards.

Minions, Lesser Minions, and Dark Chieftains

The Witch-king, The Black Captain

Gandalf the White may enter play if this Minion is (or has been) in play.

• The Sauron Nation and at least one Free Peoples Nation must be "At War" to bring The Black Captain into play. Use a Muster Action die result to either (i) replace the Chief of the Ringwraiths if he is in play (the Witch-king may change version once per game, and note that there is no requirement for the Witch-king to be with a Sauron Army in this case), or (ii) place the Witch-king with an Army that contains at least one Sauron Army unit (Nazgûl are not Sauron Army units, so do not qualify for this). There is no restriction on doing this into a Shadow Army that is currently besieged inside a Stronghold. Activate all Free Peoples Nations when the Black Captain enters play but if the "Wormtongue" card is already in play on the table then Rohan will not be activated (note also that if Saruman is eliminated, causing "Wormtongue" to be removed from play, Rohan will still not be activated if the Witch-king is already in play, as it is only when he enters play that Nation activations happen).

• The Black Captain has a Leadership of 2 and is a Nazgûl with flying movement, i.e., can move anywhere on the board, except to unconquered Free Peoples Strongholds that are not under siege by a Shadow Army), including to enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold.

• The Shadow Player may change the version of the Witch-king once per game by using a Muster Action die result to replace the Witch-king with the other version if the requirements of the other version are met, but if eliminated, the other version cannot be brought into play.

• Sorcerer. Draw the same type of Event card as that used in the first Combat round of a battle in which the Black Captain participated (note that Gandalf the White's "White Rider" cannot prevent this ability, but if the Black Captain is in a rearguard or is eliminated during the first Combat round, this ability cannot trigger [web]). The played card must be "used", and "Combat cards are always discarded as soon as the Combat round is over" [p29], so this is only after all Combat round steps are complete (i.e., all casualties resolved, and, if a siege battle, the attacker must downgrade an Elite to a Regular if he wants to continue the attack to the next round). The Step 5 decision "Choose to Cease the attack or Retreat" must also be complete, i.e., if a retreat happens that must be fully resolved before the Sorcerer card is drawn. Note that this is before advance after combat, and so the drawn card may be looked at by the Shadow player to inform his decision on whether to advance or not if Shadow is attacking. WOME This ability is not activated when a Call to Battle Combat card is played in the first Combat round.

The Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths

Not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• The Sauron Nation does not need to be "At War" to recruit the Chief of the Ringwraiths. Use a Muster Action die result to: (i) Place him in the region with the Fellowship if it is not standing at an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold, or on the Mordor Track, or on the WOME "Western Way" card. Note that the Chief of the Ringwraiths may be recruited if the Fellowship is at a conquered Free Peoples Stronghold or a Free Peoples City. (ii) Alternatively, replace The Black Captain if he is in play (the Witch-king may change version once per game). There is no restriction on doing this into a Shadow Army that is currently besieged inside a Stronghold, but this replacement is only possible if the Fellowship is not in an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold.

• The Chief of the Ringwraiths has a Leadership of 1 and is a Nazgûl with flying movement (i.e., can move anywhere on the board (except an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold not under siege), including to enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold).

• The Shadow Player may change versions of the Witch-king once per game by using a Muster Action die result to replace the Witch-king with the other version if the requirements of the other version are met, but if eliminated, the other version cannot be brought into play.

• The Chief of the Ringwraiths is not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White (a more powerful form of Gandalf changed by the Valar) into play with the thematic reasoning that the Chief of the Ringwraiths is a figure of stealth in Middle-earth, while Saruman and the Witch-king, The Black Captain, and the Mouth of Sauron are overt displays of military/magical power to challenge the Valar.

• Spear of Terror. If the Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the same region as the Fellowship when a Shadow Character Event card is played ("The Palantír of Orthanc" requires an Event Action die result, but this is triggered if a card is played, regardless of how, so using either a Character or Event result will trigger this ability), the Shadow Player may draw another Character Event card immediately. Note: this ability triggers before executing the steps of the played Event card. e.g., if the Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the same region as the Fellowship and plays "The Nazgûl Strike", the Shadow player may draw a new Shadow Character card before moving the Nazgûl, and the newly drawn card may influence that movement. A new card is not drawn if the Chief of the Ringwraiths was not in the same region as the Fellowship at the start of the Action. Note: This ability is only activated when playing an Event card and does not apply in any battle involving the Chief of the Ringwraiths for Combat Card effects on a Character Event card. Note: This ability is not usable when WOME Faction cards marked with the Character icon are played, as they are not part of the Character Event deck as stated on the Witch-king card (WOME p7).

• If "The Palantír of Orthanc" card is in play and an Event result is used to play a Character card, and the Witch-king Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the same region as the Fellowship, only one of these abilities may be triggered: the Shadow player must decide to use the Chief of the Ringwraiths "Spear of Terror" ability (at the start of the Action, to draw a new card from the Character deck), or, after the Action has fully completed, to instead use "The Palantír of Orthanc" ability to draw a new card from the Character or Strategy deck (or, alternatively, from the WOME Faction deck, if that is in use in the current game).

• He Sees, He Knows. This ability can only be used during a declare, it is never possible to follow the Fellowship if the Ring-bearers figure moves due to a "reveal", or due to an effect like the "Cruel Weather" card. If the Fellowship declares into a region where the Balrog's Fire and Shadow ability or "The Gates are Closed" card are activated, resolve those effects first, then the Shadow Player may move the Chief of the Ringwraiths to the region with the Fellowship. [web] If a Shadow Army has besieged an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold that the Fellowship declares to, the Chief of the Ringwraiths may not follow (the presence of the Shadow Army does not override this restriction; however, the Chief of the Ringwraiths could be moved into that region later), but if the Free Peoples Stronghold is conquered, the Chief of the Ringwraiths may follow. This ability cannot be used to follow the Fellowship onto the Mordor Track or the WOME "Western Way" card (only the Fellowship can be on those regions) but could be used to follow the Fellowship to Minas Morgul or Morannon in a turn that they declare there, before entering Mordor.

Saruman, Corrupted Wizard

Gandalf the White may enter play if this Minion is (or has been) in play.

• Use a Muster Action die result to place Saruman in Orthanc if a) Isengard is "At War", and b) Orthanc is unconquered. Saruman may enter play if a Shadow Army is besieged inside Orthanc but may not enter play if Orthanc is conquered and a Shadow Army has besieged it. However, if Orthanc was captured, and Orthanc is recaptured, and Saruman has never been in play, then Saruman may be brought into play, i.e., he may only be brought into play once per game, but only at a time when Orthanc is unconquered.

• Saruman has a Leadership of 1, and has a movement of 0, i.e., Saruman can never leave Orthanc.

• If Saruman is in play and Orthanc has no Army units and a Free Peoples Army moves into that region to capture the Stronghold, Saruman is not eliminated (he is protected inside "the black, impenetrable tower of Isengard built by the Dúnedain"). If a Shadow Army later besieges Orthanc, Saruman immediately joins that Shadow Army in the region of Orthanc (and may be eliminated in that battle).

• Battles involving Saruman.

(i) If a Shadow Army besieges a captured Orthanc while Saruman is in play, Saruman immediately joins the Shadow Army (this can happen if Saruman was alone in Orthanc and a Free Peoples Army captures Orthanc, so that Saruman remains in play, as per the previous point).

(ii) If a Free Peoples Army attacks Orthanc (from an adjacent region, or has already besieged a Shadow Army inside Orthanc, or sorties out from inside a conquered and besieged Orthanc), Saruman is with the Shadow Army (and may not be held in a rearguard as that is not possible for a defending Army).

(iii) Saruman may use a Character Action die result to attack an adjacent region (even if he is the only source of Leadership) but may not advance after battle to the attacked region (however, Army units and other Leaders with him may do so). [web]
(iv) Saruman is eliminated in any battle in which all Shadow Army units with him are eliminated.

• Retreats involving Saruman. If a Free Peoples Army attacks a Shadow Army in Orthanc that is not under siege, and the Shadow Army can retreat, the Shadow Army may a) retreat with Saruman into siege inside Orthanc (if that is possible), or b) retreat to an adjacent free region, leaving Saruman behind in Orthanc. Saruman remains in play even if the Free Peoples Army captures Orthanc.

• If Saruman is the only leadership in Orthanc, the Shadow Player may not use a Character result to move an Army out of Orthanc, as at least one Leader must move with the Army when moving in this way, which Saruman cannot do.

• If Saruman is in play and no Shadow Army units are in Orthanc, an "Ent's Awake" card or WOME "March of the Ents" card will eliminate Saruman (but not any other Minions or Nazgûl there in this case).

• The Voice of Saruman. Various cards allow recruiting when under siege, but this ability states "under your control and not under siege" so cannot be used either when a Shadow Army is besieged inside Orthanc or even when a Shadow Army has besieged a Free Peoples Army inside Orthanc (it is possible for Saruman to still be in play in this situation if a Free Peoples Army moves into an empty Orthanc when Saruman is already in play). If any of North Dunland, or South Dunland are captured when this ability is used, do not recruit into the captured region(s).

• Servants of the White Hand. If Saruman is eliminated, the Isengard Elites lose this leadership immediately, e.g., if Orthanc is besieged and attacked, and Saruman is eliminated by "Blade of Westernesse" or "Fateful Strike" (both initiative 6), the Isengard Elites lose their leadership at that point from the moment that Saruman is eliminated (initiative 6 in this case) and for the rest of the battle.

The Mouth of Sauron, Lieutenant of Barad-dûr

Gandalf the White may enter play if this Minion is (or has been) in play.

• The Sauron Nation does not need to be "At War" to recruit the Mouth of Sauron, Lieutenant of Barad-dûr. Use a Muster Action die result to place the Lieutenant of Barad-dûr in any unconquered Sauron Stronghold (i.e., cannot be Orthanc, Umbar or Angmar), if either (i) the Fellowship is on the Mordor Track, or (ii) all Free People Nations are "At War". There is no restriction against doing this recruitment into a Shadow Army that is currently besieged inside a Sauron Stronghold.

• The Mouth of Sauron has a Leadership of 2 and can move up to 3 regions (non-flying movement, i.e., he cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold). When moving without an Army he cannot be moved into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• The Shadow Player cannot swap between the different versions of the Mouth of Sauron (as is possible with the Witch-king), and if eliminated, the other Mouth variant cannot be brought into play.

• Messenger of the Dark Tower. The Shadow Player can use a Muster Action die result "as an Army result", and so can move up to two Armies, or initiate an attack with one Army (that Army does not need to contain the Mouth, unlike the Black Númenórean's Great Sorcery ability) or play a Strategy Event card that shows an Army symbol. This ability may only be used once per turn.

The Mouth of Sauron, Black Númenórean

Gandalf the White may enter play if this Minion is (or has been) in play.

• The Sauron Nation does not need to be "At War" to recruit the Mouth of Sauron, Black Númenórean. Use a Muster Action die result to place the Black Númenórean in any unconquered Sauron Stronghold (i.e., cannot be Orthanc, Umbar or Angmar, but could be a besieged Sauron Stronghold), if either (i) the Fellowship is on the Mordor Track, or (ii) the Free Peoples has 1 or more Victory Points (due to capturing a Shadow City or Stronghold).

• The Mouth of Sauron has a Leadership of 2 and can move up to 3 regions (non-flying movement, i.e., he cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold). When moving without an Army he cannot be moved into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• The Shadow Player cannot swap between the different versions of the Mouth of Sauron (as is possible with the Witch-king), and if eliminated, the other Mouth variant cannot be brought into play.

• Evil Knowledge. If the Black Númenórean is in a siege battle started by the Shadow player, he may extend any one round of the Shadow player's choice (this ability does not just apply to round 1, as with the Witch-king, The Black Captain's "Sorcerer" ability, and can be used after "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld" or "The Fighting Uruk-Hai"). He may only use this ability once per battle (but could be used multiple times per turn).

• Great Sorcery. If the Black Númenórean is with a Shadow Army, the Shadow Player may use a Muster Action die result "to use that Army as if a Character result was used," and so can move or attack with that Army. As this die is used "as if" it is a Character result, it is not changed to a Character result, so this die is not put into the Hunt Box after use if the "Captain of Despair" card is in play on the table. This ability may only be used once per turn.

The Balrog of Moria, Evil of the Ancient World

Not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• Does not require Sauron to be "At War". The Shadow Player can recruit the Balrog even if Moria is conquered. Use a Muster Action die result to place the Balrog in Moria. Also recruit a Sauron Army unit (Regular or Elite) with him, but only if Moria is "unconquered and not under siege" (Sauron does not need to be "At War" for this and note that a Nazgûl is not an "Army unit" so cannot be recruited here). The Elven and Dwarven Nations advance one step on the Political Track (just advance, do not activate the Dwarven Nation, and so this cannot move the Dwarves to "At War" if they are not already activated). Note: The Balrog does not require Sauron to be "At War" to move or attack but his card has the Sauron Nation icon at the bottom right; this is to indicate that he is controlled by the Sauron player in 3/4 player games.

• The Balrog has a Leadership of 3 and adds 2 to the Combat Strength of the Shadow army he is with.

• If the Balrog is in play in an empty Moria and a Free Peoples Army moves into that region to capture the Stronghold, the Balrog is not eliminated (whether inactive or active); consider him to be deep within the tunnels of Moria. If a Shadow Army then besieges the Free Peoples Army that now controls Moria, the Balrog immediately joins the Shadow Army in Moria and will provide Leadership and Combat Strength (and may be eliminated in that battle).

• The Balrog cannot move when inactive. The Balrog can move up to 2 regions when active (non-flying movement, despite the wings depicted on his miniature, i.e., he cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold). He can also attack or move with armies using Character or Army Action dice results, as well as with the "Use Balrog" Balrog die result. When moving without an Army he cannot be moved into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• The Balrog is activated either by the "Use Balrog" Balrog die result or by playing the Event card "A Balrog is Come!". The Balrog may be made inactive either a) by the Free Peoples player using a Will of the West Action die result, or b) if Gandalf is in the same region as the Balrog and uses a Character Action die result. If the Balrog is made inactive in Moria, he remains in play; otherwise, he is eliminated.

• If the Balrog is in play during any Recover Action dice phase, gain the Balrog die (unless the Balrog die showed a ★ "Remove" symbol on the previous turn and either version of the Witch-king is in play during this current Recover Action dice phase, or if the Balrog die was previously removed from play). If either version of the Witch-king is not in play, the ★ "Remove" symbol has no effect. If the Witch-king is eliminated in the same turn as a Balrog ★ "Remove" result was used, the Balrog die will be recovered in the next turn (if the Balrog is still in play) as the Witch-king will not be present at the next Recover Action dice phase. Note: If the Balrog is eliminated in a turn, do not remove his additional Lesser Minion die from play, it will remain in play until the next Recover Action dice phase.

• If the Balrog die was recovered in the Recover Action dice phase, it will remain in play for this turn even if the Balrog is eliminated in the later Fellowship phase. e.g., This could happen if the Fellowship declares on a path that passes through the Balrog, and an "Eye" tile is drawn which eliminates both the Balrog and Guide of the Fellowship; as this happens after the Recover Action dice phase, the Balrog die will remain in play for this turn (but not in any future turns) in even though this happens before the Action dice roll.

• If both Lesser Minion dice (Balrog and Gothmog) are rolled on a turn, then the Shadow player decides which die to use, unless one or both dice shows an "Eye", in which case one of the "Eye" dice must be used. If neither shows an "Eye", and one shows a ★ "Remove" symbol and the other does not, the Shadow player may choose to retain and use the die without the ★ "Remove" symbol so that both dice remain in play, but he may also choose the die with the ★ "Remove" if that is more useful for him, knowing that this die will be permanently removed next turn if the Witch-king (any version) is in play.

• The Balrog die may not be allocated to the Hunt Box at the start of a turn (but if it rolls an "Eye" result, place it into the Hunt Box)

• The Balrog die may be used to remove "A Power Too Great" or "The Power of Tom Bombadil" and may also remove the WOME "Majesty and Glory" card (but only if the die shows a Character result).

• Making the Balrog Inactive. The Free Peoples player may use a Will of the West result against an active (Level 2) Balrog. If this is done when the Balrog is in Moria, the Balrog remains in play (even if Moria is conquered) but is made inactivate (Level 0). If the Balrog is not in Moria at the time, then the Balrog is eliminated (the Balrog die will remain in play until the next turn, however). If Gandalf (any version, Grey or White) is in the region with the Balrog, a Character Action die result will make the Balrog inactive, with the same effect as a Will of the West (i.e., this will eliminate the Balrog if he is outside of Moria at the time).

• Battles involving an inactive (Level 0) Balrog.
(i) If a Shadow Army attacks and besieges a captured Moria with the Balrog inside, the Balrog joins the Shadow Army (this can happen if the Balrog was alone in Moria and a Free Peoples Army captures Moria, so that the Balrog remains in play, as per the previous point).
(ii) If a Free Peoples Army attacks Moria (from an adjacent region, or attacking a besieged Shadow Army inside Moria, or a sortie out from inside a conquered and besieged Moria), the Balrog is with the Shadow Army (and may not be held in a rearguard as that is not possible for a defending Army).
(iii) The Balrog may use a Character Action die result to attack an adjacent region (even if he is the only source of Leadership) but may not advance after battle to that region while inactive (however, Army units and other Leaders with him may do so). [web]
(iv) The Balrog is eliminated in any battle in which all Shadow Army units with him are eliminated.

• Retreats involving an inactive (Level 0) Balrog. If a Shadow Army in Moria that is not under siege has the option to retreat in a battle, the Shadow Army may a) retreat with the Balrog into siege inside Moria (if that is possible), or b) retreat to an adjacent free region, leaving the Balrog behind in Moria. The inactive Balrog remains in play even if the Free Peoples Army then takes control of Moria. However, if the Balrog is active (Level 2), he must retreat with the Shadow Army if they do so.

• If the Balrog is inactive (Level 0) and is the only leadership in Moria, the Shadow Player may not use a Character result to move an Army out of Moria, as at least one Leader must move with the Army when moving in this way, which the inactive Balrog cannot do. An Army result may be used to move an Army (without the Balrog) out of Moria.

• Fire and Shadow is activated whenever a declare or reveal causes the Ring-bearers figure to move through, from, into or remains stationary in the region containing the Balrog (which might not be Moria if the Balrog is activated and has moved). The Shadow player must (this ability is not optional) draw a Hunt tile if this happens. Always ignore "reveal" icons on non-"Eye" tiles, and an "Eye" tile causes a special effect where both the Balrog and the Guide are eliminated (unless Gollum is the Guide, in which case neither the Balrog nor Gollum are eliminated and the "Eye" tile is discarded without effect). This ability works also when the Balrog is inactivate (Level 0). This ability is considered a Hunt, and all Hunt related effects apply (e.g., using "Axe and Bow" to reduce damage). [web] If the Guide and Balrog are eliminated by an "Eye" tile, this counts as a casualty for "Worn with Sorrow and Toil". [web] See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw. Also note the following for this ability:
(i) If the declare or reveal of the Fellowship passes through both the Balrog of Moria and an unconquered Shadow Stronghold while "The Gates are Closed" is also in play, it is up to the Shadow player in which order he wants to resolve Fire and Shadow and/or "The Gates are Closed". Only handle any Stronghold tiles (if the Fellowship is revealed) after fully resolving these effects (but note that "The Gates are Closed" is optional, up to the Shadow player to use or not, while Fire and Shadow is not optional and always activates if the condition applies).
(ii) If the Fellowship declares into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold while Fire and Shadow activates, first fully resolve the declaration (if Sméagol is Guide, he must immediately leave the Fellowship, Shadow Event cards on the table such as "Worn With Sorrow and Toil" are discarded, and the Fellowship may heal 1 Corruption, if possible), and then resolve Fire and Shadow. Thematically, it might seem that the encounter with the Balrog should happen before the Fellowship reaches the City or Stronghold, but this order is required for game mechanics consistency. Note: if a Sméagol tile is drawn after the declaration and Sméagol has not been in play, he will join the Fellowship and not be discarded; it is only the act of declaring at a Free Peoples City or Stronghold while Sméagol is the Guide that causes Sméagol to leave. [web]
(iii) If the Fellowship is in an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold and the Balrog is also in that region (the Balrog can move into any unconquered Free Peoples City, but cannot move into an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army), if the Fellowship attempt to declare each turn to heal Corruption, this will activate Fire and Shadow each time (and as above, this healing from declaring happens before resolving the tile for Fire and Shadow. The Free Peoples player may choose not to declare to avoid this.
(iv) If the Balrog moves through, from, or into the region with the Ring-bearers figure, or if "Cruel Weather" is played and the Fellowship is moved into or out of the region with the Balrog, Fire and Shadow does not activate as it can only activate due to a declare or a reveal of the Fellowship.
(v) If declaring into Mordor at the start of a turn where the Fellowship moves from or through the region containing the Balrog, then Fire and Shadow is activated. Draw a Hunt tile and apply it. If this reveals the Fellowship, then draw a Stronghold tile for each unconquered Shadow Stronghold passed through. Apply each in turn. Only after this is the Hunt Pool refilled for Mordor.

• Guide elimination when an "Eye" Hunt tile is drawn for Fire and Shadow.
Note: The "We Shall Get It", "Mithril Coat and Sting" cards, and Galadriel's Nenya Keeper Ring ability could cause the "Eye" to be redrawn here (but see the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw).
- If a base game Hobbit is the Guide, the Balrog is eliminated, but the Hobbit separates and survives (not by their Guide ability as there is no Hunt damage when an Eye is drawn for Fire and Shadow, but by the Take Them Alive! ability which allows them to avoid elimination).
- If a LOME Hobbit is the Guide, both the Balrog and the LOME Hobbit will normally be eliminated. If both LOME Hobbits are in the Fellowship and one of them is currently the Guide, their Guide ability may be used to eliminate both Hobbits to cancel the "Eye", but this eliminates both Companions and the Balrog survives (as the "Eye" was cancelled), so this is probably not a useful option for the Free Peoples player.
- If a LOME variant of Boromir, Gimli, or Legolas is the Guide, then that Guide is eliminated (they cannot use their Guide ability here as that requires Hunt damage of 1 or more to activate and they do not have the Take Them Alive! ability that allows base game Hobbits to survive in this situation).
- Gandalf the Grey (either version), Strider (either version), and base game Boromir, Gimli, or Legolas, are eliminated along with the Balrog as they have no abilities to avoid elimination.
- If Sméagol is the Guide, then he and the Balrog are eliminated (as Sméagol is a Companion).
- If Gollum is the Guide, an "Eye" tile has no effect, and the Balrog also is not eliminated.

• Differences between the base game Balrog Event card and the LOME Balrog Lesser Minion Fire and Shadow ability. For the base game "Balrog of Moria" Event card, reveal icons on non-"Eye" tiles are only ignored if the Fellowship declares into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold (otherwise, the Fellowship is revealed and this forces an additional Hunt tile if the Moria Stronghold is unconquered), and "Eye" tiles are always ignored. For the LOME Balrog Lesser Minion, reveal icons on non-"Eye" tiles are always ignored, and "Eye" tiles causes both the Balrog and the Guide to be eliminated.

Gothmog, Lieutenant of Morgul

Not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• The Sauron Nation must be "At War." Use a Muster Action die result to place Gothmog in Minas Morgul if (i) Minas Morgul is unconquered (even if it is under siege), and (ii) The Witch-king, The Black Captain is not in play, i.e., Gothmog may not enter play if The Black Captain is in play (if this happens, Gothmog may enter play later if The Black Captain is eliminated or is replaced by the Chief of Ringwraiths).

• Gothmog has a Leadership of 1 and can move up to 3 regions (non-flying movement, i.e., he cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold). When moving without an Army he cannot be moved into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• Add the Gothmog die in the Recover Action dice phase if Gothmog is in play, unless a) the Witch-king, The Black Captain is in play (The Black Captain takes over as the leader of Sauron's forces and so the Gothmog die will also be removed from play permanently at any Recover Action dice phase where The Black Captain is in play), or b) if the Gothmog die was used last turn and had a ★ "Remove" symbol on it and the Witch-king (either version) is in play during the Recover Action Dice Phase (permanently remove the Gothmog die from play in this case). If the Witch-king (either version) is not in play, the ★ "Remove" symbol has no effect.

• The Gothmog card states "Gothmog's die is eliminated if The Witch-king: the Black Captain enters play." As with all Action dice eliminations, it will stay in play until next turns Recover Action dice phase (and only if The Black Captain is still in play; if The Black Captain is eliminated before the next Recover Action dice phase, then the Gothmog die stays in play). Also note that it is only the Gothmog die that may be removed here; the Gothmog Lesser Minion remains in play.

• If both Lesser Minion dice (Balrog and Gothmog) are rolled on a turn, then the Shadow player decides which die to use, unless one or both dice shows an "Eye", in which case one of the "Eye" dice must be used. If neither shows an "Eye", and one shows a ★ "Remove" symbol and the other does not, the Shadow player may choose to retain and use the die without the ★ "Remove" symbol so that both dice remain in play, but he may also choose the die with the ★ "Remove" if that is more useful for him, knowing that this die will be permanently removed next turn if the Witch-king (any version) is in play.

• The Gothmog die may not be allocated to the Hunt Box before rolling dice at the start of a turn (but if it rolls an "Eye" result, place it into the Hunt Box as normal).

• The Gothmog die may be used to remove "A Power Too Great" or "The Power of Tom Bombadil" but may not remove the WOME "Majesty and Glory" card (as this die has no Character result).

• Fling them into the Fray can only recruit or replace a Sauron Regular unit (and can only replace it with an Elite unit of the Sauron Nation; this ability cannot be used if no Sauron Elites are available) and only in an existing Shadow Army with Gothmog ("if Gothmog is with a Shadow Army" i.e., he cannot recruit when he is standing alone in an empty region, but could recruit a Sauron Regular in a Shadow Army, even one that contains no Sauron units). The ability also states, "in a free region", so it cannot be used if Gothmog is in an Army that is currently besieged inside a Stronghold.

Dark Chieftains

The Shadow of Mirkwood, Chieftain of the Dark Lord Not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• Dwarves, or Elves, or The North must be "At War" to recruit Shadow of Mirkwood (no Shadow Nation needs to be "At War"). Put him with an Army (that may be under siege) containing a Sauron Army unit. Alternatively, if the LOME Council of Elrond is in play, use a LOME Action token and an Action die Muster result to recruit the Shadow of Mirkwood. This recruitment bypasses other requirements (no Nations need to be "At War"). Place the Shadow of Mirkwood as per normal recruitment.

• The Shadow of Mirkwood is Level 3 (non-flying, i.e., cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold) and Leadership 1. He cannot move into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples on his own, unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• Dark Chieftains are Minions, so can be eliminated by the effects of "Blade of Westernesse", or "Fateful Strike", but are not Minions for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• Lord of Bats is an ability that is effectively also a Combat card as it replaces the text on a Combat card (gain +1 to the Shadow Leader re-roll at initiative 4, and if the forfeited card is "Swarm of Bats", then it also cancels the Free Peoples card at initiative 0). To use this ability, pre-reveal, the Shadow player plays and announces the forfeit of an eligible Combat card and loses the Leadership of the Shadow of Mirkwood for this round (this is non-recoverable, if say, "Daring Defiance" cancels Lord of Bats). After Combat card reveal, Lord of Bats replaces the effect on the played card (but note that the played card must have been valid to play). Note that if the Shadow of Mirkwood is in a battle in which at least one North Army unit is in the Free Peoples Army then Brand, Corrupted Ruler's Shadows in the North ability may be used in the same Combat round (i.e., if Lord of Bats is used pre-reveal, then Shadow can choose to use Shadows in the North post-reveal to cancel the Free Peoples Combat card). [web]

The Black Serpent, Chieftain of the Haradrim Not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• Gondor must be "At War" to recruit The Black Serpent (no Shadow Nation needs to be "At War"). Put him with an Army (that may be under siege) containing a Southron and Easterlings Army unit. Alternatively, if the LOME Council of Elrond is in play, use a LOME Action token and an Action die Muster result to recruit the Black Serpent. This recruitment bypasses other requirements (Gondor does not need to be "At War"). Place the Black Serpent as per normal recruitment.

• The Black Serpent is Level 2 (non-flying, i.e., cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold) and Leadership 2. He cannot move into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples on his own, unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• Dark Chieftains are Minions, so can be eliminated by the effects of "Blade of Westernesse", or "Fateful Strike", but are not Minions for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• Red Wrath. is an ability that is effectively also a Combat card as it replaces the text on a Combat card (gain +1 to the Shadow Combat roll at initiative 3, and if the forfeited card is Relentless Assault, instead gain +2 to the Shadow Combat roll, without taking another hit to the Shadow Army). To use this ability, pre-reveal, the Shadow player plays and announces the forfeit of an eligible Combat card and takes and applies 1 hit to the Shadow Army (this is non-recoverable, if say, "Daring Defiance" cancels Red Wrath). After Combat card reveal, Red Wrath replaces the effect on the played card (but note that the played card must have been valid to play). Note that if the Black Serpent is in a battle in which at least one North Army unit is in the Free Peoples Army then Brand, Corrupted Ruler's Shadows in the North ability may be used in the same Combat round (i.e., if Red Wrath is used pre-reveal, then Shadow can choose to use Shadows in the North post-reveal to cancel the Free Peoples Combat card). [web]

Uglúk, Chieftain of the Uruk-hai Not a Minion for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• Uglúk may be recruited if Rohan is "At War" or if the Fellowship is revealed (no Shadow Nation needs to be "At War"). If either condition applies, recruit him (i) in an Army (that may be under siege) containing an Isengard Army unit, or (ii) in a "free" region with, or adjacent to, the revealed Fellowship. [web] Alternatively, if playing with LOME, use a LOME Council of Elrond Action token and an Action die Muster result to recruit Uglúk. This recruitment bypasses other requirements (Rohan being "At War" or the Ring-bearers figure being revealed). Place Uglúk in a region as per normal recruitment.

• Note that the placement options are not tied to the recruitment conditions, i.e., if either recruitment condition is active, then both placement options may apply. Examples: (i) If Rohan is "At War" and the Ring-bearers figure is still in Rivendell (i.e., not revealed), Uglúk could not be recruited into Trollshaws, because although it might be "free", the placement requirement is into a region adjacent to a revealed Fellowship; he may still be recruited into a region with an Isengard Army in this case (e.g. Orthanc, even if it is under siege). (ii) The Fellowship is revealed in Hollin, but Rohan is not "At War"; Uglúk may be recruited into Hollin, Fords of Bruinen, Trollshaws, South Downs, North Dunland, or Moria (even if it does not contain an Isengard unit, if it is "free", it still meets the placement condition of adjacent to the revealed Fellowship. (iii) The Fellowship is revealed in a conquered Moria, and Free Peoples Armies are in Hollin and Dimrill Dale; Uglúk cannot be placed with, or adjacent to, the Fellowship in this case as none of these regions are "free", but he may still be recruited with any Isengard Army (e.g., in North Dunland, if an Isengard Army unit is there).

• Note that a WOME Dunlending figure is not an Army unit, so is not sufficient for the placement of Uglúk; only a Regular or Elite Isengard unit satisfies that requirement.

• Uglúk is Level 2 (non-flying, i.e., cannot enter or leave a region containing a Shadow Army besieged inside a Stronghold) and Leadership 1. He cannot move into a region containing a Stronghold controlled by the Free Peoples on his own, unless it is besieged by a Shadow Army.

• Dark Chieftains are Minions, so can be eliminated by the effects of "Blade of Westernesse", or "Fateful Strike", but are not Minions for the purposes of bringing Gandalf the White into play.

• We March Day and Night. Hunt re-rolls still only have a maximum of 3 dice, which are 1 die for each of: (i) a Shadow Army in the same region as the Fellowship, (ii) a Nazgûl in the same region as the Fellowship, and (iii) if the Fellowship at an unconquered Shadow Stronghold or a conquered Free Peoples Stronghold. Uglúk being in the region with, or in a region adjacent to, the Fellowship, increases the chance of Hunt re-rolls to hit by 1 (Uglúk has no effect on the initial Hunt roll, just the re-roll).

• I Command is an ability that is effectively also a Combat card as it replaces the text on a Combat card (gain +1 to the Combat rolls and Leader re-rolls for both Shadow and Free Peoples at initiative 3, and if the forfeited card is "Desperate Battle", no bonus from this card is given to the Free Peoples Combat roll or Leader re-roll). To use this ability, pre-reveal, the Shadow player plays and announces the forfeit of an eligible Combat card. After Combat card reveal, I Command replaces the effect on the played card (but note that the played card must have been valid to play). Note that if Uglúk is in a battle in which at least one North Army unit is in the Free Peoples Army then Brand, Corrupted Ruler's Shadows in the North ability may be used in the same Combat round (i.e., if I Command is used pre-reveal, then Shadow can choose to use Shadows in the North post-reveal to cancel the Free Peoples Combat card). • Sovereign corruption attempts. This mechanic is distinct from other Hunt tile draw mechanics, which either harm the Fellowship (e.g., general Hunt mechanics, "Orc Patrol, "Breaking of the Fellowship", etc) or defend the Fellowship (e.g., "Challenge of the King" can reduce the strength of Sauron, Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability to remove an "Eye" tile from play, etc), but Sovereign corruption attempts have no relationship to the Fellowship at all. Hence, e.g., Sméagol does not enter play if a Sméagol tile is drawn, and "Mithril Coat and Sting", "Wizard's Staff", or Nenya cannot be used during Sovereign corruption attempts. Note that if the Hunt Pool is emptied during a Sovereign corruption attempt and an extra required Hunt tile cannot be drawn, refresh the Hunt Pool (put all discarded Hunt tiles back into the Hunt Pool) and continue to draw as required, but if it is empty temporarily (i.e. some of the Hunt tiles will go back into the Hunt Pool before the end of the Action) then do not refill the Hunt Pool. [web]

• Corrupted Sovereigns are Level 0; they can never leave their home regions (cannot move with an Army or retreat). Discard the non-Awakened non-Corrupted figure when they are Corrupted and place the Corrupted figure in his home region when he enters play: Dale (Brand), Erebor (Dáin Ironfoot), Minas Tirith (Denethor), Edoras (Théoden), and Woodland Realm (Thranduil). Note that this is not a move; the non-Awakened non-Corrupted figure could be discarded anywhere on the board, and the Corrupted figure appears in the home region, no matter how far from the discard that is.

• Brand Shadows in the North. Note that this ability may be used in any battle which a North Army unit participates (i.e., not just in or adjacent to Brand or in Dale). Also, the forfeit of the eligible Combat card is after cards are revealed (quite different from Dark Minions whose abilities allow forfeiting an eligible card before cards are revealed). If a Dark Chieftain is also in that battle, Brand, Corrupted Ruler's Shadows in the North ability could be used in the same Combat round (i.e., the Dark Chieftain ability is used pre-reveal, then Shadows in the North may be used post-reveal to cancel the Free Peoples Combat card). [web]

• Théoden Mark of the White Hand. If Shadow controls Helm's Deep, it is an Isengard Stronghold. Note that it still counts as 2 VP for Shadow even though it is a Shadow Stronghold, and that it is still a part of Rohan for relevant card effects, e.g., "Advantageous Position", "Riders of Rohan", etc.

• Dáin Ironfoot Fate of the Lonely Mountain (Erebor), Denethor Fate of the White Tower (Minas Tirith), Thranduil Fate of Mirkwood (Woodland Realm). These three effects are the same. They allow Shadow to extend a siege battle in the Corrupted Rulers home region by removing a Shadow Regular unit (instead of having to reduce an Elite). This ability can be used only once per Siege battle in those regions.

• Even though Corrupted Sovereigns are listed as "Level 0", they are not "characters" for any rule and cannot be eliminated in battle in any way. Hence, while they affect a battle (see, e.g., the "His Power Waxes" Combat card), they cannot be targeted or eliminated by cards like "Fateful Strike" or "Blade of Westernesse" (unlike all characters, who can be eliminated in battle or targeted by such cards).

• It is not possible to change a Corrupted Sovereign to an Awakened or a non-Corrupted status; to remove them from play: (i) If an appropriate Companion, i.e., a Companion with the icon of the same Nation as the Corrupted Sovereign (or the Free Peoples icon), is in the same region as a Corrupted Sovereign, the Free Peoples player can use a Character Action die result to remove that Corrupted Sovereign from play, or (ii) Play the KOME variant recruitment card that matches that Sovereign (remove Corrupted Brand with "King Brand's Men", remove Corrupted Dáin Ironfoot with "Dáin Ironfoot's Guard", remove Corrupted Théoden with "Riders of Théoden", and remove Corrupted Thranduil with "Thranduil's Archers"). In this case, no recruitment or Event card draw will happen, but the Corrupted Sovereign will be removed from play. Note that there is no card like this that can remove Corrupted Denethor from play.

"Phial of Galadriel" [C 3] It is a Gift (3) Fellowship Special Hunt tile with "-2".
"Sméagol Helps Nice Master" [C 4] It is a Gift (3) Fellowship Special Hunt tile with "-1".

- LOME The name "Sméagol Helps Nice Master" is thematic and does not relate to the Sméagol Companion; this can be interpreted as either some action Sméagol took before he was eliminated that has consequences later or Sméagol re-emerging in Gollum briefly.

- For complete Hunt tile draw resolution (with details on all cards and abilities), see the "We Shall Get It" card entry.

"Mithril Coat and Sting" [C 5] Blade of Westernesse (6)

- LOME Cannot be used against a Sméagol tile as these resolved before normal Hunt Resolution. FAQ

- WOME Cannot be used against tiles drawn by the Free Peoples player for "Premonition of Danger".

- KOME A Kings tile drawn by the Shadow player during a Hunt (or any situation that is not a Sovereign corruption attempt) where the numeric value on the Kings tile applies, may be replaced by this card.

- For complete Hunt tile draw resolution (with details on all cards and abilities), see the "We Shall Get It" card entry.

"Athelas" [C 9] Andúril (4)

- KOME Cannot be used to affect Sovereign Corruption; this card applies only to the Fellowship.

"There is Another Way" [C 10] Heroic Death (6)

- LOME The move or hide step is not possible if Sméagol is the Guide (because Sméagol is not Gollum).

- KOME Cannot be used to affect Sovereign corruption; this card applies only to the Fellowship.

"I Will Go Alone" [C 11] Daring Defiance (0)

- LOME Sméagol may separate from the Fellowship (alone or with other Companions) using this card, but he will be removed from play immediately; if other Companions also separate with him, they move at the highest Companion Level of the group. If Sméagol leaves in this way, then Sméagol tiles will remain in the Hunt Pool (see the Sméagol entry for their effect), and the "We Shall Get It" card enters play. Note that if Sméagol leaves the Fellowship, the composition of the Fellowship has changed, so the Free Peoples player must choose a new Guide at this point. [p37]

• WOME It is only permitted for Companions to move onto "The Western Way" card in play if they are separating from the Fellowship. They need enough movement to go through "The Western Way" card into a region on the other side; if they do not, and end movement on "The Western Way" card, then they are immediately removed from play. It is possible to go through "The Western Way" card in both directions, e.g., Companions could separate through "The Western Way" from a Fellowship in Grey Havens to Gondor or separate through "The Western Way" from a Fellowship in Gondor to the Grey Havens.

• KOME Cannot be used to affect Sovereign corruption; this card applies only to the Fellowship.

"Bilbo's Song" [C 12] Fateful Strike (6)

• LOME Only heal 1 Corruption if Sméagol is the Guide (because Sméagol is not Gollum).

• KOME Cannot be used to affect Sovereign corruption; this card applies only to the Fellowship.

"Mirror of Galadriel" [C 13] Heroic Death (6)

• LOME May not convert a Keeper die Character result (as these dice have no Will of the West face). [web]

• WOME May not convert the Faction die result (firstly, as this die does not act as an "Action die", and this die does not have a Will of the West face). [web]

• KOME May convert a Ruler die Character result (as this die acts as an "Action die").

• KOME Cannot be used to affect Sovereign corruption; this card applies only to the Fellowship.

"Challenge of the King" [C 14] Sudden Strike (2)

• Interactions with "Challenge of the King" Hunt tile draws. (i) "Mithril Coat and Sting" cannot be used as it can only be used "after the Shadow player draws a Hunt tile" (but "Challenge of the King" Hunt tile draws are made by the Free Peoples player). (ii) "We Shall Get It" cannot be used as that card only applies during a Hunt ("Challenge of the King" is not a Hunt). (iii) Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability can be used here (any situation where an "Eye" tile is drawn by either player), so if three standard "Eye" tiles are drawn here, Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability could cancel the last "Eye" tile and force another tile draw which might save Aragorn/Strider from elimination (unless the new Hunt tile is also an "Eye" tile).

• LOME Sméagol tiles are normally acted upon immediately whenever one is drawn [FAQ]. However, there are two cases here: (i) if Sméagol has not been in play, or if he is currently in play, a Sméagol tile drawn for this card does not bring Sméagol into play; Sméagol tiles and non-"Eye" tiles will then be returned to the Hunt Pool at the end of the Action. [web], or (ii) if Sméagol has already been in play but has since been eliminated or discarded, or if Gollum is the Guide, a drawn Sméagol tile has no effect and so is discarded immediately and replaced by a new tile (in this situation, the Sméagol tiles are not put back into the Hunt Pool, they are discarded permanently).

• WOME Hunt tiles for this card can still be drawn if the Fellowship is "At Sea" (condition defined on "The Western Way" card) as that card only prevents the Shadow player from drawing Hunt tiles.

• WOME This card is not playable if Strider/Aragorn is in the Army of the Dead as he is not with a Free Peoples Army in the same region. However, it may be played if the Army of the Dead is disbanded, which is permitted at the start of any Action. If this is done, causing Strider/Aragorn to join a Free Peoples Army in that region, then the play condition is met. (WOME p13) [web]

• KOME Kings tiles drawn are treated normally, like any standard tile "not bearing an Eye".

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable if Strider/Aragorn is with an Army that has besieged Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. [web]

"Gwaihir the Windlord" [C 15] Daring Defiance (0)

• LOME Sméagol may separate from the Fellowship (alone or with other Companions), but he will be removed from play before moving; if other Companions also separate, they move at the highest Companion Level of the group. If Sméagol leaves in this way, Sméagol tiles will remain in the Hunt Pool (see the Sméagol entry for their effect), and the "We Shall Get It" card enters play.

• Treebeard may move with this card to a region where he is no longer Companion (he is only a Companion when in Fangorn or a Rohan region), as he was a Companion when the card was played.

• This card is not in the game if the WOME expansion is being used so there are no WOME FAQ points for this card. Hence, the WOME entries under "I Will Go Alone" and "We Prove the Swifter" about separating through "The Western Way" or disbanding the Army of the Dead do not apply for this card.

"We Prove the Swifter" [C 16] Daring Defiance (0)

• LOME Sméagol may separate from the Fellowship (alone or with other Companions), but he will be removed from play before moving; if other Companions also separate, they move at the highest Companion Level of the group. If Sméagol leaves in this way, Sméagol tiles will remain in the Hunt Pool (see the Sméagol entry for their effect), and the "We Shall Get It" card enters play.

• WOME If the Companion or Companions to be moved are with the Army of the Dead, Strider/Aragorn must first declare that he is disbanding the Army of the Dead (eliminating that Faction for the rest of the game), after which any of those Companions may be moved with this card.

• WOME If "The Western Way" is in play, it is only permitted for Companions to move onto that card if they are separating from the Fellowship. Generally, they need enough movement to go through "The Western Way" card into a region on the other side; if they do not, and end movement on "The Western Way" card, then they are immediately removed from play. Note that it is possible to go through "The Western Way" card in both directions. If the Fellowship is in the Grey Havens, Companions could separate from the Fellowship through "The Western Way" to Gondor, and if the Fellowship is in Pelargir, Companions could separate from the Fellowship through "The Western Way" to the Grey Havens.

• Treebeard may move with this card to a region where he is no longer Companion (he is only a Companion when in Fangorn or a Rohan region), as he was a Companion when the card was played.

"There and Back Again" [C 17] Brave Stand (3)

• LOME Sméagol may separate from the Fellowship (alone or with other Companions), but he will be removed from play before moving; if other Companions also separate, they move at the highest Companion Level of the group. If Sméagol leaves in this way, Sméagol tiles will remain in the Hunt Pool (see the Sméagol entry for their effect), and the "We Shall Get It" card enters play.

• WOME If Gimli or Legolas are with the Army of the Dead in Dale or Woodland Realm (it is not possible for the Army of the Dead to reach Erebor in a game as that is 8 moves from Erech via the "Dark Door") then the Nations will activate and move on the Political Track, as a Companion is in that region, so the political condition on the card is met. [web] This can be done without disbanding the Army of the Dead.

• WOME Note that it is only permitted for Companions to move onto "The Western Way" card if they are separating from the Fellowship. Generally, they need enough movement to go through "The Western Way" card to a region on the other side; if they do not, and end movement on "The Western Way" card, then they are immediately removed from play. Note that it is possible to go through "The Western Way" card in both directions. If the Fellowship is in the Grey Havens, Companions could separate from the Fellowship through "The Western Way" to Gondor, and if the Fellowship is in Pelargir, Companions could separate from the Fellowship through "The Western Way" to the Grey Havens.

"The Eagles are Coming!" C 18 Heroic Death (6)

• LOME The Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is unaffected by this card, i.e., do not roll a die for him, and he cannot be eliminated or moved (even if the Shadow player would prefer to move him) by this card.

• LOME Elrond or Galadriel cannot activate this card as it is not a combat-related Event card.

• Treebeard counts as a Companion for this card if he is with an Army in Fangorn or Rohan.

• WOME This card is removed from the game if the WOME expansion is in play.

"The Ents Awake" Event cards Gandalf the White must be in play and a Companion must be in Fangorn.

"The Ents Awake: Treebeard" C 19 Ents' Rage (3)
"The Ents Awake: Huorns" C 20 Huorn-dark (3)
"The Ents Awake: Entmoot" C 21 Nameless Wood (5)

• If Treebeard is in play, his Root and Branch! ability allows re-rolling one missed die for each of these cards; if the re-roll is 4+, it becomes a hit. This applies even if Treebeard is inactive (Level 0), and note that he does not need to be present in Fangorn or a Rohan region to use this ability.

• As a reminder of the different effects: "Ents' Rage" gives +2 to Free Peoples Combat roll (but not Leader re-roll), "Huorn-dark" forces Shadow to roll a maximum of 2 dice, and "Nameless Wood" scores 2 additional hits if the Free Peoples score at least 1 hit in the Combat round.

• Treebeard becomes active (Level 2) after one of these cards is played.

• WOME These three cards are removed from the game if the WOME expansion is in play.

"Dead Men of Dunharrow" C 22 Sudden Strike (2)

• Treebeard may move with Strider/Aragorn to Gondor (as he is a Companion while in Rohan), but if so, he no longer acts as a Companion once there (he is only a Companion while in Fangorn or Rohan).

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable if Strider/Aragorn is at Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. web

• WOME This card is removed from the game if the WOME expansion is in play.

"House of the Stewards" C 23 Brave Stand (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME*.*

• WOME If Boromir is in the Army of the Dead and is in a Gondor region that is free or contains a Free Peoples army (including one under siege), then "House of the Stewards" may be played to recruit a Gondor Army unit in that region without disbanding the Army of the Dead. web If this is at Dol Amroth or Minas Tirith when a Free Peoples Army is besieged inside (this situation can occur if the Army of the Dead moved to that region, and a Shadow Army later besieges that Stronghold), then the Gondor Army unit would join the besieged Free Peoples Army even though Boromir remains with the Army of the Dead.

• KOME Boromir does not need to be with Denethor but does need to be in a Gondor region to remove the Corruption tile from Denethor.

"The Grey Company" C 24 Brave Stand (3)

• WOME This card is not playable if Strider/Aragorn is in the Army of the Dead as he is not with a Free Peoples Army in the same region. However, it may be played if the Army of the Dead is disbanded, which is permitted at the start of any Action. If this is done, causing Strider/Aragorn to join a Free Peoples Army in that region, then the play condition is met. (WOME p13) web

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is still playable if Strider/Aragorn is with an Army that has besieged Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. Lords of Middle-earth, Free Peoples Character Event cards

"You Know the Way There" C 25 (LM 25/24) Blade of Westernesse (6)

• May be played even if Sméagol has already left the Fellowship (no condition prevents it). [web]

"Safe Paths in the Dark" C 26 (LM 26/24) It is a Gift (3)

• May be played just to heal 1 corruption, even if "We Shall Get It" or "We Won't Go Back" is not in play.

"Wind from the West" C 27 (LM 27/24) Orderly Withdrawal (6)

• Note that "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" is not removed from play when the last Companion leaves the Fellowship. This can be important as it will prevent "Wind from the West" from seeing the Shadow players hand (as cards that are still in play on the table must be chosen first). "Play on the Table" cards are only removed (i) by the discard condition noted on the card or (ii) if the play condition is no longer valid at the end of an Action, so "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" can block "Wind from the West".

• Once in play, "We Shall Get It" is a normal Shadow play on the table card, so may be removed by this card.

• WOME Shadow Faction Event "Play on the Table" cards apply here. If there are no Shadow "Play on the Table" cards in play, viewing the Shadow hand will also include viewing all Shadow Faction Event cards, and the Free Peoples may choose a Faction Event card as the Event card to be discarded. (WOME p6) [web]

"Three Rings for the Elven-Kings" C 25 (LM 28/24) Orderly Withdrawal (6)

• "out of play" counters are Elven Rings that the Shadow player has used ("Take the counters of your choice from those out of play first"). E.g., If the Shadow player has Vilya and Narya while Elrond is in play but Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya is not in play, it would be better for the Shadow player to use Narya first, so that if "Three Rings for the Elven-Kings" is played and the Free Peoples scores only one hit, he could only take back Narya and so is prevented from taking the much more useful Vilya that can be used by Elrond for his Elven Ring Keeper special ability.

• If you use an Elven Ring to alter an Action die to a Character or Event result to play this card, then that used Ring may be recovered by this card during the same Action (the base rulebook states that the Elven Ring is used immediately when an Action die is altered), but noting that "out of play" counters are recovered first (and the Elven Ring used to alter this Action die would not be out of play).

• There is no limit to how many times an Elven Ring may be used for its alternate LOME effect in a turn, while only one base game effect is allowed per turn. e.g., Elrond's Vilya Elven Ring ability could be used to keep an Action die after it has been played, and Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability to cancel an "Eye" tile and remove it from play. If one or more of these Elven Rings are recovered in the same turn with "Three Rings for the Elven-Kings", then the Free Peoples Player could use these Elven Ring abilities again, either for their LOME Elven Ring effects, or for the base game Elven Ring effect (though, as above, only one use of a base game Elven Ring effect is allowed per turn).

• KOME Thranduil's Ruler token is not an Elven Ring and so may not be recovered by this card.

Warriors of Middle-earth, Free Peoples Character Event cards

"The Western Way" C 15 (WM 15/24) Daring Defiance (0) Replaces base "Gwaihir the Windlord" C 15

• Note that the Fellowship Track is moved as the first part of a move, so the "At Sea" protection is lost as soon as the Fellowship moves when at Step 1 of the Fellowship Track. Hence, if the Ring-bearers figure is on "The Western Way" card and at Step 1 of the Fellowship Track, (i) they are protected from cards like "Orc Patrol" (these cards are playable, but the Shadow player may not draw a Hunt tile due to the "At Sea" restriction), but (ii) if the Fellowship moves, the Fellowship Track is first moved from Step 1 to Step 2 (and the "At Sea" protection is lost immediately), and then the Shadow player may draw a Hunt tile if the Hunt Roll is successful.

• The Fellowship is "At Sea" if (i) "The Western Way" is in play on the table, and (ii) the Ring-bearers figure is at the Grey Havens or on this card, and (iii) the Fellowship Track is at step 0 or step 1. When "At Sea" the Shadow player cannot draw a Hunt tile for any reason (due to a successful Hunt, or from Event cards that generate a Hunt or cause a Hunt tile to be drawn).

• KOME "The Western Way" does not prevent drawing Hunt tiles for Sovereign corruption attempts; this is an exception to the "At Sea" restriction. KOME p12 "Card Effects Manipulating Hunt tiles: Corruption attempts cannot be influenced by the effect of a card or ability that allows a player to influence or prevent the drawing or redrawing of Hunt tiles (for example, "Mithril Coat and Sting" does not allow redrawing a tile during a corruption attempt)."

• Hunt tiles may still be drawn by the Free Peoples player for "Premonition of Danger" or "Challenge of the King" when "At Sea", as this restriction only affects Hunt tiles drawn by the Shadow player.

• The card only counts as a region for Fellowship movement or for Companions who are separating from the Fellowship. No other access is permitted, i.e., Army units, Nazgûl, Minions, and WOME Faction figures may not move here, and already separated Companions may not move onto or through this card at all. If separating Companions end their movement on this card, they are removed from play immediately. web

• "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" or any other means cannot remove "The Western Way" card if it is in play on the table. However, if "The Western Way" is still in the Free Peoples players hand, then a "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" activation may randomly discard "The Western Way".

• Cards affected by the "At Sea" restriction: "Foul Thing from the Deep", "Isildur's Bane", and "Orc Patrol" are playable (but not if the Ring-bearers figure is at Grey Havens, even if that Settlement is conquered), but Shadow may not draw a Hunt tile due to "At Sea". "Nazgûl Search" and "The Nazgûl Strike" are playable but as it is prohibited to move Nazgûl to the Grey Havens (unless it is conquered or besieged) or "The Western Way" card, the second part of those cards cannot affect the Fellowship. "The Breaking of the Fellowship" is playable if the Fellowship is revealed on "The Western Way" card (or at a conquered Grey Havens), but the "At Sea" condition prevents all Hunt tile draws, so it can have no effect.

• Cards unaffected by the "At Sea" restriction: "Morgul Wound", "Candles of Corpses", "Lure of the Ring" are playable if the Fellowship is "At Sea" all apply normally. "Cruel Weather" is also unaffected by the "At Sea" condition (the "Cruel Weather" condition is simply that the Fellowship Track is at Step 1 or more). Note that "Cruel Weather" could move the Ring-bearers figure on "The Western Way" card to the Grey Havens, or to any Gondor coastal region (Anfalas, Dol Amroth, Lamedon, or Pelargir). If the Ring-bearers figure is moved to Anfalas or Tower Hills for example, the Fellowship would no longer be "At Sea" and so Hunt rolls and Shadow Character Event cards would work against the Fellowship in that region but note that the Ring-bearers figure can move back onto or through "The Western Way" card from a Gondor coastal region if this happens.

• Example. The Ring-bearers figure is at Rivendell and is on step 6 of the Fellowship Track. The Shadow player has made a fast strike on the Grey Havens and conquered it. Despite this, the Free Peoples player declares in the Grey Havens at the start of a turn and then plays "The Western Way" immediately. Although the Grey Havens is conquered, the Fellowship is now "At Sea" due to "The Western Way" card, and so the next Fellowship move is safe (the Shadow player may roll for the Hunt, but if successful, they may not draw a Hunt tile due to the "At Sea" restriction). The Shadow could play "Nazgûl Search" to force the Fellowship to reveal onto "The Western Way" card (as Grey Havens is conquered, Nazgûl can move there, which would not be allowed if it was unconquered) but waits for the Fellowship to move a second time to attempt to stall the Fellowship (as they will not be able to reveal into the unconquered Pelargir). The Fellowship moves a second time, and as the Fellowship Track is moved to Step 2 before the Hunt Roll, they are no longer protected by "At Sea", but the Shadow fails the Hunt Roll. The Fellowship plans to declare safely into Pelargir and heal at the start of the next turn, but the Shadow now plays "Nazgûl Search" and since he can move a Nazgûl to the Grey Havens since it is conquered, he can force the Ring-bearers figure to reveal. They choose to reveal on "The Western Way" card as they cannot end movement in an unconquered City or Stronghold if revealed, so Pelargir is not possible and revealing into Lamedon would remove their "At Sea" protection making it even harder to get through Pelargir, so the Fellowship lose a movement towards Mordor. Next turn, the Fellowship hides and moves once for free (since they are "At Sea"), but on the second move, the Hunt Roll is a hit, and Shadow may draw a Hunt tile (since the Fellowship Track is now at Step 2, so the "At Sea" protection is no longer in effect). An "Eye" tile is drawn and so the Fellowship must reveal. The Fellowship moves through the unconquered Pelargir (as it is only prohibited to reveal into an unconquered City or Stronghold) and reveals into West Harondor.

• "Black Sails" allows the Shadow to attack the Fellowship while they are "At Sea". Once per turn, the Shadow player can eliminate a Corsair figure and use any result on the Faction die to deal one point of Hunt damage to the Fellowship (this is normal Hunt damage, so the Guide or a random Companion could be taken as a casualty, and if so, that could trigger "Worn with Sorrow and Toil").

• KOME Dark Chieftains are Minions and so may not move onto "The Western Way" card.

"Premonition of Danger" C 18 (WM 18/24) Heroic Death (6) Replaces base "The Eagles are Coming!" C 18

• Sméagol tiles are normally acted upon immediately whenever one is drawn FAQ. However, there are two cases here: (i) If Sméagol has not been in play, or if he is currently in play, a Sméagol tile drawn for this card does not bring Sméagol into play; a Sméagol tile could be chosen to be discarded permanently in this case or they will be returned to the Hunt Pool at the end of the Action. web, or (ii) If Sméagol has already been in play but has since been eliminated or discarded, or if Gollum is the Guide, a drawn Sméagol tile has no effect and so is discarded immediately and replaced by a new tile (in this situation, the Sméagol tiles are not put back into the Hunt Pool, they are discarded permanently).

• Interactions with this card for Hunt tile draws. (i) "Mithril Coat and Sting" cannot be used as it can only be used "after the Shadow player draws a Hunt tile" (but Hunt tile draws for this card are made by the Free Peoples player). (ii) "We Shall Get It" cannot be used as that card only applies during a Hunt (but this is not a Hunt event). (iii) Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability can be used here (any situation where an "Eye" tile is drawn by either player) to remove a drawn "Eye" tile permanently for the remainder of the game and draw another Hunt tile, i.e., using Galadriel's Nenya Elven Ring ability during "Premonition of Danger" will result in two tiles being discarded permanently for the remainder of the game.

• Note that if this card draws 3 tiles that are beneficial to the Fellowship (such as blue Fellowship Special tiles or Sméagol tiles), the Free Peoples player still must permanently remove one of those tiles from the game. web

• May be played when the Fellowship is "At Sea" (defined on "The Western Way" card) as that restriction only prevents the Shadow player from drawing Hunt tiles, while it is the Free Peoples player that draws Hunt tiles for "Premonition of Danger".

• KOME Kings tiles drawn are treated as normal Hunt tiles and may be chosen to be discarded.

"Swift Boats" C 19 (WM 19/24) Orderly Withdrawal (6) Replaces base "The Ents Awake: Treebeard" C 19

• If an Event card is used to move the Fellowship, then the card initiates the move, not the Action die used to play the card. Therefore, the Action die used to play this card is not added to the Hunt box.

• LOME Strider, Dúnadan variant's Guide ability can only trigger after the first Fellowship movement in a turn using an Action die. As an Action die is used to play the card for "Swift Boats", the die does not go into the Hunt Box, and so if an Action die is used to move the Fellowship after playing this card, and that is the first time that an Action die is used to move the Fellowship this turn, then LOME Strider, Dúnadan's Guide ability can activate. See the LOME Strider, Dúnadan reference for more on this.

• Note that this card is playable if the Ring-bearers figure is at any Free Peoples Settlement (which includes Town, City, and Stronghold regions) if that Settlement is unconquered, e.g., an unconquered Carrock (on a common direct path to Mordor) is valid, or an unconquered Pelargir (which is on the main route to Mordor when using the route via "The Western Way" card).

• "The Western Way" card is not a Free Peoples Settlement, so this card cannot be played if the Ring-bearers figure is on that card.

• Although not stated on the card, as always, the Fellowship must also be Hidden to perform a move.

"Majesty and Glory" C 20 (WM 20/24) Huorn-dark (3) Replaces base "The Ents Awake: Huorns" C 20

• Use of this card is declared at the start of a battle (after the attacker's decision on forming a rearguard, but before deciding on Combat cards), and is usable if the Free Peoples are defending or attacking.

• This card is optional once played on the table, and may be used when required, i.e., it is not mandatory in the first battle that involves a Companions, as "If a Companion is in a battle, discard" might suggest.

• Discarding Event cards here can be any card types from the Character, Strategy, or Faction decks, including two cards of the same type. web

• LOME Elrond or Galadriel count as Companions only for combat-related Event cards, so if this card is in play on the table, it may be used at the start of a battle in which Elrond or Galadriel are participating.

• LOME The Character result on the Balrog die may be used to discard this card but the Gothmog die has no Character result, so may not be used to discard this card. The WOME Faction die cannot normally be used like an Action die (and has no Character result) so may not be used for this purpose.

• WOME A Companion in the Army of the Dead is not with a Free Peoples Army in the same region, and so cannot be used to activate this card. However, if the Army of the Dead are disbanded at the start of an Action before the battle starts, then all Companions in the Army of the Dead will join the Free Peoples Army in the same region (even if that Free Peoples Army is under siege), and this card may be activated.

• KOME Awakened Sovereigns may activate this card if they are participating in a battle (as they are Companions); non-Awakened or Corrupted Sovereigns are not sufficient to activate this card.

"Take Someone You Can Trust" C 21 (WM 21/24) Mighty Attack (4) Replaces base "The Ents Awake: Entmoot" C 21

• Note the play condition and discard condition for this "Play on the table" card. If this card is in play and either Meriadoc or Peregrin leave the Fellowship, then this card is immediately removed from play.

• This card counts as the single protection card per Hunt tile that can be used to cancel or reduce Hunt damage (it cancels the reveal icon), so cannot be used in conjunction with "Axe and Bow" for example, as only one Hunt protection tile can be used per drawn Hunt tile. web

• This card may ignore the reveal icon from any Hunt tile, even for red Shadow Special Hunt tiles.

• "Isildur's Bane" does not permit reducing Hunt damage from Hunt Protection cards like "Axe and Bow", but "Take Someone You Can Trust" may be used to ignore a reveal icon on the drawn tile.

• This card may not be used to prevent an Event card that forces a reveal, such as "Nazgûl Search" (as that is not a Hunt). However, a Hunt tile drawn after a successful Hunt from "The Nazgûl Strike" is a normal Hunt event, so a reveal icon on that tile could be cancelled by discarding this card if it is in play.

"Long Battle" C 22 (WM 22/24) Sudden Strike (2) Replaces base "Dead Men of Dunharrow" C 22

• No Shadow Army units (or Nazgûl, or Minions) are affected by this card, only Faction figures are eliminated; it is not possible to eliminate Army units with this card. web

• If the use of this card eliminates every Spider figure from the board, that Faction is permanently eliminated for the rest of the game. If every Dunlending is eliminated, they remain in play (the Dunlendings Faction can only be eliminated if both North and South Dunland are conquered). If every Corsair is eliminated, they remain in play (the Corsairs Faction can only be eliminated if Umbar is conquered).

• The Event card drawn may also be from the Faction deck.

• This card may be played even if no Shadow Factions are in play, just to draw the Event card.

• WOME If Strider/Aragorn is with the Army of the Dead in a region containing a Free Peoples Army without Leadership, this card is not playable, as Companions with the Army of the Dead are not with a Free People Army there, so cannot provide the required Leadership to play this card (WOME p13).

• KOME If Denethor is Awakened and in Minas Tirith, and the Event die result is on the Ruler die, then his Palantír of Anárion ability may also trigger in addition to the "Long Battle" card draw (Palantír of Anárion allows a card draw from any deck (including from the Faction deck). Note that this can also operate in addition to Gandalf the Grey, the Grey Wanderer's Guide ability.

• Treebeard has no Leadership, so would not meet the condition of a "Free Peoples Army with Leadership" unless there is another source of Leadership in the Army with him.

Kings of Middle-earth, Free Peoples Character Event cards

Replaced by variant cards in KOME:

"House of the Stewards" C 23 (KM 23/24) Brave Stand (3)

• This card is like the base game card, but with some additional effects. Hence, any notes for it are added to the normal card entry above.

New cards in KOME:

"Aid in Time of Need" C 25 (KM 25/24) The King's Banner (4)

• There is no requirement for the Companion to have a Nation icon matching the Sovereign being Awakened, and the Companion could be another Awakened Sovereign (e.g. using this card, an Awakened Thranduil could move from Woodland Realm to Erebor and awaken Dáin there).

"It Is not so Dark Here" C 26 (KM 26/24) Like a God of Old (2)

• If the Sovereign of the Nation being advanced on the Political Track is currently with a Companion, and that Companion has the Nation icon of that Sovereign (or has the Free Peoples icon), then additionally remove a Corruption tile from that Sovereign as per normal corruption removal rules (i.e. the corruption tile is selected randomly and put back into the Hunt Pool). Then, the Free Peoples may discard one Corruption tile of his choice from any non-Corrupted Sovereign on the board, but here the Free Peoples player can view all tiles on that Sovereign before deciding which one to put back into the Hunt Pool. web

"Knowledge of the Seeing Stones" KM PROMO 1 The King's Banner (4)

• If the WOME Faction deck is in play, that can be chosen as the affected deck.

Free Peoples Strategy Event cards

"The Last Battle" [A 1] Daylight (3)

• WOME This card is not playable if Strider/Aragorn is in the Army of the Dead as he is not with a Free Peoples Army in the same region. However, it may be played if the Army of the Dead is disbanded, which is permitted at the start of any Action. If this is done, causing Strider/Aragorn to join a Free Peoples Army in that region (and it is "outside of a Free Peoples Nation"), then the play condition is met. (WOME p13) [web]

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is not playable if Strider/Aragorn is at Helm's Deep with a Free Peoples Army, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. [web]

"A Power Too Great" [A 2] No Quarter (5)

• The Shadow player could use a LOME Keeper die or the KOME Ruler die (as they act as "any Action die"). The WOME Faction die may not be used to remove this card (as it does not act as "any Action die").

• WOME Faction cards showing an Army symbol cannot be used to remove this card as specifically an "Army Event card" is required, which must be from the Strategy deck (WOME p7) [web]. Note that the cost to Shadow to remove this card would be significantly lessened if Shadow Faction cards could be used to do this, hence why it is restricted to specifically an Army Event card from the Strategy deck.

"The Power of Tom Bombadil" [A 3] Advantageous Position (3)

• The Shadow player could use a LOME Keeper die or the KOME Ruler die (as they act as "any Action die"). The WOME Faction die may not be used to remove this card (as it does not act as "any Action die").

• WOME Faction cards showing an Army symbol cannot be used to remove this card as specifically an "Army Event card" is required, which must be from the Strategy deck (WOME p7) [web]. Note that the cost to Shadow to remove this card would be significantly lessened if Shadow Faction cards could be used to do this, hence why it is restricted to specifically an Army Event card from the Strategy deck.

"Book of Mazarbul" [M 4] Advantageous Position (3)

• KOME Awakened Sovereigns are Companions so they may activate the card effect if they end movement at Erebor or Ered Luin. However, non-Awakened Sovereigns are not Companions and so may not use this card, and Dáin is not awakened by this card.

• Treebeard is a Companion only in Fangorn and Rohan and so may move with this card to a region where he is no longer a Companion (as he was a Companion at the start of the Action). After such movement, he is no longer a Companion, so cannot put the Dwarven Nation to "At War" (but in any case, it would not be possible to reach Erebor or Ered Luin from Fangorn or Rohan with this card).

"The Spirit of Mordor" [A 5] Scouts (1)

• WOME Faction figures cannot be eliminated by this card, as the card specifically only affects "Army units". Faction figures are not Army units.

"Faramir's Rangers" [A 6] Shield-wall (6)

• WOME Faction figures (in the same way as Nazgûl and Minions) are not affected by this card, even if all units they accompany in the region are eliminated.

"Fear! Fire! Foes!" [M 7] Shield-wall (6)

• KOME Awakened Sovereigns are Companions so they may activate the card effect if they end movement at The Shire or Bree. However, non-Awakened Sovereigns are not Companions and so may not use this card, and Brand is not awakened by this card.

• Treebeard may move with this card to a region where he is no longer Companion (he is only a Companion when in Fangorn or a Rohan region), as he was a Companion when the card was played. After such movement, he is no longer a Companion, so cannot put the North Nation to "At War" with this card.

"Wisdom of Elrond" M 8 Confusion (4) Replaced by variant card in KOME.

• KOME If the Sovereign of the Nation being advanced on the Political Track is currently with a Companion, and that Companion has the Nation icon of that Sovereign (or has the Free Peoples icon), then additionally remove a Corruption tile from that Sovereign as per normal corruption removal rules (i.e. the Corruption tile is selected randomly and put back into the Hunt Pool). If this applies to Rohan and Théoden, and Rohan cannot advance due to the "Wormtongue" card preventing moving to "At War", then do not remove a Corruption tile from Théoden (though he may use the alternative KOME effect to simply remove a Corruption tile from Théoden instead in this case).

• KOME If choosing to discard a Corruption tile, note that the Free Peoples player can view all tiles on that Sovereign before deciding which one to put back into the Hunt Pool. web

"The Red Arrow" M 9 Scouts (1)

• As this card has a Political Track effect, it is marked "M 9" beside other Political Track effect cards, but as it is also a generic recruitment card, see "Strategy Event cards that recruit Army units" at the end of this section for other notes for this card.

• KOME If a Companion is with Théoden while he is non-Awakened, non-Corrupted when this card is played and it causes Rohan to move forward on the Political Track (not possible if Rohan is already "At War"), and if that Companion has the Free Peoples icon (so can affect Rohan on the Political Track), additionally remove a Corruption tile from Théoden as per normal corruption removal rules (i.e. the Corruption tile is selected randomly and put back into the Hunt Pool).

"Help Unlooked For" A 10 No Quarter (5)

• The LOME Balrog provides +2 Combat Strength in battle. First, calculate total Combat Strength including from the Balrog. Then, if Combat Strength is 5 or more, cap that to a maximum of 5 Combat dice. Finally, apply the Combat roll reduction from "Help Unlooked For".

"Paths of the Woses" A 11 Sudden Strike (2)

• WOME Free Peoples Factions figures are never part of a Free Peoples Army in the same region, and so may not go with a moved Army using this card.

• KOME Sovereigns (Awakened, or non-Awakened non-Corrupted) may go along with the Army move as they are Companions for all rules.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable on a Free Peoples Army that has besieged Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. web

"Through a Day and a Night" A 12 Confusion (4)

• LOME If Elrond or Galadriel is the only Companion with a Free Peoples Army, this card cannot be used to move that Army (as this is not a Combat-related Event card). Additionally, a Companion must move with the Army moved by this card, but Elrond and Galadriel can never leave their home Strongholds.

• An inactive Treebeard (Level 0) cannot use this card to move an Army. While Treebeard can activate Event cards when in Fangorn or Rohan, the Companion activating this card must move with the Army, but an inactive Treebeard cannot leave Fangorn.

• An active Treebeard (Level 2) can use this card but only if starting in Fangorn or Rohan (as he is not a Companions in any other regions), and the Army may end movement in a region where Treebeard no longer counts as a Companion.

• WOME Free Peoples Factions figures are never part of a Free Peoples Army in the same region, and so may not go along with an Army that moves using this card.

• KOME Awakened Sovereigns are Companions so meet the condition to play this card.

Strategy Event cards that recruit Army units ("recruit" is used for these cards to set apart from muster rules)

"The Red Arrow" M 9 Scouts (1)
"Círdan's Ships" M 13 Charge (2)
"Guards of the Citadel" M 14 Charge (2)
"Celeborn's Galadhrim" M 15 Daylight (3)
"Riders of Théoden" M 16 Daylight (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME.
"Grimbeorn the Old, Son of Beorn" M 17 Scouts (1)
"Imrahil of Dol Amroth" M 18 Shield-wall (6)
"King Brand's Men" M 19 Shield-wall (6) Replaced by variant card in KOME.
"Swords in Eriador" M 20 Advantageous Position (3)
"Kindred of Glorfindel" M 21 Advantageous Position (3)
"Dain Ironfoot's Guard" M 22 Valour (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME.
"Éomer, Son of Éomund" M 23 Valour (3)
"Thranduil's Archers" M 24 Valour (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME.
"Every Little is a Gain" M 25 (LM 25/24) Shield-wall (6)
"Rangers of the North" A 26 (LM 26/24) Advantageous Position (3)
"Ever at Your Service" M 25 (KM 25/24) There Is Hope for Victory (4)
"Men of Little Villages" M 26 (LM 26/24) There Is Hope for Victory (4)

Points for specific Free Peoples recruitment cards

• LOME Two new additional recruitment cards are in this expansion, "Every Little is a Gain" (M 25 in the deck) and "Rangers of the North" (M 26 in the deck). KOME has its own cards in these deck positions, so if playing with LOME and KOME, M 25 will be "Ever at Your Service" and M 26 will be "Men of Little Villages". Additional notes on these cards are in the LOME and KOME sections below.

• KOME also replaces four recruitment cards relating to Sovereigns ("Riders of Théoden", "King Brand's Men", "Dáin Ironfoot's Guard", "Thranduil's Archers"). Note that "Riders of Théoden" and "Dáin Ironfoot's Guard" in KOME have more powerful recruitment than in the base game versions, as they additionally draw a Strategy Event card after recruitment ("King Brand's Men" and "Thranduil's Archers" already have a card draw in the base game). If there are no units in the Force Pool and no Corruption tiles on the Sovereign, the card draws still happens but does not happen if the Sovereign is Corrupted. Recruitment is not possible if the Sovereign is Corrupted, but in that case, they will remove that Corrupted Sovereign from play.

• "Riders of Théoden". Treebeard acts as a Companion when in Rohan, so meets the condition to play this card. WOME The Army of the Dead in Rohan also meets the condition to recruit with this card as it only requires a Companion to be in a Rohan region (and the Army of the Dead always contains at least Strider/Aragorn; note also that the Army of the Dead will not be disbanded by this action). It is also permitted for the Army of the Dead at Helm's Deep with a Free Peoples Army besieged inside to recruit with this card; the recruitment will be added to the besieged Army while the Army of the Dead itself is inside a siege so is free to move out of that region. KOME Any Awakened Sovereign in Rohan meets the condition of a "region containing a Companion". If Corrupted Théoden is in play, this card cannot be used to recruit or to draw an Event card; it can only be used to eliminate Corrupted Théoden (note that if Théoden is eliminated by this card, the Mark of the White Hand Weakness effect ceases immediately).

• "Éomer, Son of Éomund". KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable on a Free Peoples Army that has besieged Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. web

Lords of Middle-earth, Free Peoples Strategy Event cards

"Every Little is a Gain" M 25 (LM 25/24) Shield-wall (6)

• Normal muster rules apply, so the Free Peoples player must recruit, if possible, and to the maximum extent possible, but if all units of the Nation are already mustered, the card can still be played just for the card draw portion. If only one or two regulars are available, the Free Peoples player must recruit them all but may choose which regions to recruit in.

• This card may still be played if some of the listed locations are captured. In that case, only recruit regulars into locations that are not controlled by the Shadow. If all listed locations are captured, this card can still be played, just to get the additional Strategy Event Card draw.

"Rangers of the North" A 26 (LM 26/24) Advantageous Position (3)

• Unlike "Faramir's Rangers", this card cannot be played at all unless there is a Shadow Army in a region in the North Nation or adjacent to a North Nation region as the later recruitment part of the card says, "adjacent to the attacked region", which means that it can only happen if there was an attacked region. web

• Note that "adjacent" does not include across impassable borders (thick black lines), e.g., Mount Gundabad is not adjacent to Carrock.

• The recruitment part uses "free region" so could not be in an empty but Shadow controlled Settlement (e.g., if Dale, Carrock, Bree, or The Shire have a Shadow Army or is empty with a Shadow control marker, it is not possible to recruit to those regions with this card). Recruitment rules apply, so the recruitment must be to the maximum extent possible (cannot recruit part if the full recruitment can be met).

• If no units of the North Nation can be recruited, the card can still be played just for the attack portion.

• This not an "attack" and so does not affect the Political Track in any way. If all units are eliminated by this card, Nazgûl and Minions are not affected.

• The Free Peoples player may use this card to target a Shadow army that is besieged inside a Stronghold (Woodland Realm or Erebor), but the recruitment cannot be into the besieged Stronghold (as neither of those regions is a "region of the North Nation").

• WOME Shadow Faction figures are not affected if all Army units are eliminated by this card. Corsairs are never eliminated if an Army is eliminated, while Dunlendings and Spiders are eliminated in a similar way to characters (Nazgûl, Minions) so are unaffected if this card.

• WOME Shadow Faction figures (e.g., a Spider figure adjacent to a region of the North Nation) are not Army units and so do not meet the condition to play this card.

• It is possible to block the recruitment part of this card by ensuring that the North has no region that it can recruit into after the attack portion of the card. E.g., (i) If the Shadow controls Carrock, Woodland Realm, and Dale, then leaves all North regions and Woodland Realm empty when besieging Erebor, this card may be used to attack the Shadow Army in Erebor (as it is adjacent to the North region of Dale) but may not then recruit into Dale (the only adjacent North region) since it is controlled by the Shadow, (ii) The Shire and Bree are empty but controlled by the Shadow and Shadow Armies are in North Downs and Buckland. Either Shadow Army may be attacked with this card, but the recruit portion cannot be performed since there is no free region of the North Nation adjacent to the attacked region.

Kings of Middle-earth, Free Peoples Strategy Event cards

KOME variant cards. The five cards below are similar to the base game cards of the same name but with some additional effects. Hence, notes for them are added to their card entries above.

"Wisdom of Elrond" M 8	Confusion (3)
"Riders of Théoden" M 16	Daylight (3)
"King Brand's Men" M 19	Shield-wall (6)
"Thranduil's Archers" M 22	Valour (3)
"Dáin Ironfoot's Guard" M 24	Valour (3)

KOME original cards. The two cards below are not in the base game.

"Ever at Your Service" M 25 (KM 25/24) There Is Hope for Victory (4)

• Note that "non-Corrupted" also applies to an Awakened Sovereign, though the Corruption tile removal step cannot apply in that case. It is not possible to play this card on a Corrupted Sovereign.

"Men of Little Villages" M 26 (KM 26/24) There Is Hope for Victory (4)

• This card has specific text that requires a region to be "free" to recruit there, and so cannot recruit to a Free Peoples Army besieged inside an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold (as is normally possible with other recruitment cards) but may recruit to such a region if it is conquered and a Free Peoples Army has besieged a Shadow Army inside that Stronghold (as the region would be "free" in that case). This is the same terminology as the "Éomer, Son of Éomund" card.

• "Settlements" can be Towns (Bree, Westemnet, Carrock, etc), Cities, or Strongholds. Fortifications (Fords of Isen and Osgiliath) are not Settlements and so this card cannot recruit in those regions.

• As with all recruitment Event cards, the recruitment must be to the maximum extent possible, i.e. you cannot choose to only recruit to two Nations if units/Leaders from four Nations are available in reinforcements, but also, if a Nation has no units/Leaders available from that Nation, or has no "free" Settlements to recruit into, you are not blocked from playing this card; you just recruit to the maximum extent possible, following the card text.

• If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable on an Army that has besieged Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan and contains a Settlement. web

"In Long Swift Lines" A (WM 7/20) Eagles	"The Union of All Our Strength" M (WM 17/20) No Faction
"Upon the Nazgûl They Bore" C (WM 8/20) Eagles	"By Chance or by Foresight" M (WM 18/20) No Faction
"We Only Need Wings" C (WM 9/20) Eagles	"By Chance or by Foresight" M (WM 19/20) No Faction
"Lifted Up and Borne Far Away" C (WM 10/20) Eagles	"By Chance or by Foresight" M (WM 20/20) No Faction

"The Stone of Erech" M (WM 1/20) Dead Men

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Dead Men enter play, play the card on the table and place 3 Dead Men figures on the card (and move one Dead Men from this card into the Dead Men starting setup each time the Free Peoples moves a Nation on the Political Track with a Muster die). If played after the Dead Men have been eliminated, discard this card without effect (though it would count as a Faction Event card being played, to trigger "In Long Swift Lines").

• If there are no Dead Men figures in reinforcements, "Paths of the Dead" cannot recruit from "The Stone of Erech", as recruiting from this card is not a normal recruit. web

• If this is card is in play and all Dead Men in play are eliminated then this card is discarded and any Dead Men on it are also eliminated (WOME p7). web

• If this card is removed from play, put any Dead Men on it back into reinforcements (WOME p7). web However, there currently is no mechanism for Shadow to remove a Free Peoples Muster or Army Event card from the table ("Worn with Sorrow and Toil" can only remove Character Event cards); this card removal rule is included in case a means to remove these cards is added by a future expansion. web

• Using the Free Peoples Action token (from Hunt for the Ring) that advances a Free Peoples Nation on the Political Track is equivalent to using a Muster Action die result for the same purpose (see Hunt for the Ring rules, p. 37); therefore, using that Action token is a diplomatic action, and thus triggers the effect of "The Stone of Erech". web

"Paths of the Dead" M (WM 2/20) Dead Men

• If this card played before the Dead Men Faction is in play, but Strider/Aragorn is not in a Gondor or Rohan region to activate the Dead Men, then no part of this card will take effect (and note that the second part does not recruit a Dead Men figure into the starting setup). This would still count as playing a Faction Event card, and so would trigger "In Long Swift Lines" if that card is in play.

• The first paragraph is not a condition in bold, so you can play this card even if the Dead Men are already in play; the first paragraph will not apply, just perform the Dead Men figure recruitment and shuffling all discarded Dead Men Faction cards back into the Faction deck (only take cards specifically for the Dead Men Faction, do not reshuffle other Faction cards), and include this card in the reshuffle.

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. This card may also be played if the Dead Men Faction has been eliminated, but it has no effect in that case and is discarded without effect. However, as a Faction Event card was played, this would still trigger "In Long Swift Lines" if that card is in play.

• If there are no Dead Men figures in reinforcements, this card cannot recruit from "The Stone of Erech", as that is not a normal recruit. web

• Like "Dead Men of Dunharrow" in the base game (which is not in use when the WOME expansion is in play) this card allows Companions to escape a besieged Stronghold (without fighting their way out).

Strider/Aragorn (and any number of Companions with him) may escape a besieged Minas Tirith, Dol Amroth, or Helm's Deep in this way, but only if the Dead Men Faction has not yet been in play.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card if Strider/Aragorn is in Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. web

• Treebeard is a Companion in Rohan but not in Gondor. Hence, while he may join Strider/Aragorn to activate the Army of the Dead from Rohan (and would remain with them until the Army of the Dead disbands), he may not do so in Gondor as he is not a Companion there.

"The Dark Door" A (WM 3/20) Dead Men

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If this card is played before the Dead Men Faction enters play, then it stays on the table but has no effect until the Dead Men enter play (and does not allow Companions to move through it). If activated by the Dead Men entering play, and the Dead Men are later eliminated, it remains in play and Companions can continue to move through it.

• If played after the Dead Men Faction has been eliminated, it is discarded without effect (WOME p7 web). However, this would count as a Faction Event card being played, and so would trigger "In Long Swift Lines" if that card is in play. However, as a Faction Event card was played, this would still trigger "In Long Swift Lines" if that card is in play.

• If this card is in play, it can only be eliminated if Helm's Deep and Edoras are ever controlled by the Shadow.

• When active, Erech becomes adjacent to Helm's Deep, Westemnet, and Edoras for movement in both directions only for the Army of the Dead or for Companion movement (but the Fellowship is not permitted to move through the Dark Door). It is not possible to move between Helm's Deep and Edoras via this card as they are not adjacent due to this card. This card does not allow Companions to join or leave a Free Peoples Army besieged inside Helm's Deep.

• Although the Fellowship may not move through "The Dark Door", a Companion may separate from the Fellowship and move through "The Dark Door" as part of that separation movement.

• Ents may not move through "The Dark Door" (i.e., a "March of the Ents" cannot attack a Shadow Army in Erech via "The Dark Door"). Note that "The Dark Door" is irrelevant to the Eagles Faction as they ignore impassable mountains for movement and Call to Battle cards.

• "We Only Need Wings" allows Companions to move through "The Dark Door". Eagles taking Companions under a mountain might seem strange, but this is a consequence of the movement rules. web

• KOME If a non-Awakened non-Corrupted Théoden somehow moved to Gondor, it would be possible for him to awaken via the Dark Door, e.g. if he was in a free Dol Amroth, he could move 2 regions via Erech and awaken in Edoras (if Edoras is unconquered).

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, "The Dark Door" card effect upon Helm's Deep remains unchanged (Army of the Dead, and Companions may move through in both directions). If Edoras is also conquered by the Shadow, "The Dark Door" is removed from play as normal. web

• Treebeard is a Companion in Rohan but not in Gondor. Hence, while he could pass from Rohan to Erech via "The Dark Door", he would no longer be a Companion once in Gondor, and so may not pass from Erech back to Rohan via "The Dark Door".

"Wraiths of Fear" C (WM 4,5/20) Dead Men, 2x cards

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards [web]. If played before the Dead Men enter play, or after the Dead Men have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• This card affects the Political Track, i.e., if Sauron, Isengard, or Southron & Easterlings Army units are attacked by this card, then their Nations will advance on the Political Track, if possible. (WOME p35).

• This card may be played if the Dead Men are not yet in play, or if the Dead Men Faction has been eliminated, but it has no effect in those cases (and is discarded immediately). However, either of these situations would count as a Faction Event card being played and so would trigger "In Long Swift Lines" if that card is in play.

• Only one movement is allowed (through multiple free regions, remove one Dead Men per region; can move through enemy controlled regions; they cannot move through a region occupied by a Shadow Army, but could move out of a region occupied by a Shadow Army if they start in that region, and could also choose to attack a Shadow Army in the same region), followed by an attack on a Shadow Army (multiple attacks on the same Army are permitted, remove one Dead Men for each attack). After the final attack, the attacked Shadow Army must retreat (if possible). If the Shadow Army retreated, the Dead Men may advance into the vacated region (without removing a Dead Men figure). If the Shadow Army could not retreat, the Dead Men cannot advance. Note that "March of the Ents" is quite different, allowing multiple movements, and multiple separate attacks on different Armies.

• Although the card states "Remove one or more figures from the Army of the Dead to move it up to an equal number of regions", it is not mandatory to move at least one region; this is optional. [web]

• Shadow Army Retreat after a Dead Men attack. The card states, "must retreat if possible", but WOME p14 expands on that: "must retreat together to an adjacent region - different from the one the attack comes from". Note that it is to an adjacent region, i.e. cannot retreat into siege at a Stronghold region, it must be to a different region than the one the Dead Men are attacking from. If the Shadow Army cannot retreat to an adjacent region (i.e., if it is currently under siege or if there is no legal path to retreat to), it remains in its current region and is not eliminated (WOME p14). Note that the base game "Dead Men of Dunharrow" Event card eliminates a Shadow Army if it cannot retreat. Major exception to normal retreats: "Any Minions or Nazgûl in the retreating Army may remain with it or be left behind, at the Shadow player's discretion" (WOME p14). Corsairs figures also do not need to retreat in this situation (as per all retreats involving Corsairs figures).

• If the Army of the Dead advances into a region controlled by the Shadow after a "Wraiths of Fear" attack, it does not take control of that region (different from the base game "Dead Men of Dunharrow" Event card effect, which takes control of the targeted region if it was controlled by the Shadow).

• If the last Dead Men figure is used in an attack, and the Shadow Army in an adjacent region is eliminated, the Companions that were in the Army of the Dead may not advance into that region; the Companions remain in the region that they were in at the time that the Dead Men Faction is eliminated.

• This card may not attack a lone Saruman standing without an Army in Orthanc (different from "March of the Ents", which can eliminate a lone Saruman). If Saruman is with a Shadow Army, and the Army of the Dead eliminates that Army, then Saruman (and any Nazgûl and Minions) will also be eliminated.

• If the Dead Men moves into a City or Stronghold and an appropriate Companion is with the Dead Men to activate that Nation, then the Nation will be activated (e.g., base game Boromir with the Dead Men moves to Pelargir, or a base game Hobbit with the Dead Men moves to Helm's Deep via the "Dark Door" card). [web] If an appropriate Companion in the Army of the Dead, then used an ability to advance that Nation (e.g., base game Boromir's High Warden of the White Tower ability), then "Threats and Promises" will be discarded, and this can be done without disbanding the Army of the Dead.

• If Strider is with the Army of the Dead in an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold or City in Gondor, he can use Strider's Heir to Isildur ability to replace Strider by Aragorn without disbanding the Army of the Dead. web Note that it is not permitted to move the Army of the Dead into Dol Amroth or Minas Tirith if those regions are besieged by a Shadow Army, though a "Wraiths of Fear" attack would force the Shadow Army to retreat and the Army of the Dead to advance into that region. web

• Companions with the Army of the Dead are in that region, so they can activate effects that simply require a Companions presence (such as "Riders of Théoden", "House of the Stewards", Strider's Heir to Isildur ability, the "Denethor's Folly" discard condition, and "There and Back Again"), but they are not with a Free Peoples Army in that region, so they cannot activate effects that require them to be with an Army (such as "The Challenge of the King", "The Grey Company", and "The Last Battle").

• Voluntary disbandment of the Army of the Dead. Once the Dead Men Faction is in play, after either player chooses an Action die but before declaring what to do with that die, the Free Peoples may disband the Dead Men. If he chooses not to disband, he cannot change this choice if, for example, Shadow declares that he is attacking a Free Peoples Army in the same region as the Army of the Dead. web

• Disbandment during a battle. The Free Peoples could declare before the start of a battle (initiated by Shadow or Free Peoples) that the Army of the Dead will disband (so, this is a voluntary disbandment). All Companions that were in the Army of the Dead join the Free Peoples Army in that region before the battle begins (and so may join a rearguard if the Free Peoples are attacking), but if disbandment happens mid-battle, either by removing the last Dead Men figure due to "The King of the Dead" (initiative 2) or "The Terror of the Dead" (initiative 8), then all Companions that were in the Army of the Dead must join the Free Peoples Army in that region (even if that Free Peoples Army is under siege) during the battle at the initiative of the card. See those Call to Battle card entries for details on how to resolve these situations.

"Speed Greater than any Wind" M (WM 6/20) Eagles

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Eagles enter play, add one Eagle to the starting setup (and since this card takes effect, the second part, to play an additional Faction Event card or to reshuffle all Eagles Faction Event cards from discard back into the deck, including this card, is allowed). If played after the Eagles have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• If this card causes two cards to be played (this card and another), and "In Long Swift Lines" is in play, that card may be activated twice (recruit an Eagle figure from "In Long Swift Lines", or to move all Eagles, together or separately, to any region on the board, on each activation). Note that Gandalf the Grey, the Grey Wanderer's Guide ability will only activate once in this case (as that ability requires playing a card with an Action die Event result, and only one die has been used).

• KOME If a Ruler die Event result is used, Denethor's Palantír of Anárion will activate. If a second card is played, it will still only activate once, as the effect is dependent upon the die being played. Note that Denethor's ability and Gandalf the Grey, the Grey Wanderer's Guide ability can activate simultaneously as the Ruler die is also an Action die; these will activate at the end of the action, after each part of the card has completed. Gandalf the Grey's Guide ability will draw from the WOME Faction deck as that was the type of the card played, while Denethor's ability may draw from any deck.

"In Long Swift Lines" A (WM 7/20) Eagles

• This card cannot be played if the Eagles are not in play (due to the condition in bold on the card), unlike other Eagles Faction Event cards.

• If this is card is in play and all Eagles in play are eliminated, then this card is discarded and any Eagles on it are also eliminated (figures on it are eliminated when the Faction is). (WOME p7) web

• If this card is in play and either of "The Ents Awaken" or "Speed Greater than any Wind" are played, those cards then allow another Faction card to be played (i.e., as 2 Faction cards were played within the same action, "In Long Swift Lines" will allow 2 Eagles to be recruited from this card to Eagles Eyrie). web

• This card does not permit the use of any Faction die result to recruit from it (this is notably different from "The Stone of Erech" or "Saruman is a Neighbour", which do allow recruitment in that way).

• If all Eagles in play are eliminated during a battle in which this card would be activated at the end of the battle, is it not permitted to perform the Eagle recruitment at the end of the battle. WOME p17 "the Faction is eliminated if there are no Eagles in play at any moment", i.e., if the last Eagle is eliminated mid-battle, then the Eagle Faction is eliminated immediately, and "In Long Swift Lines" is also discarded immediately, since the play condition no longer applies, even if it there are still Eagles on the card. web

• If this card is removed from play, put any Eagles on it back into reinforcements. (WOME p7). web However, there currently is no mechanism for Shadow to remove a Free Peoples Muster or Army Event card from the table ("Worn with Sorrow and Toil" can only remove Character Event cards); this card removal rule is included in case a means to remove these cards is added by a future expansion. web

"Upon the Nazgûl They Bore" C (WM 8/20) Eagles

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Eagles enter play, or after the Eagles have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• "Move all Eagles" on this card means that the Eagles can be moved, together or separately, to any region on the board, i.e., unlimited "flying" movement. (WOME p17)

• Note the differences between this and the base game, "The Eagles are Coming!". This card may cause the Witch-king to move (as long as at least one Nazgûl is eliminated), while "The Eagles are Coming!" cannot ever move the Witch-king, and here we roll for the number of Eagles, while the "the Eagles are Coming!" rolls based on the number of Nazgûl. Also, if zero hits are scored in the base game version, all Nazgûl (except for the Witch-king) are forced to move, but if zero hits are scored in the Faction Event card, no Nazgûl need to be moved. These cards are similar, but have these significant differences.

• A die is rolled for each Eagle present (i.e., the Free Peoples cannot select a number to use). Each hit will eliminate an Eagle, even if a Nazgûl is not eliminated. E.g., 4 Eagles are present, so 4 dice are rolled. If all are hits (a roll of 4+), but only 2 Nazgûl are present, then 4 Eagles and 2 Nazgûl are eliminated. web

• If the remaining Nazgûl are moved, they must all be moved to the same unconquered Shadow Stronghold (and it must be a different Stronghold if the region targeted is a Sauron Stronghold web), including if the Stronghold moved to is under siege by a Free Peoples Army (since, as per normal rules, Nazgûl are permitted to fly into and out of besieged Strongholds). The Nazgûl can only be moved to unconquered Sauron Strongholds (so Orthanc, Umbar, captured Free Peoples Strongholds, and captured Sauron Strongholds, even if under siege by a Shadow Army, are all invalid).

• If all 6 Sauron Strongholds are conquered, Nazgûl cannot be moved and so are eliminated (but it is not possible for all 6 Sauron Strongholds to be conquered simultaneously, so this will not happen).

"We Only Need Wings" C (WM 9/20) Eagles

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Eagle enter play, or after the Eagle have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• "Move all Eagles" on this card means that the Eagles can be moved, together or separately, to any region on the board, i.e., unlimited "flying" movement. (WOME p17)

• After the Eagles move, the separate/move step is optional; the Free Peoples can remove an Eagle to separate/move one or more Companions, but that is not required. web

• This card can move one or more Companions up to 4 regions, but this does not permit flying over impassable borders (solid black lines). web

• This card does allow Companions to move through "The Dark Door". Eagles taking Companions under a mountain might seem strange, but this is a consequence of the movement rules. web

• If separating from the Fellowship, move that Companion or group of Companions up to regions equal to the position of the Fellowship on the Fellowship Track, plus four regions. If moving a previously separated Companion or one group of Companions, move up to four regions. Only one Companion (or one group of Companions) may move or separate by this card, and they must move as a single group, i.e., cannot split off in different directions or pick up or drop off Companions along the way. Gandalf the White's Shadowfax ability has no relevance here as this card movement ignores Companion levels.

• Note that if a Companion leaves the Fellowship, then the composition of the Fellowship has changed, which allows the Free Peoples player to immediately change the Guide, if possible. p37

• Note that if the Ring-bearers figure is at a Stronghold where a Free Peoples Army is under siege, Companions that separate from the Fellowship may only ever join that Army and may not move further.

• Moving Companions into (but not out of) a friendly Stronghold under siege is permitted by this card (including captured Shadow Strongholds under siege by a Shadow Army). Moving Companions still must follow the rule that they may enter, but must stop, at a Shadow controlled Stronghold region. p24

• This card may be played on the Mordor Track, but if used to separate Companions from the Fellowship there, they are removed from play (e.g., sometimes done to bring Gollum into play for his Guide abilities).

• If the Companion or Companions to be moved are with the Army of the Dead, Strider/Aragorn must first declare that he is leaving the Army of the Dead (eliminating that Faction for the rest of the game), after which any of those Companions may be moved with this card.

• If "The Western Way" is in play, it is only permitted for Companions to move onto that card if they are separating from the Fellowship. Generally, they need enough movement to go through "The Western Way" card into a region on the other side; if they do not, and end movement on "The Western Way" card, then they are immediately removed from play. Note that it is possible to go through "The Western Way" card in both directions. E.g., If the Fellowship is in the Grey Havens, Companions could separate from the Fellowship through "The Western Way" to any Gondor coastal region, and if the Fellowship has passed through "The Western Way" (e.g., they are in Gondor), Companions could separate from the Fellowship through "The Western Way" to the Grey Havens via any Gondor coastal region.

• Treebeard may move with this card to a region where he is no longer Companion (he is only a Companion when in Fangorn or a Rohan region), as he was a Companion when the card was played. After such movement, he is no longer a Companion.

"Lifted Up and Borne Far Away" C (WM 10/20) Eagles

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Eagles enter play, or after the Eagles have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• "Move all Eagles" on this card means that the Eagles can be moved, together or separately, to any region on the board, i.e., unlimited "flying" movement. (WOME p17)

• This card specifically excludes being played when the Fellowship is on the Mordor Track (condition in bold), so cannot be playable in that case.

• The Faction Event card moves the Fellowship, not the Action die used to play the card; hence, an Action die used to play this card is not added to the Hunt box. p37 web

• LOME Strider, Dúnadan variant's Guide ability can only trigger after the first Fellowship movement in a turn using an Action die. As an Action die is used to play the card for "Lifted Up and Borne Away", the die does not go into the Hunt Box, and so if an Action die is used to move the Fellowship after playing this card, and that is the first time that an Action die is used to move the Fellowship this turn, then LOME Strider, Dúnadan's Guide ability can activate. See the LOME Strider, Dúnadan reference for more on this.

• This card cannot be used to move the Fellowship while it is revealed. web

• When moving for this card, roll for the Hunt as normal, and draw a Hunt tile if the Hunt roll is a success.

"The Ents Awaken" M (WM 11/20) Ents

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Ents enter play, add one Ent to the starting setup (and since this card takes effect, the second part, to play an additional Faction Event card or to reshuffle all Eagles Faction Event cards from discard back into the deck, including this card, is allowed). If played after the Ents have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• If the Ents are in play, the Ent may be recruited in Fangorn, or, to Old Forest (but only if "Father of Trees" has created an Entwood there). The Free Peoples may then play an extra Faction Event card.

• If the Ents are not yet in play, add 1 Ent to the starting setup, and the Free Peoples may still play an extra Faction Event card. web

• If the Ents have been eliminated, the card is discarded without effect, and it is not permitted to play an additional Faction Event card.

• "In Long Swift Lines" may be triggered twice here, first due to playing "The Ents Awaken", and second, by playing the additional Faction Event card (which is only possible if the Ents are not yet in play or are currently in play; if the Ents are eliminated, it is not permitted to play an additional Faction Event card).

"Saruman is a Neighbour" M (WM 12/20) Ents

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If this card is played before the Ents enter play, then it stays on the table but has no effect until the Ents enter play. If played after the Ents have been eliminated, it is discarded without effect.

• Always put the 3 Ents on this (if available in the reinforcement pool), even if this card is played before the Ents enter play. If Saruman uses the Voice of Saruman ability before the Ents enter play, then one of these Ents will be added to the starting setup, but if the Ents are in play then place the Ent in Fangorn.

• You may still muster Isengard units without triggering this card, e.g., two Isengard Regulars (to two different Settlements), or an Isengard Elite; it is only the "Voice of Saruman" ability that triggers this card.

• Recruiting Ents from the reinforcements pool requires a Recruit Faction result on the Faction die but recruiting an Ent from this card may use any Faction die result. Recruitment directly from this card is also possible if all Ents are gone from reinforcements, if the Ents are still in play.

• The "Fathers of Trees" card cannot recruit from this card if there are no Ents figures in reinforcements, as recruitment from this card is not a normal recruit. web

• If all Ents in play are eliminated, then this card, and any Ents on it, are also eliminated (WOME p7). web

• If Saruman is eliminated, this card is discarded immediately, as his presence is the play condition. Put any Ents figures that were on the card back into reinforcements (they can be recruited normally later). web

• If this card is discarded for any other reason, put any Ents on this card back into reinforcements (WOME p7). web However, there currently is no mechanism for Shadow to remove a Free Peoples Muster or Army Event card from the table ("Worn with Sorrow and Toil" can only remove Character Event cards); this card removal rule is included in case a means to remove these cards is added by a future expansion. web

"Fathers of Trees" A (WM 13/20) Ents

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Ents enter play, or after the Ents have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• If there are no Ents figures in reinforcements, this card cannot recruit from "Saruman is a Neighbour", as that is not a normal recruit. web

• This card can be played even if there are no Ents outside of Fangorn (i.e., even if there is no movement back to Fangorn), as the first part of the card is not a condition to play the card. web

• This card is not a normal Ent move so if there are Shadow Army units in Fangorn, Ents can still be placed back into Fangorn with this card. web (WOME p19 movement, "The region must be free of enemy units").

• This card could be played multiple times in a game (due to "The Union of All Our Strength"), so there may be two "Entwoods", but you must move back to Fangorn as the first step, as stated on this card.

• There must always be an Ent in Fangorn to keep the Ents Faction in play; if all Ents move to Old Forest with this card, the Ents Faction would be immediately eliminated and removed from play.

• No Companion is required in the alternate Entwood (Old Forest). It is only Fangorn that is required to always have a Companion in it or to have Treebeard in Fangorn or a Rohan region.

• This card has been updated via FAQ to read "If you do so, whenever an Ent Faction Event card or rule refers to the Entwood, you may either use this Entwood or the Entwood in Fangorn (but not both)." However, this does not change the rule that if the last Ent in Fangorn is eliminated, then the Faction is removed from play, i.e., an Ent in Old Forest cannot keep the Faction in play if there are no Ents figures in Fangorn. web

"March of the Ents" C (WM 14,15/20) Ents, 2x cards

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before the Ents enter play, or after the Ents have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• This card affects the Political Track, i.e., if Sauron, Isengard, or Southron & Easterlings Army units are attacked by this card, then their Nations will advance on the Political Track, if possible. (WOME p35).

• Treebeard is not a part of the Ents Faction. (i) he cannot be used as an Ent Faction figure in any way, such as for this card. (ii) However, his Root and branch! ability allows one missed die for each attack from "March of the Ents" to be re-rolled; if the re-roll is 4+, it becomes a hit (applies even if Treebeard is inactive Level 0, and even if he is not present in Fangorn or a Rohan region). (iii) Treebeard will activate at the end of any Combat round in which an Ents Faction Call to Battle card is used (even if cancelled by "Swarm of Bats" for example).

• Multiple attacks on multiple regions are possible, e.g., 8 Ents are in Fangorn. Helm's Deep is besieged by a Shadow Army and Orthanc is besieged by a Free Peoples Army. "March of the Ents" is played and an Ent is placed in Fords of Isen. From here, up to 7 Ent attacks could be made in any order against the besieged Shadow Army in Orthanc and the Shadow Army besieging Helm's Deep, eliminating an Ent in Fangorn for each attack. If the last Ent in Fangorn is used, the Ent Faction is eliminated. web

• The Entwood from which the figure is removed must be connected to the Ent figure that allows the card to be played web. If the last Ent in Old Forest is removed in this way, any chain of Ents out of Old Forest are also eliminated. However, if the last Ent in Fangorn is removed in this way, all Ents on the board are eliminated and the Faction is no longer in play. web

• Eliminating Saruman. (i) If there is a Shadow Army in Orthanc, the Ents can attack Orthanc, and Saruman will be eliminated if the entire Shadow Army is eliminated (this can even be done using the last Ent in Fangorn, eliminating the Ent Faction, but Saruman will be eliminated if the entire Shadow Army is eliminated). (ii) If there is no Shadow Army in Orthanc, the Ents cannot attack Orthanc, and need to move into Orthanc to eliminate Saruman (it is not permitted to use up the last Ent in Fangorn for this move; that would eliminate the Ent Faction but would not eliminate Saruman). Note: neither (i) nor (ii) allows the Ents to capture or take control of Orthanc; Faction figures can never capture Settlements on their own. [web]

• The Ents may move into a Settlement that is empty but controlled by the Shadow (the Ents do not take control of that region).

• The Ents may not move or attack through "The Dark Door" if that card is in play.

• The Ents may not move into a region that is already occupied by a Shadow Army. First, the Ents would have to attack that Shadow Army and eliminate it, after which, the Ents may move into that region. E.g., A common blocking tactic is for Shadow to leave a single Isengard Regular Army unit in Fords of Isen to prevent Ents moving there without first using up an Ent to attack.

• The card states "attack a Shadow Army", but this is explained more fully in the rulebook that you can only attack a Shadow Army "in a region adjacent to an Ent" (i.e., adjacent to any Ent on the board), and this could also be a Shadow Army that is currently in the same region as an Ent. [web] Note also that there is no requirement to attack a Shadow Army in the same region as an Ent figure when this card is played, and the Ents could ignore that Shadow Army and move/attack elsewhere. [web]

• "March of the Ents" does not allow Ents to be moved back into Fangorn or Old Forest (for example, after an attack). Once Ents are moved by "March of the Ents", they must remain where they are, and may not move again, except by the "Fathers of Trees" card to return all previously moved Ents to Fangorn. [web]

"The Union of All Our Strength" M (WM 16,17/20) No Faction, 2x cards

• You may freely look through the discard pile and select the card. To prove to your opponent that the cards are from different Factions, you can show just the bottom of the card being discarded and the card taken from the discard pile to show the Faction. [web]

• This card is playable even if no Factions have entered play (or if all Factions have been eliminated).

"By Chance or by Foresight" M (WM 18,19,20/20) No Faction, 3x cards

• Note that the card specifically states that the two cards must go together to the top of the deck, or together to the bottom of the deck, you cannot choose to put one on the top and one on the bottom, though you can decide the order that they go onto the deck.

• If the last card in the Faction deck is drawn while drawing the 3 cards, immediately take the discarded Faction cards, shuffle them, and place them as the Faction deck to continue drawing cards. The Faction deck is always renewed immediately as soon as the last card is drawn. [web]

• This card is playable even if no Factions have entered play (or if all Factions have been eliminated).

Shadow Character Event Cards

"We Shall Get It" C (Special) "Play on the table" card. Not part of any Event card deck.

• This card comes into play on the table immediately when Sméagol is eliminated or discarded (including by declaring in an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold, or by non-Hunt cards like "Breaking of the Fellowship" or "Lure of the Ring"), unless Sméagol has been replaced by Gollum. Once in play, the card may not be used until Gollum becomes the Guide.

• "Wind from the West" can remove this card if it is in play, even if Gollum is not yet the Guide.

• KOME "We Shall Get It" may not be used against Sovereign corruption attempts.

Complete Hunt tile resolution sequence: web web (follow each step in order)

1. "Wizard's Staff" can only be used before the Shadow player draws a Hunt tile (it cannot be used to prevent a redraw later in this sequence) web. If "Wizard's Staff" is used to block a Hunt tile draw, go to step 8.

2. Draw a Hunt tile. If it is a Sméagol tile, then it is applied immediately. If this is during a Hunt, the Shadow player may use "We Won't Go Back" (for 2 Corruption points). "Mithril Coat and Sting" or "We Shall Get It" may not be used to redraw a Sméagol tile FAQ. If Sméagol has been in play and then eliminated or discarded, or Gollum is Guide, then Sméagol tiles are discarded immediately, and a new tile is drawn. See the "Challenge of the King" card entry for exceptions relating to drawing Sméagol Tiles when that card is played.

3. Galadriel's Nenya ability. The Free Peoples player may now use this ability (but only against a standard "Eye" tile to remove it from play for the rest of the game; it cannot be used against "The Ring is Mine!" red Shadow Special Hunt tile bearing an "Eye"). Whoever drew the original tile draws the replacement tile.

4. "We Shall Get It" may be used now (at this stage only), but only if Gollum is the Guide and it is a Hunt, i.e., it may be used against Hunt-triggering cards like "Orc Patrol", but may not be used against "Challenge of the King", "Premonition of Danger" or "Breaking of the Fellowship" as they are non-Hunt events. Only if "We Shall Get It" is used, and the redrawn tile is an "Eye", the Free Peoples player can choose to use the Nenya ability (if not used previously, but if the Shadow player passes on using "We Shall Get It", the Free Peoples cannot re-decide on using the Nenya ability for now).

5. "Mithril Coat and Sting" may now be used to set aside the current Hunt tile, but only if the Hunt tile was drawn by the Shadow player; the Shadow player also performs the redraw. Only if this card is used, and the redrawn tile is an "Eye", the Free Peoples player can choose to use the Nenya ability (if not used previously). The Shadow player cannot use "We Shall Get It" after "Mithril Coat and Sting".

6. Hunt protection Event cards. A single Hunt protection card in play may now be used; "Axe and Bow" or "Horn of Gondor" can only be used during a Hunt, since they specifically only reduce "Hunt damage", e.g., these could not be used for the non-Hunt "Lure of the Ring" or "Breaking of the Fellowship"; the WOME "Take Someone You Can Trust" could be the single Hunt protection card used web (to cancel a reveal icon) but only if the Hunt tile was drawn by the Shadow player (as specified on the card).

7. Apply Hunt damage. The Free Peoples player chooses how to apply Hunt damage and must reveal the Fellowship if required. Guide abilities (base/LOME Hobbits, LOME Boromir/Gimli/Legolas, or Gollum) may be used to cancel or reduce the effects of a Hunt tile during a Hunt. Then, a casualty may be taken (either the Guide, or a random Companion is picked, noting that it is always the Shadow player who performs random Companion draws p43). Whenever a Companion leaves the Fellowship, a new Guide is appointed, and their Guide ability may be used immediately (so multiple Guide abilities could be used in this way before the casualty stage). Any Hunt tiles that were set aside for "We Shall Get It" or "Mithril Coat and Sting" are now put back into the Hunt Pool.

8. Additional Hunt tiles will restart this sequence (these could be for the Balrog, or Event cards like "The Gates are Closed", or Stronghold tiles). Go back to step 1 and resolve those tiles (if any).

Note: The above sequence applies to any successful Hunt, Event card, or ability that cause a Hunt tile to be drawn, including non-Hunt effects (e.g., "Breaking of the Fellowship", "Challenge of the King"), but not for KOME corruption attempts, where none of the above sequence applies.

Shadow Special Hunt tiles

"Shelob's Lair" [C 1] One for the Dark Lord (3) Shadow Special Hunt tile with "roll a die" and "stop" icons.
"The Ring is Mine!" [C 2] One for the Dark Lord (3) Shadow Special Hunt tile with "Eye", "reveal" and "stop" icons.
"On, On They Went" [C 3] One for the Dark Lord (3) Shadow Special Hunt tile with "3" and "stop" icons.
"Give it to Uss!" [C 4] One for the Dark Lord (3) Shadow Special Hunt tile with "1", "reveal" and "stop" icons.

• For complete Hunt tile draw resolution (with details on all cards and abilities), see the "We Shall Get It" card entry.

• WOME The base "Shelob's Lair" care is removed from the game if the WOME expansion is in play. The "Shelob's Lair" special tile is available from the WOME "The Craft of Shelob" Faction Event card when playing WOME.

"Orc Patrol" [C 5] Cruel as Death (3)

• LOME If a Sméagol tile is drawn for this card, (i) Sméagol comes into play if he has not been in play, or (ii) the tile acts as if it is a "0" tile if Sméagol is already in play, or (iii) the tile is discarded and a new tile is drawn if Gollum is currently the Guide or if Sméagol was in play but has since then left the Fellowship.

• The LOME Hobbits may use their Guide ability to cancel a standard Hunt tile drawn for this card.

• Galadriel's Nenya ability, "We Shall Get It", and "Mithril Coat and Sting" may all be used to redraw the Hunt tile drawn for this card (note that it might seem counterproductive to redraw an "Eye" tile with the Nenya ability here since "Eye" tiles are discarded without effect, but there could be reasons to do this, e.g., to destroy an "Eye" before entering Mordor when Galadriel faces elimination in battle on the next Action). See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw.

• WOME If this card reveals the Fellowship, it is not permitted to reveal into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. This can be important for "The Western Way" card as the Fellowship may be stalled when trying to get through the Grey Havens or Pelargir as a result. However, it is permitted to move through an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold region if there is enough movement on the Fellowship Track to reveal into a region beyond the unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. Finally, note that if the Free Peoples City or Stronghold is conquered, then the Fellowship may freely reveal into those regions.

• WOME If the Fellowship is "At Sea" (defined on "The Western Way" card), then this card may be playable (if the Ring-bearers figure is not in a Free Peoples Settlement), but it is not possible to draw a Hunt tile due to the "At Sea" restriction, negating the main effect of this card.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable if the Fellowship is standing at Helm's Deep, because it is not a Free Peoples Settlement. [web]

"Isildur's Bane" [C 6] Cruel as Death (3)

• LOME If a Sméagol tile is drawn for this card, (i) Sméagol comes into play if he has not been in play, or (ii) the tile acts as if it is a "0" tile if Sméagol is already in play, or (iii) the tile is discarded and a new tile is drawn if Gollum is currently the Guide or if Sméagol was in play but has since then left the Fellowship.

• The LOME Hobbits of the Shire may use their Guide ability to cancel a standard Hunt tile drawn for this card (as cancelling a Hunt tile is different from reducing Hunt damage). [web]

• LOME "Take Someone You Can Trust" only ignores the reveal icon on any drawn Hunt tile, and that is allowed here as "Isildur's Bane" only restricts reducing Hunt damage.

• Galadriel's Nenya ability, "We Shall Get It", and "Mithril Coat and Sting" may all be used to redraw the Hunt tile drawn for this card (note that it might seem counterproductive to redraw an "Eye" tile with the Nenya ability here since "Eye" tiles are discarded without effect, but there could be reasons to do this, e.g., to destroy an "Eye" before entering Mordor when Galadriel faces elimination in battle on the next Action). See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw.

• WOME If this card reveals the Fellowship, it is not permitted to reveal into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. This can be important for "The Western Way" card as the Fellowship may be stalled when trying to get through the Grey Havens or Pelargir as a result. However, it is permitted to move through an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold region if there is enough movement on the Fellowship Track to reveal into a region beyond the unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. Finally, note that if the Free Peoples City or Stronghold is conquered, then the Fellowship may freely reveal into those regions.

• WOME If the Fellowship is "At Sea" (defined on "The Western Way" card), then this card may be playable (if the Ring-bearers figure is not in a Free Peoples Settlement), but it is not possible to draw a Hunt tile due to the "At Sea" restriction, negating the main effect of this card.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable if the Fellowship is standing at Helm's Deep, because it is not a Free Peoples Settlement. [web]

"Foul Thing from the Deep" [C 7] They are Terrible (4)

• LOME If a Sméagol tile is drawn for this card, (i) Sméagol comes into play if he has not been in play, or (ii) the tile acts as if it is a "0" tile if Sméagol is already in play, or (iii) the tile is discarded and a new tile is drawn if Gollum is currently the Guide or if Sméagol was in play but has since then left the Fellowship.

• The LOME Hobbits may use their Guide ability to cancel a standard Hunt tile drawn for this card.

• If a LOME variant of Boromir, Gimli, or Legolas is randomly picked, they may not separate to avoid elimination for this card (even if they are randomly picked when Guide of the Fellowship as they do not have the Take Them Alive! ability that allows randomly picked base game Hobbits to separate to avoid elimination). However, they may use their Guide abilities before a random casualty is picked and may separate to avoid elimination in that case.

• Galadriel's Nenya ability, "We Shall Get It", and "Mithril Coat and Sting" may all be used to redraw the Hunt tile drawn for this card (note that it might seem counterproductive to redraw an "Eye" tile with the Nenya ability here since "Eye" tiles are discarded without effect, but there could be reasons to do this, e.g., to destroy an "Eye" before entering Mordor when Galadriel faces elimination in battle on the next Action). See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw.

• WOME If this card reveals the Fellowship, it is not permitted to reveal into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. This can be important for "The Western Way" card as the Fellowship may be stalled when trying to get through the Grey Havens or Pelargir as a result. However, it is permitted to move through an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold region if there is enough movement on the Fellowship Track to reveal into a region beyond the unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. Finally, note that if the Free Peoples City or Stronghold is conquered, then the Fellowship may freely reveal into those regions.

• WOME If the Fellowship is "At Sea" (defined on "The Western Way" card), then this card may be playable (if the Ring-bearers figure is not in a Free Peoples Settlement), but it is not possible to draw a Hunt tile due to the "At Sea" restriction, negating the main effect of this card.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable if the Fellowship is standing at Helm's Deep, because it is not a Free Peoples Settlement. [web]

"Candles of Corpses" [C 8] Dread and Despair (3)

• WOME This card can be played if the Fellowship is on "The Western Way" card; the "At Sea" restriction on that card only prevents drawing Hunt tiles, other effects work normally.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, this card is playable if the Fellowship is standing at Helm's Deep, because it is not a Free Peoples Settlement. [web]

"Nazgûl Search" [C 9] Foul Stench (3)

• LOME If this card is played while the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the region with the Fellowship, the Shadow player may use the Spear of Terror ability to draw another Character card before deciding how he will move the Nazgûl.

• The Shadow player cannot move non-Nazgûl Minions with this card, i.e., Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron, The Balrog of Moria, Gothmog, and KOME Dark Chieftains.

• WOME "Take Someone You Can Trust" may not be used to prevent a reveal from this card.

• WOME If the Ring-bearers figure is on "The Western Way" card, "Nazgûl Search" can move Nazgûl, but cannot move Nazgûl there (Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are all forbidden to move onto that card). Hence, "Nazgûl Search" cannot roll to reveal the Fellowship there.

• WOME If this card reveals the Fellowship, it is not permitted to reveal into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. This can be important for "The Western Way" card as the Fellowship may be stalled when trying to get through the Grey Havens or Pelargir as a result. However, it is permitted to move through an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold region if there is enough movement on the Fellowship Track to reveal into a region beyond the unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. Finally, note that if the Free Peoples City or Stronghold is conquered, then the Fellowship may freely reveal into those regions.

"Cruel Weather" [C 10] Cruel as Death (3)

• The LOME Balrog Fire and Shadow ability or "The Gates are Closed" card may not be used to draw a Hunt tile if "Cruel Weather" is used to move the Ring-bearers figure into/from a region containing the Balrog, or into/from a region containing a Shadow Stronghold when "The Gates are Closed" card is in play, as movement due to this card is not a declaration or a reveal.

• WOME This card can be played if the Ring-bearers figure is on "The Western Way" card; the "At Sea" restriction on that card only prevents drawing Hunt tiles, other effects work normally. The Ring-bearers figure could be moved to the Grey Havens, or to any Gondor coastal region (Anfalas, Dol Amroth, Lamedon, or Pelargir). If the Ring-bearers figure is moved to a Gondor coastal region, the Fellowship is no longer "At Sea" and so Hunt rolls and Shadow Character Event cards will work against the Fellowship in those regions. Note that the Ring-bearers figure may move back onto or through "The Western Way" card from any of these regions and would again gain the "At Sea" protection in that case.

• This card may be used to move the Ring-bearers figure out of an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold if they are at Step 1 or higher of the Fellowship Track. In LOME, this could be used to move the Fellowship out of Rivendell or another Stronghold to enable the recruitment condition for the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths, or to play other Fellowship attack cards. Note that moving the Fellowship out of Rivendell in this will put the Fellowship one step closer to Mordor via the Moria route, so playing this may help the Free Peoples player in that respect.

"The Nazgûl Strike" [C 11] Black Breath (6)

• LOME If this card is played while the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the region with the Fellowship, the Shadow player may use the Spear of Terror ability to draw another Character card before deciding how he will move the Nazgûl.

• The Shadow player cannot move non-Nazgûl Minions with this card, i.e., Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron, The Balrog of Moria, Gothmog, and KOME Dark Chieftains.

• WOME If "The Western Way" card is in play on the table, it cannot be removed by "The Nazgûl Strike".

• WOME If the Ring-bearers figure is on "The Western Way" card, "The Nazgûl Strike" can move Nazgûl, but cannot move Nazgûl there (Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are all forbidden to move onto that card). Hence, "The Nazgûl Strike" cannot roll for the Hunt or remove a Free Peoples Character Event card from the table if the Ring-bearers figure is there.

• WOME If this card reveals the Fellowship, it is not permitted to reveal into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. This can be important for "The Western Way" card as the Fellowship may be stalled when trying to get through the Grey Havens or Pelargir as a result. However, it is permitted to move through an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold region if there is enough movement on the Fellowship Track to reveal into a region beyond the unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. Finally, note that if the Free Peoples City or Stronghold is conquered, then the Fellowship may freely reveal into those regions.

• For complete Hunt tile draw resolution (with details on all cards and abilities), see the "We Shall Get It" card entry.

"Morgul Wound" C 12 Black Breath (6)

• WOME This card can be played if the Fellowship is on "The Western Way" card; the "At Sea" restriction on that card only prevents drawing Hunt tiles, other effects work normally.

"Lure of the Ring" C 13 They Are Terrible (4)

• LOME If Sméagol is Guide and is randomly picked for this card (and the Free Peoples player chooses to eliminate him) then "We Shall Get It" comes into play.

• If a LOME variant of Boromir, Gimli, or Legolas is randomly picked, they may not separate to avoid elimination, even if they are Guide, because they do not have the Take Them Alive! ability that base game Hobbits have, and their Guide ability is only available during a Hunt where Hunt damage is 1 or more (this card is not a Hunt and although there can be damage, it is not Hunt damage).

• WOME This card is fully playable if the Fellowship is on "The Western Way" card; the "At Sea" restriction on that card only prevents drawing Hunt tiles, other effects work normally.

"The Breaking of the Fellowship" C 14 Dread and Despair (3)

• LOME If a Sméagol tile is drawn for this card, (i) Sméagol comes into play if he has not been in play, or (ii) the tile acts as if it is a "0" tile if Sméagol is already in play, or (iii) the tile is discarded and a new tile is drawn if Gollum is currently the Guide or if Sméagol was in play but has since then left the Fellowship.

• "We Won't Go Back" cannot be triggered here because the Hunt tile was not drawn "during the Hunt".

• The LOME Hobbits may use their Guide ability to cancel a standard Hunt tile drawn for this card.

• LOME If Sméagol is currently the Guide, there are a few considerations: (i) Sméagol can be picked to separate with this card, in which case "We Shall Get It" will enter play, since Sméagol separates from the Fellowship, (ii) it might be possible to leave Sméagol as the only Companion in the Fellowship, in which case, Sméagol will be alone in the Fellowship and so will be replaced by Gollum, and so "We Shall Get It" will not enter play (e.g. a "2" tile is drawn and only Sméagol, Gimli, and Legolas are in the Fellowship; the Free Peoples chooses to separate Gimli and Legolas leaving alone in the Fellowship, so he will be replaced by Gollum and "We Shall Get It" will not enter play), (iii) as the Companions are "separated" together at the same time (and "We Shall Get It" will always enter play if Sméagol is separated).

• LOME If Sméagol is the Guide, and all other Companions are separated from the Fellowship except for Sméagol, then Sméagol is immediately replaced by Gollum, and so "We Shall Get It" does not enter play.

• LOME Galadriel's Nenya ability, "We Shall Get It", and "Mithril Coat and Sting" may all be used to redraw the Hunt tile drawn for this card (note that it might seem counterproductive to redraw an "Eye" tile with the Nenya ability here since "Eye" tiles are discarded without effect, but there could be reasons to do this, e.g., to destroy an "Eye" before entering Mordor when Galadriel faces elimination in battle on the next Action). See the "We Shall Get It" card for the complete sequence to resolve a Hunt tile draw.

• WOME This card can be played if the Fellowship is under the "At Sea" restriction (defined on "The Western Way" card). (i) If there is at least one Companion in the Fellowship, the "At Sea" restriction prevents drawing Hunt tiles, so playing this card has no effect here as no Hunt tile can be drawn to separate Companions in this case, or (ii) If Gollum is the Guide, then apply 1 point of Corruption, and this is direct Corruption, so cannot be prevented by Hunt protection cards like "Axe and Bow" etc.

• KOME If a Kings tile is drawn, the number on it determines the number of Companions to separate.

"Worn with Sorrow and Toil" C 15 Words of Power (1)

• LOME If Sméagol is picked as a casualty, then this card will trigger, and the "We Shall Get It" card enters play.

• LOME Sméagol is forced to leave the Fellowship if the Fellowship declares into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold. This is not a Hunt casualty and so this card will not trigger.

• When Gollum becomes the Guide, this card is not removed from play even though it cannot be triggered. However, in LOME it can have an effect as it can prevent the Free Peoples player using "Wind from the West" to view the Shadow players Event cards (since they would be forced to remove the "Play on the table" card first); this card could even be played after Gollum is the Guide for this purpose.

• If the LOME versions of the Hobbits (Hobbits of the Shire) use their Guide ability (that eliminates both Hobbits to cancel a standard Hunt tile), the Shadow player may activate "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" twice web, to remove a Free Peoples Character card that is in play on the table, or a random Character card from the Free Peoples hand on each activation.

• WOME If "The Western Way" card is in play on the table, "Worn with Sorrow and Toil" cannot discard it (but it could be randomly discarded if the card is still in the Free Peoples players hand).

• WOME This card cannot remove a Faction Event card marked with a Character icon in play on the table, or randomly from the hand, as they are not part of the Character Event deck. (WOME p7) web

"Flocks of Crebain" C 16 They are Terrible (4)

• WOME If the Fellowship is on "The Western Way" card, but the Fellowship is not "At Sea" (which is the case if they are at Step 2 or more of the Fellowship Track), then this card can be used as normal.

"Balrog of Moria" C 17 Durin's Bane (2)

• This card is not in use in LOME and should be replaced by the LOME "A Balrog is Come!" card.

"The Lidless Eye" C 18 Words of Power (1)

• A LOME Lesser Minion die (Balrog or Gothmog) in play this turn may be changed to an "Eye" result and put into the Hunt Box. If the Witch-king (either version) is in play during the next Recover Action dice phase, that Lesser Minion die will be permanently removed from play as per normal rules.

• The WOME Faction die cannot be put into the Hunt Box using this card (as it is not an "Action dice").

"Dreadful Spells" C 19 Devilry of Orthanc (3)

• LOME The Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is a Nazgûl for all rules and provides 1 die for his presence as a Nazgûl when playing this card.

• The Balrog of Moria, Gothmog, Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron (either version), and KOME Dark Chieftains are not Nazgûl and so do not count towards the number of Nazgûl for this card.

• LOME For Elrond and Galadriel "Additional rules" (LOME p17, p19), they can never leave their home Strongholds and are removed from play if their Stronghold becomes controlled by the Shadow player. Hence, although Companions are not eliminated by "Dreadful Spells", if a Shadow Army has besieged Rivendell or Lórien, and every Free Peoples Army unit is eliminated by this card, Elrond or Galadriel will also be eliminated when the Shadow takes control of their home Stronghold (though other Companions there will not be eliminated and will remain in play in this region, as this card only eliminates Army units).

• KOME non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereigns are Leaders so are eliminated if the Free Peoples Army they are with is eliminated. If they are Awakened or Corrupted, they cannot be eliminated by this card.

"Grond, Hammer of the Underworld" C 20 Dread and Despair (3)

• LOME If this card is played while the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the region with the Fellowship (this will not happen often, but is possible if the Ring-bearers figure and Chief of Ringwraiths are both at Lórien or Minas Tirith for example), the Shadow player may use the Spear of Terror ability to draw another Character Event card before combat begins, which could be used in the upcoming battle.

• LOME Galadriel or Elrond do not apply for Event card text but do apply for Combat effects. Hence, since "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld" starts a battle, Elrond, or Galadriel count as Companions, and so the Free Peoples may play a card on the first round. web

• WOME In the base game or with the LOME expansion, this card cannot be prevented from going to 3 rounds (other than by one of the Armies being eliminated) but this changes with WOME: the Dead Men "The Terror of the Dead" and the Ents "The Forest is Rising" Call to Battle cards can end a battle started by this card, even on the first or second rounds (noting the requirement on this card that a Companion must be present in the Free Peoples Army for them to play a Combat card on the first round). web

• Treebeard is a Companion in Rohan so, if this card starts a siege battle in Helm's Deep, the Free Peoples may play a card on the first round if Treebeard is present. web

"The Palantír of Orthanc" C 21 Cruel as Death (3)

• LOME If this card is in play and an Event result is used to play a Character card while the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the same region as the Fellowship, the Shadow player must decide whether to use the Chief of the Ringwraiths Spear of Terror ability (at the start of the Action, to draw a new card from the Character deck), or, to wait until the Action has been fully played and instead use "The Palantír of Orthanc" card after the end of the Action, to draw a card from any of the Character, Strategy or WOME Faction (if WOME is in play) decks. LOME p29 "If the Shadow Event Card "Palantír of Orthanc" is also in play, only one card is drawn, not two."

• The Free Peoples can remove this card with a Will of the West or "any Action die" and an Elven Ring. A LOME Keeper die or KOME Ruler die may be used, but not a WOME Faction die. If using an Elven Ring, that ring is given to the Shadow player and is considered a base game "use" of an Elven Ring (so the Free Peoples player may not make another base game "use" of an Elven Ring this turn).

• WOME A Faction Event card played by Shadow can activate this card (if an Event Action die result using a base game Action die, or a KOME Ruler die was used). A LOME Lesser Minion or WOME Faction dice cannot activate this card, as neither have an Event result on them. Draw the card from any of the Character, Strategy or WOME Faction decks.

• KOME If "The Palantír of Barad-dûr" is in play and the Shadow player uses its effect to "use a Muster Action die result as an Event Action die result" and then plays an Event card, this also triggers "The Palantír of Orthanc" if it is in play, to draw an Event card from any deck of his choice at the end of the action, including the Faction deck, if WOME is in play.

• KOME If "The Palantír of Minas Tirith" is played using an Event Action die result while "The Palantír of Orthanc" is in play, the Shadow player draws first for "The Palantír of Minas Tirith", then, once the action is over and the used die is set aside, he draws for "The Palantír of Orthanc". The Shadow player is allowed to choose which deck to draw from each time, including the Faction deck, if WOME is in play.

"Wormtongue" C 22 Foul Stench (3)

• LOME The Narya the Great Elven Ring ability of Gandalf the Grey, Keeper of Narya counts as an "appropriate Companion", so if this ability is used at a Rohan Settlement, it will discard "Wormtongue". web

• Treebeard cannot activate Nations; moving him to Edoras or Helms Deep will not affect "Wormtongue".

"The Ringwraiths are Abroad" C 23 Words of Power (1)

• LOME If this card is played while the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the region with the Ring-bearers figure, the Spear of Terror ability allows drawing another Character card immediately, and before deciding how he will move the Nazgûl.

• The Shadow player cannot move non-Nazgûl Minions with this card, i.e., Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron, The Balrog of Moria, Gothmog, and KOME Dark Chieftains.

"The Black Captain Commands" C 24 Foul Stench (3)

• The name of the card is a thematic reference, all parts of the card that mention "The Witch-king" can apply to either the base game or the LOME variant of the Witch-king (i.e., The Chief of Ringwraiths).

• LOME If this card is played while the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths is in the region with the Ring-bearers figure, the Spear of Terror ability allows drawing another Character card immediately, and before deciding on anything else (recruiting Nazgûl or moving Nazgûl, and then moving with or declaring an attack with an Army containing the Witch-king).

• The Shadow player cannot move non-Nazgûl Minions with this card, i.e., Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron, The Balrog of Moria, Gothmog, and KOME Dark Chieftains.

Lords of Middle-earth, Shadow Character Event cards

"A Balrog is Come!" C 17* Durin's Bane (2) Replaces base game "Balrog of Moria" C 17

• This card can either a) activate the Balrog (if he is already in play but is not activated), or b) move an already activated Balrog alone up to 2 regions (Nazgûl or other Minions may not be moved here) or c) move/attack with an Army that contains the already activated Balrog. Activating the Balrog and moving/attacking with the Balrog as a single Action is not possible with this card.

• Note the additional play condition on the LOME version of the "Durin's Bane" Combat portion of this card over the base game; it can be played not only in any battle within 2 regions of Moria, but also in any battle in which the LOME Balrog participates.

"We Won't Go Back" C 25 (LM25/24) Fear of their Masters (3)

• The Sméagol tile must be drawn during a Hunt, and this is direct Corruption (like "Morgul Wound"), i.e., you cannot take Sméagol or a random Companion as a casualty. web

• Companion abilities or cards that affect the Hunt ("Axe and Bow", "Horn of Gondor", etc) cannot affect "We Won't Go Back" (as it is direct Corruption, not Hunt damage), and "Mithril Coat & Sting" cannot replace the tile because Sméagol tiles are resolved before normal Hunt Resolution. FAQ

• It is not possible to discard Shadow Character cards in play on the table to trigger this Corruption, with the exception of the "We Won't Go Back" card itself (as noted on the card), e.g., if "The Lore of the Elven Rings" or "Flocks of Crebain" were in play on the tablet they cannot be used; only Shadow Character cards that are still in the Shadow player's hand may be used for this.

• If "Breaking of the Fellowship" or "Challenge of the King" are played and a Sméagol tile is drawn, the Shadow player may not use "We Won't Go Back" because the tile was not drawn "during the Hunt".

• This card cannot be played before Sméagol is Guide, and so cannot be applied to the Sméagol tile that brings him into play.

• When Sméagol leaves the Fellowship, this card is removed from play, but Sméagol tiles still in the Hunt Pool remain in the Hunt Pool and may have a very limited impact upon play. web

• WOME This card cannot discard a Faction Event card marked with a Character icon to activate the 2 points of Corruption, as they are not part of the Character Event deck. (WOME p7) web

"The Lore of the Elven Rings" C 26 (LM26/24) Fear of their Masters (3)

• This applies to "any one die in your Action Roll", so can a) change a rolled (but not pre-allocated) "Eye" result, or b) change a non-"Eye" result (including to an "Eye" result), or c) change a Lesser Minion die result, or d) change the WOME Faction die result ("change any one die in your Action Roll"), or e) change the KOME Ruler die result. web

• Note that the Shadow player does not reroll the chosen die, you can simply change it to the face of your choice that is most useful for you.

• If the Free Peoples rolls more than 1 "Eye" result on Keeper dice (if more than 1 Keeper die is in play), only 1 Action die result may be changed, as only 1 Keeper die per turn can be in play on any turn. web

• This card has no play condition and could be played even after all Keeper die have been removed from the game, simply to block the "Wind from the West" Event card from viewing the Shadow player's hand (and so prevent the Free Peoples from viewing and discarding from the Shadow player's hand).

• The Free Peoples can remove this card with a Will of the West or "any Action die" and an Elven Ring. A LOME Keeper die or KOME Ruler die may be used, but not a WOME Faction die. If using an Elven Ring, that ring is given to the Shadow player and is considered a base game "use" of an Elven Ring (so the Free Peoples player may not make another base game "use" of an Elven Ring this turn).

• "When the Fellowship is revealed, if the Free Peoples player is forced to draw multiple Hunt Tiles because of a Shadow Stronghold presence, events, and abilities, each tile effect is resolved completely before applying the following tile effect. First the player resolves the effect of the tile that caused the Fellowship to be revealed. Then he resolves all tiles related to events and abilities. Lastly, he resolves the tile drawn due to the Shadow Stronghold." p41. Following from this:
(i) The Fellowship could trigger "The Gates are Closed" by declaring at the start of a turn. If declaring into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold at the start of a turn, it has been clarified that Free Peoples City/Stronghold healing from a declare, or Sméagol leaving the Fellowship as required by his card, always happens before "The Gates are Closed" or other effects like the LOME Balrog's Fire and Shadow (note that Sméagol cannot be a casualty for "The Gates are Closed" or the LOME Balrog's Fire and Shadow for this reason). It might seem unintuitive for the healing and Sméagol leaving happen before these interactions, but the order is required for game mechanics consistency).
(ii) Note the point on each Hunt tile being fully resolved before moving on to the next Hunt tile, i.e., do not draw all Hunt tiles first, always resolve each tile fully before resolving the next.
(iii) The text "the tile drawn due to the Shadow Stronghold" suggests a single tile, but there could in fact be more than a single tile, e.g., if revealed through Moria and into Minas Morgul or Morannon in a single action there could be multiple Shadow Stronghold tiles.
(iv) "The Gates are Closed" card (or the base game base "Balrog of Moria") applies if the Fellowship moves "into, out of, or through, or remains stationary in" a relevant Shadow Stronghold (LOME "The Gates are Closed" only activates if the Shadow Stronghold is unconquered, but base "Balrog of Moria" will activate even if Moria is conquered). Note that these two cards cannot appear in the same game as the LOME expansion that provides "The Gates are Closed" also removes "Balrog of Moria".
(v) The LOME "The Gates are Closed" and base game base "Balrog of Moria" cards are both optional; Shadow chooses whether to use or not, but the LOME Balrog's Fire and Shadow ability is not optional and that is also the case for Stronghold tiles; when they are triggered, those tiles must be drawn.

• If "The Gates are Closed" card is in play and the Fellowship moves "into, out of, or through, or remains stationary in" an unconquered Shadow Stronghold while being declared or revealed, then the Shadow player may choose to use "The Gates are Closed" as part of the following resolution: web web
a) If the Fellowship declared into a Free Peoples City or Stronghold, fully resolve that declaration, or fully resolve the Hunt tile is this was a Hunt. If the Fellowship was revealed by a Hunt or "Nazgûl Search", fully resolve that first; move the Ring-bearers figure and reset the Fellowship Track.
b) The Shadow player may now choose to use cards or abilities that apply, in any order they want, resolving each fully using normal Hunt rules (e.g., LOME Balrog's Fire and Shadow ability, or "The Gates are Closed" card). If an "Eye" Hunt tile is drawn for "The Gates are Closed", discard the Hunt tile without effect. If a standard numbered Hunt tile is drawn that has a reveal icon, ignore the reveal icon.

c) Finally, if the Fellowship was revealed due to any of the above, and in doing so moved "into, out of, or through, or remains stationary in" any unconquered Shadow Strongholds, then draw and resolve additional Hunt tiles for each unconquered Shadow Stronghold. Note that this step cannot happen if the Fellowship declared as neither the LOME Balrog nor "The Gates Are Closed" can reveal the Fellowship when it declares. Stronghold Hunt tiles drawn in this step follow normal rules. "Eye" Hunt tiles drawn for a Stronghold are ignored.
In summary, resolve the initial Hunt tile or declare; and then resolve cards or abilities that may apply because of moves while being revealed "into, out of, or through, or remaining stationary in" an unconquered Shadow Stronghold (i.e. "The Gates are Closed") or a region containing the LOME Balrog (noting that Fire and Shadow also applies during declares while not being revealed); and finally, on the path traced when revealed, resolve a Hunt tile for each unconquered Shadow Stronghold on path. Each tile must be fully resolved one by one.

• Example. The Fellowship is revealed on the 10th move from Rivendell. They choose to move through Moria (with the LOME Balrog) and reveal into Minas Morgul. First, the Hunt tile is fully resolved. Then, Shadow may choose to use "The Gates are Closed" if it is in play on the table but note that the LOME Balrog's Fire and Shadow ability is not optional; Shadow may resolve these two effects in the order he chooses (state what order this will be). Finally, Shadow must (not optional) draw a Hunt tile for each of the two unconquered Shadow Strongholds that the Fellowship moved through (through Moria and into Minas Morgul) for a total of 5 Hunt tiles in a single Action.

• If the Ring-bearers figure is already at Minas Morgul or Morannon and enters Mordor at the start of a turn, then this card cannot be activated. This is because entering Mordor is technically not a declare. However, if the Fellowship must declare to get to Minas Morgul or Morannon (starting from another region and moving the Ring-bearers figure at the start of a turn), and this card is in play, then it may be activated as the declare condition has been met.

• The Fellowship can never be revealed by this card, as reveal icons on it are ignored (e.g., a "2 with reveal" Hunt tile would act like a "2").

• The LOME Hobbits may use their Guide ability to cancel a standard Hunt tile drawn for this card if one of them is the Guide of the Fellowship.

• The card states "unconquered Shadow Stronghold", i.e., it cannot be activated if the relevant Shadow Stronghold has been captured, nor can it be activated at a conquered Free Peoples Stronghold.

• If Gollum reveals to reduce Hunt damage as part of the resolution for this card, then the Stronghold tile will be triggered. E.g., a "2 with reveal" tile is drawn for this card when base game Peregrin is the last Companion. Peregrin separates to reduce damage by 1. Gollum is now the Guide, so ignores the reveal icon, and chooses to reveal to reduce damage by 1. As the Fellowship was revealed, this card triggers.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then "The Gates are Closed" card can be activated due to Helm's Deep as it is an "unconquered Shadow Stronghold". web

"Captain of Despair" C 28 (LM28/24) Servant of the Shadow (3)

• If the Witch-king is eliminated during a battle or if Gollum becomes the Guide of the Fellowship, immediately remove this card from play. If the Shadow player initiated a battle or played a card using a Character Action die result that caused this to happen, that Character Action die is not added into the Hunt Box. However, any Character Action dice that were put into the Hunt Box before the Witch-king was eliminated will remain there until the end of the current turn.

• If this card is in play and the Fellowship declares at an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold, then this card must be removed from play (note that unlike "Flocks of Crebain" or "Worn with Sorrow and Toil", this card is not removed from play due to declaring in an unconquered Free Peoples City.

• If the Shadow player uses a Character Action die result that causes the last Companion to leave or be eliminated from the Fellowship so that Gollum becomes the Guide, "Captain of Despair" is immediately removed from play, hence, the Character result used does not get added to the Hunt Box. web

• If the Mouth of Sauron, Black Númenórean (LOME version) uses his Great Sorcery ability to use a Muster result "as if a Character result was used", the die is not put into the Hunt Box at the end of the Action, since it was "as if" it was a Character result, and not actually changed to a Character result. web

• KOME Any die added to the Hunt Box due to "Captain of Despair" is not counted as an "Eye" for the purposes of Sovereign corruption attempts; either separate the dice into distinct groups (put dice moved into the Hunt Pool due to "Captain of Despair" on the right side of the Hunt Box and normal dice to the left side), or, instead of changing them to "Eye" results (as indicated on the "Captain of Despair" card), deliberately make them some other agreed result so that it is clear that they do not count towards Sovereign corruption. Note that a Free Peoples player Keeper die "Eye" result does count fully for the purposes of Sovereign corruption and the Shadow player may use them for corruption attempts.

Warriors of Middle-earth, Shadow Character Event cards

"Not on Anybody's Side" C (WM 1/24) Devilry of Orthanc (3) Replaces base game "Shelob's Lair" C 1

• This card can be played if only the Dead Men Faction is in play, although it has no effect upon this Faction (i.e., the play condition is any Free Peoples Faction is in play, not tied to Eagles or Ents).

• This card does not affect Dead Men in any way; Event cards and Call to Battle cards of the Dead Men Faction can be played without restriction when this card is in play.

• Neither Faction Event cards nor Call to Battle cards of the Eagles and Ents Factions can be played, but Event cards that are already in play still apply (e.g., "Saruman is a Neighbour" or "In Long Swift Lines").

• This card does not affect Treebeard in any way as he is not a part of the Ents Faction.

• Any base game Action die, or the LOME Keeper die (LOME p8), or the KOME Ruler die all act as "any Action die" and so can meet the discard condition. However, the WOME Faction die is not "any Action die", and so does not meet the discard condition.

Kings of Middle-earth, Shadow Character Event cards

"Your Welcome Is Doubtful" C 25 (KM 25/24) Servant of the Shadow (3)

• If this card is in play, it would prevent both "Aid in Time of Need" and "There is Hope for Victory" from awakening Sovereigns.

• To remove this card from play, there is no requirement for the Companion with a non-Corrupted Sovereign to have a matching Nation icon; a "non-Corrupted" Sovereign can be non-Awakened or Awakened for this purpose.

• While this card is in play, it prevents Corruption from being removed from a Free Peoples Sovereign in any way, either by using the appropriate action or using cards such as "The Wisdom of Elrond" KOME and "Ever at Your Service". web

"The West Has Failed" C 26 (KM 26/24) Battle Is Vain (1)

• The Witch-king (both the base game or LOME Chief of Ringwraiths variant) is a Nazgûl, so can trigger this card if in a region adjacent to, or in the same region as, a non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereign.

• This corruption attempt does not count towards the limit of one corruption attempt per Sovereign per turn, and so it is possible to play this card after or before a corruption attempt made against him this turn using normal corruption attempt rules.

• Normally, it is required to have at least 2 dice showing Eye results in the Hunt Box to perform a corruption attempt ("and there is more than one Eye die in the Hunt Box" KOME p11), but this card can be played even if there is only one Eye die in the Hunt Box. [web] However, this card cannot be played if there are no Eyes in the Hunt Box, as then no tiles can be drawn, meaning that a corruption attempt is not possible.

"The Palantír of Minas Tirith" KM PROMO 1 Battle Is Vain (1)

• If "The Palantír of Orthanc" is in play, and "The Palantír of Minas Tirith" is played using an Event die, then first draw a card from any deck for the "The Palantír of Minas Tirith" effect, and then draw another card (again, from any deck) due to "The Palantír of Orthanc" being in play. If this results in more than 6 cards in hand, immediately discard down to 6 cards.

• LOME If this card is played while "The Palantír of Orthanc" and the LOME Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraith, is in the same region as the Fellowship, then (i) the Shadow player may immediately draw a Character card for the LOME Witch-king's Spear of Terror ability (at the start of the Action), then (only if the Action die was an Event result) he may draw for "The Palantír of Minas Tirith" from any of his decks, or (ii) he may choose to not use the Spear of Terror ability and instead play the Action and then draw one card from any deck for "The Palantír of Minas Tirith" and another card from any deck for "The Palantír of Orthanc". This is because the Spear of Terror ability and the card "The Palantir of Orthanc" can never be combined during the same Action (LOME p29), but there is no such limitation for "The Palantír of Minas Tirith" and "The Palantir of Orthanc", nor for Spear of Terror and "The Palantír of Minas Tirith".

Shadow Strategy Event cards

"Return to Valinor" A 1 Deadly Strife (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME.

• If all units in Rivendell or Lórien are eliminated, Elrond or Galadriel are not eliminated, though any Leaders that were with the Army will be (as Leaders cannot exist alone outside of an Army).

• KOME This card has significantly more powerful than the base game version, (i) it can be played if at least one Sovereign is corrupted, and, (ii) if 2 or more Sovereigns are corrupted, the roll for each Elven Stronghold which is not under siege scores a hot on each result of 5+ instead of 6 as in the base game.

"The Fighting Uruk-hai" A 2 Onslaught (7)

• Galadriel or Elrond do not apply for Event card text but do apply for Combat effects, and as "The Fighting Uruk-hai" starts a battle, then Elrond and Galadriel count as Companions, and so the Free Peoples may play a card on the first round of those battles. [web]

• WOME In the base game or with the LOME expansion, this card cannot be prevented from going to 3 rounds (other than by one of the Armies being eliminated) but this changes with WOME: the Dead Men "The Terror of the Dead" and the Ents "The Forest is Rising" Call to Battle cards can end a battle started by this card, even on the first or second rounds (noting the requirement on this card that a Companion must be present in the Free Peoples Army for them to play a Combat card on the first round). [web]

"Denethor's Folly" A 3 Devilry of Orthanc (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME.

• WOME If Aragorn (but not Strider) or Gandalf (any version) is with the Army of the Dead in the region of Minas Tirith (which can happen if the Army of the Dead move there first, then a Shadow Army besieges the Stronghold, then plays this card), then the use of "any Action die result" to discard "Denethor's Folly" is permitted due to Gandalf (any version) being in the Army of the Dead, or Aragorn (Strider does not meet the condition to discard "Denethor's Folly").

• KOME The central effect of this variant is the same (i.e. the Free Peoples cannot play Combat cards for battles in Minas Tirith, including if a Free Peoples Army in an adjacent region attacks a Shadow Army that has besieged Minas Tirith), but (i) the play condition is substantially different as it can only be played if Denethor is non-Awakened (i.e., it cannot be played if he is Awakened, but can if he is Corrupted, or non-Awakened, non-Corrupted), (ii) a Leader is not eliminated as with the base game, (iii) it also affects the region where non-Awakened Denethor is in addition to Minas Tirith, and (iv) Boromir can also use any Action die result to remove this card if he is in Minas Tirith (as an alternative to Gandalf or Aragorn).

"The Day Without Dawn" A 4 Relentless Assault (3)

• LOME Keeper dice do not have "Will of the West" results so cannot be removed by this card. However, if the KOME Ruler die shows a "Will of the West" result then it will be removed by this card.

"Threats and Promises" M 5 Devilry of Orthanc (3) Replaced by variant card in KOME.

• LOME Boromir, Gimli, Legolas, and the Hobbit of the Shire variant Companions have abilities that advance their respective Nations on the Political Track which will cause this card to be discarded.

• WOME An appropriate Companion in the Army of the Dead may activate a Nation at a City or a Stronghold without disbanding the Army of the Dead (e.g., base game Boromir in Gondor, or a base game Hobbit in Free Peoples Nations City or Stronghold). This will not discard "Threats and Promises". However, if an appropriate Companion in the Army of the Dead uses an ability to advance a Nation (e.g., at an unconquered Gondor City or Stronghold, base game Boromir's High Warden of the White Tower ability or the LOME Boromir's Messenger of Elrond ability), then "Threats and Promises" will be discarded (due to an "advance … by a Companions special ability" on the card). This advance on the Political Track action can also be done without disbanding the Army of the Dead.

• KOME The base game effect remains (the Free Peoples player cannot advance a passive Nation on the Political Track using an Action die Muster result) but additionally includes the restriction that no Sovereign can be awakened using an Action die Muster result while this card is in play.

• KOME The card text states, "using a Muster Action die result," but a Sovereign can also be awakened using any result on the Ruler die. Hence, a Muster result on an Action die could not be used to awaken a Sovereign, but any result on the Ruler die (even a Muster result) could be used to awaken a Sovereign (if other awakening requirements are met) making this card somewhat weaker if a Sovereign is in play. web

"Stormcrow" M 6 Great Host (7) Replaced by variant card in KOME.

• LOME Elrond or Galadriel do not count as Companions for activating this card as it is not combat-related.

• KOME The Corruption tile follows normal corruption attempt rules; redraw the tile if it is not valid to be placed and place the tile on the Sovereign face down (i.e., it is not shown to the Free Peoples player) unless it is a Kings tile in which case it is placed face up.

• KOME Drawing a Corruption tile because of this card does not count towards the limit of one corruption attempt per Sovereign per turn. Both can be done in a turn, and in any order.

• KOME This card moves a Nation back on the Political Track. The Corruption tile removal rule (KOME p13 when an appropriate Companion is in the same region as a non-Awakened, non-Corrupted Sovereign) requires an advance on the Political Track, so that rule is not triggered by this card.

• KOME This variant card no longer eliminates a Regular Army unit or a Leader and instead eliminates an Army unit (Regular or Elite) of the chosen Nation. As with the base game, this unit is chosen by the Free Peoples player (who is highly unlikely to choose an Elite here, but this text is consistent with other cards).

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable due to a Companion or the Fellowship being at Helm's Deep, because although Helm's Deep is now a Shadow Stronghold, the region itself is still a part of Rohan. web web

• Treebeard could only be used to play this card if he is active and has moved inside the borders of Rohan (he is not a Companion when outside of Fangorn or Rohan so he could not be used to activate "Stormcrow" against any other Nation than Rohan).

"Shadows Gather" A 7 Mûmakil (3-5)

• WOME All Shadow Faction figures may move along with the moved Armies checking each stacking limit at the end of the movement (Corsairs: 5 figures, Dunlendings: 3 figures, Spiders: no limit).

• WOME Corsairs cannot move outside of "any coastal region, Osgiliath, and any Gondor region except Erech"; hence, they can only move with this card if every region passed through is valid for them, if not, they cannot move at all with this card (i.e. they cannot be dropped off along the way).

"The Shadow Lengthens" A 8 Mûmakil (3-5)

• WOME All Shadow Faction figure types may move along with the moved Armies but noting their normal stacking limits (Corsairs: 5 figures, Dunlendings: 3 figures, Spiders: no limit).

• WOME Corsairs cannot move outside of "any coastal region, Osgiliath, and any Gondor region except Erech"; hence, they can only move with this card if every region passed through is valid for them, if not, they cannot move at all with this card (i.e. they cannot be dropped off along the way).

"The Shadow is Moving" A 9 Swarm of Bats (0)

• WOME All Shadow Faction figure types may move along with the moved Armies but noting their normal stacking limits (Corsairs: 5 figures, Dunlendings: 3 figures, Spiders: no limit).

"Corsairs of Umbar" A 10 Deadly Strife (3)

• WOME This card is removed from the game if the WOME expansion is in play.

Lords of Middle-earth, Shadow Strategy Event cards

"Shadow of Dol Guldur" A 25 (LM25/24) Mûmakil (3-5)

• This card may be played (and the units recruited) if Dol Guldur is under siege, whether the Shadow Army is inside the Stronghold, or the Shadow Army has besieged a Free People's Army that is inside Dol Guldur.

• If there are no Sauron Regular units in reinforcements, it is still possible to do the "You may move or attack with that Army" step. web

• The move or attack step is optional, but a besieged Shadow Army may not move out of the siege (though could attack the Free Peoples Army that has besieged them).

• The stacking limit is checked immediately after recruiting, and before moving or attacking. web If the Army is over-stacked, the removed units do not need to be from those that were just recruited (i.e. if 5 Sauron Regular units were recruited, other Nations units could be removed to meet the stacking limit).

• This card is often misinterpreted as providing 1 Regular unit per Nazgûl (as with "Dreadful Spells" "equal to the number of Nazgûl"), but this card provides 1 Regular unit per Nazgûl Leadership, thus The Witch-king, The Black Captain with 2 Nazgûl Leadership will recruit 2 Regular Sauron Army units.

"Madness and Horror" A 26 (LM26/24) Swarm of Bats (0)

• This card only refers to Sauron Strongholds, i.e., Orthanc, Umbar, Shadow Cities, or conquered Free Peoples Stronghold are not sufficient to target a Free Peoples Army in or adjacent to them with this card.

• This card can be played even if there is no Free Peoples Army in or adjacent to a Sauron Stronghold, as the only condition to play the card is that the Sauron Nation be "At War". However, the recruitment portion of the card is dependent upon there being a Free Peoples Army in such a region so the card would have no effect in this case.

• The Free Peoples Army targeted could be in or adjacent to a Sauron Stronghold that is conquered, including if the Free Peoples Army is under siege inside that Shadow Stronghold.

• The first effect (to target a Free Peoples Army and roll 3 dice against it) is not an "attack" and so does not affect the Political Track in any way; Companions are not affected (even if all Free Peoples Army units they accompany in the targeted region are eliminated by this, Companions there will remain in play). web

• If the Free Peoples Army is eliminated before the recruitment, the recruitment still occurs and is adjacent to the region that the Free Peoples Army had been. web Note that it is not permitted to recruit into the region where the eliminated Free Peoples Army had been. web

• For the recruitment, "adjacent" on this card refers to the position of the Free Peoples Army targeted and not to the Sauron Stronghold. web As per normal rules, this does not include regions across impassable borders (thick black lines). E.g., if targeting a Free Peoples Army in North Ithilien, it would not be possible to perform the recruitment in Morannon as that region is not adjacent to North Ithilien.

• If a Shadow Army is besieged inside the Sauron Stronghold by a Free Peoples Army, it is not possible to recruit the 2 Sauron Regular units inside that Stronghold. E.g., a Free Peoples Army has besieged Moria and Madness and Horror is played on that Army. Even if the Free Peoples Army is eliminated, the Sauron Regular units recruited can only be placed in Dimrill Dale or Hollin.

• Example. A Free Peoples Army in Dimrill Dale is eliminated by this card. The 2 Sauron Regular units may now be recruited anywhere adjacent to Dimrill Dale, including Moria if it is free (i.e. not possible if a Shadow Army is besieged inside), or Lórien if it is free (i.e. if Lórien is already captured by the Shadow, or besieged by a Shadow Army, but not if a Shadow Army is besieged inside; note that this is possible even if "A Power Too Great" is in play, since this is a recruitment, and it is only a Shadow move into an Elven Strongholds that is prohibited by "A Power Too Great"). web web

Warriors of Middle-earth, Shadow Strategy Event cards

"Strongly Guarded" A (WM10/24) Deadly Strife (3) Replaces base game "Corsairs of Umbar" A 10

• Note that this card does not prevent an attack by a Free Peoples Army. It prevents Free Peoples Faction figures (Dead Men, Eagles, Ents) from entering those regions or using Faction attacks against those regions, i.e., Faction Event cards ("March of the Ents", or "Wraiths of Fear") and no Free Peoples Call to Battle cards can be played against those regions. web

• Note that this protects any Stronghold controlled by Shadow, so a conquered Lórien would be protected from any Free Peoples Factions while this is in play, and a conquered Moria would not be protected. web

• Free Peoples Faction figures that were already in such a region before this card was played still cannot be used to attack the Stronghold, but may be used to attack other adjacent regions, or to defend against Shadow Army attacks on a Free Peoples Army in one of these Stronghold regions (i.e., they may use Call to Battle cards in these cases). The restriction is only in battles where the Free Peoples are attacking the Shadow. web

• If the Free Peoples are defending in a Shadow Stronghold region, and if an Eagle figure is within 4 regions, they may play Eagles Call to Battle cards (e.g., could be played to block a "Swarm of Bats" card), but unless the Eagles were already in the region before playing the card, they are still not allowed to move into the region due to "Strongly Guarded" so their card effect cannot activate (but, as it was legally played, it could be used to block "Swarm of Bats" for example).

• While this is in play, Saruman is completely protected from elimination by Ents using "March of the Ents" cards (though he could still be eliminated by an attack by a Free Peoples Army).

• Treebeard is not a part of the Ents Faction and so is unaffected by this card.

• A LOME Keeper die, base game Action die, or KOME Ruler die all meet the discard condition (LOME p8). The WOME Faction die is not "any Action die" and does not meet the discard condition (WOME p8).

"Great Winged Creatures" M (WM11/24) Relentless Assault (3) Replaces base game "Rage of the Dunlendings" M 11

• If there are not enough Nazgûl in Reinforcements to place in all Armies containing a Nazgûl, then the Shadow player chooses which eligible Armies to place the recruited Nazgûl into. Note the restriction that the Witch-king (either version) does not count as a Nazgûl for this card, which is an exception to the general rule that the Witch-king counts as a Nazgûl for all rules.

Kings of Middle-earth, Shadow Strategy Event cards

Replaced by variant cards in KOME. The five cards below are like the base game cards, but with some additional effects. Hence, any notes for them are added to their normal card entries above.

"Return to Valinor" A 1 Deadly Strife (3)
"Denethor's Folly" A 3 Devilry of Orthanc (3)
"Threats and Promises" M 5 Devilry of Orthanc (3)
"Stormcrow" M 6 Great Host (7)
"The King is Revealed" M 18 Relentless Assault (3)

Original new cards in KOME.

"The Palantír of Barad-dûr" M 25 (KM 25/24) His Power Waxes (3)

• Note that unlike "The Palantír of Orthanc", which can activate multiple times in a single turn, this card can only activate once per turn.

• If "The Palantír of Orthanc" is in play, it will activate after "The Palantír of Barad-dûr" uses a Muster die as an Event die to play an Event card. LOME Note that the rule for the Witch-king, Chief of the Ringwraiths' Spear of Terror ability, which has an explicit rule that either the Witch-king ability or "The Palantír of Orthanc" will activate (but not both) does not apply to "The Palantír of Barad-dûr". web

"Work of the Enemy" M 26 (KM 26/24) His Power Waxes (3)

• This is not an "attack" and so does not affect the Political Track in any way.

• If all Army units are eliminated, Companions (which includes Awakened Sovereigns) and Corrupted Sovereigns are unaffected and remain in the region, but Leaders are eliminated (which includes non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereigns) as Leaders cannot be outside of an Army.

• If this card is used against a Stronghold region where a Free Peoples Army is besieged inside, and it eliminates all Free Peoples Army units, then any Companions (including Awakened Sovereigns) that were inside the besieged Stronghold remain in that region (and may later move out away; this is one of the few ways that a Companion can leave a besieged region) and the Stronghold is captured by the Shadow.

• As non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereigns act as Leaders for all rules and as Leaders are eliminated if all Army units with them are eliminated, it is possible to use this card to eliminate Brand, Théoden, or Thranduil in the initial setup as they each start with 3 hits or less of Army units (this would not apply to Dáin or Denethor who each start with more than 3 hits in their respective initial setups).

"A Great Fleet" M (WM 1,2/20) Corsairs, 2x cards

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before Corsairs enter play, add one Corsair to the starting setup. If played after Corsairs have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• Corsairs Faction figures can be recruited into Umbar even if that Stronghold is under siege (though if it is conquered, the Corsairs Faction is immediately removed from play). If a Shadow Army is besieged inside Umbar, the Corsairs themselves are not besieged, and can move freely out of Umbar, but they cannot take any part of the besieged Army with them.

• Corsairs cannot transport by Corsairs during the movement with this card (i.e., no Shadow Army units, Minions, Nazgûl, or other Faction figures may be transported with them).

• Corsairs figures cannot cross impassable black borders when moving. Most notably, this means that they cannot move from Drúadan Forest to Lamedon, or from Forlindon to North Ered Luin. web

"Black Sails" C (WM 3/20) Corsairs

• This card cannot be played if the Corsairs are not in play (due to the condition in bold on the card), unlike other Corsairs Faction Event cards.

• To inflict Hunt damage, a Corsairs figure from any region on the board can be discarded (and not just from the regions mentioned on the "Black Sails" card itself, i.e., Gondor, West Harondor, and Osgiliath).

• The Hunt damage can be inflicted only if the Fellowship is "At Sea", or in any Gondor region (including Erech, even though Corsairs cannot enter this region), Osgiliath, or West Harondor. "At Sea" is defined on "The Western Way" Free Peoples Event card as being when (i) "The Western Way" card is in play on the table, and (ii) the Ring-bearers figure is standing in the Grey Havens, or on "The Western Way" card, and (iii) the Fellowship Track is at 0 or 1.

• As this card inflicts "Hunt damage" then it may be reduced by one of the Hunt protection cards ("Axe and Bow", or "Horn of Gondor"), if in play. Gollum's ability to reduce damage by 1 is permitted also, but the Free Peoples cannot choose to reveal the Fellowship into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold, due to the restriction against the Fellowship being revealed in those regions. web

• If recruiting one Corsair figure, it can be recruited into Umbar even if that Stronghold is under siege (though if it is conquered, the Corsairs Faction is immediately removed from play). If a Shadow Army is besieged inside Umbar, the Corsairs themselves are not besieged, and can move freely out of Umbar, but they cannot take any part of the besieged Army with them.

• If moving Corsairs, nothing can be carried by them (i.e., Shadow Army units, Minions, Nazgûl, or Faction figures).

• Corsairs figures cannot cross impassable black borders when moving. Most notably, this means that they cannot move from Drúadan Forest to Lamedon, or from Forlindon to North Ered Luin. web

"Ships of Great Draught" A (WM 4,5/20) Corsairs, 2x cards

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before Corsairs enter play, or after Corsairs have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• Faction figures may not be transported by Corsairs units under any circumstances. web Each Corsairs figure involved in the transport can carry up to 2 Army units (and unlimited Nazgûl and Minions, but no Faction figures are permitted), so, e.g., 5 Corsairs can transport a full Army of 10 Shadow Army units. web

• This card does not allow moving Corsairs on their own without an Army. This card only allows (i) Using Corsairs to transport up to 2 Armies up to 4 regions (up to 2 Army units per Corsair), or (ii) transporting one Army up to 2 regions (up to 2 Army units per Corsair), and then attacking (either to an adjacent region, or starting a siege battle in the same region if joining an already besieged Stronghold region).

• Army units and other figures transported with Corsairs do not bypass regions; they occupy each region passed through; movement with this card follows all normal movement rules through regions p27, p28. Hence, Shadow Army units moving with this card will activate a Free Peoples Nation if they move into a region of that Nation and will take control of any Free Peoples Settlement of that Nation moved into or through (affecting the Political Track of that Nation as normal). (WOME p22).

• Note that the base game "Corsairs of Umbar" permits direct movement (and possibly an attack) from Umbar directly to any Gondor coastal region (and often used to attack Dol Amroth). This is because it temporarily makes all Gondor coastal regions adjacent to Umbar. The WOME Corsairs cannot move in this way and transported Army units and figures must pass through every region.

• Note that, like "The Shadow Lengthens" and "Shadows Gather", these cards permit multi-region movement, and a Shadow Army moving with the Corsairs will take control of any Settlement passed through. E.g., a Shadow Army in Umbar could move four regions to Dol Amroth (if all regions were free for movement, i.e., have no Free Peoples Army units in them), and so could capture Pelargir, Lamedon, and Dol Amroth (and so three Victory Points) in a single move.

• If a Shadow Army is besieged inside Umbar (or any other Stronghold where Corsairs are present), the Corsairs themselves are not besieged, and can move freely out of Umbar, but note that they cannot take any part of the besieged Army with them if they move.

• Example 1: With three uses of this card (possible if a discarded "Ships of Great Draught" is recovered from the discard pile with "His Will and His Malice"), it is possible for Corsairs from Umbar to attack the Shire: (i) 1st card, move 4 regions (Umbar to Dol Amroth), (ii) 2nd card, move 4 regions (Dol Amroth to Druwaith Iaur) (iii) 3rd card, move 2 regions (Druwaith Iaur to South Ered Luin) and then attack the Shire with the transported Army. Note that each region moved through must be free for movement as transported Army units cannot bypass Free Peoples Armies in any region. Note also in this example that if the Shadow Army wins the battle and advances into the Shire, the Corsairs must stay behind in South Ered Luin as the Shire is not a legal region for them to move into.

• Example 2: Shadow moves a Southron & Easterlings Army of 6 Regulars and 2 Elites from Near Harad to West Harondor. 3 Southron & Easterlings Regulars are in Umbar. The Corsairs enter play (3 Corsairs are placed in Umbar). Shadow plays "Ships of Great Draught" to attack Pelargir and uses the Corsairs to move 2 Regulars from Umbar to West Harondor where these Armies merge and this combined Army then attack Pelargir with the attack portion of this card.

• Note that the base game "Corsairs of Umbar" card moves a Shadow Army directly from Umbar to any Gondor coastal region before attacking that region, meaning that the Shadow Army is inside the same region as the Free Peoples Army; this exception does not apply when attacking with "Ships of Great Draught". First, you may move up to 2 regions (which must be free for movement), and then you may make a normal attack, either to an adjacent region, or starting a siege battle in the same region if joining an already besieged Stronghold region.

• Corsairs figures cannot cross impassable black borders when moving., e.g., they cannot move from Drúadan Forest to Lamedon, or from Forlindon to North Ered Luin. [web]

"Wild Hillmen" M (WM 6,7/20) Dunlendings, 2x cards

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards [web]. If played before Dunlendings enter play, add Dunlendings to the starting setup. If played after Dunlendings have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• If the Dunlendings are not yet in play when you play "Wild Hillmen", you add 1 Dunlending figure to the starting setup for each unconquered Dunland Settlement. When the Dunlendings enter play, split any figures on the Dunlendings Faction card between the unconquered Dunland Settlements (or if only one Dunland Settlement is unconquered, place only the Dunlending figures for that Settlement).

• This card only recruits Dunlendings into free Dunland regions, so if one is captured, only recruit into the other (and if both are captured, the Dunlendings are immediately eliminated from play), it cannot recruit into a Shadow Army that is in an Isengard or a Rohan region as is possible for Dunlendings with the 'Recruit Faction' result on the Faction die.

• All Armies can move through Faction figures, but Dunlendings may not move into a region occupied by a Free Peoples Army. If a Dunlendings starts its movement in a region occupied by a Free Peoples Army, it can move out, as long as the region that it is moving to does not contain a Free Peoples Army. [web]

• Dunlendings cannot move into an unconquered Free Peoples Stronghold but can move into and through unconquered Free Peoples Settlements such as Edoras, Westemnet, and Folde when moving alone (and note the difference from Spiders, which cannot move into any unconquered Free Peoples Settlements).

• Note that although Saruman is required to bring the Dunlendings into play, his elimination will not remove the Dunlendings Faction from play; the only way to force an elimination of the Dunlendings is to capture both North and South Dunland (remove all Dunlendings from play immediately if this happens).

"Death to the Forgoil" A (WM 8,9/20) Dunlendings, 2x cards

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards [web]. If played before Dunlendings enter play, or after Dunlendings have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• Playing this card requires at least one Dunlending in the attacking Shadow Army, and at least one Rohan or Gondor Army unit in the defending Free Peoples Army (a Rohan or Gondor Leader or any Companion are not Army units so do not meet the condition).

• "Death to the Forgoil" states "Dunlendings are considered as Isengard Regular units until the end of the battle"; Dunlendings in this battle become Isengard Regulars for the duration of the battle (i.e., they are not Dunlendings during the battle, and so cannot use Dunlendings Call to Battle cards or any of the "Armed by Saruman" effects). They revert to being Dunlendings at the end of the battle [web].

• A Shadow Army can have more than 10 Army units because of this card (e.g., an Army with 10 Army units and 3 Dunlendings would then have 13 Army units at the start of a "Death to the Forgoil" battle), and stacking limits are only checked at the end of the battle. Dunlendings acting as Isengard Regulars can be used in any way as Army units, e.g., for "Great Host", or as casualties for "Relentless Assault" or "Onslaught". Any function that requires an Army unit (specifically, they act as Isengard Regular Army units) can be fulfilled by a Dunlendings figure during a "Death to the Forgoil" battle.

• "Devilry of Orthanc" can be played during a "Death to the Forgoil" battle due to a Dunlending figure (as it is an Isengard Army unit for the duration of the battle) but cannot be played due to a Dunlending figure as a result of "Armed by Saruman" as that card does not cause Dunlendings to act as Army units.

• If the "Death to the Forgoil" battle ends and only Dunlendings remain as survivors (and possibly Nazgûl, Minions and other Faction figure with them), they immediately revert from Isengard Army units back to Dunlendings, so (i) they cannot advance after combat (they stop being Army units before the advance after battle, which can be done by Army units only), (ii) they cannot take control of a Stronghold in the current region if they won a siege battle there, as at least one Army unit is required to take control of a region (i.e., the Stronghold remains under Free Peoples control and they can muster in or freely move into that region), (iii) if the Shadow Army had been besieging a Stronghold and a Free Peoples Army was under siege, the Dunlendings (and any Nazgûl, Minions, and other Faction figure with them) will stay in the region with the Free Peoples Army, but the siege is lifted and the region returns to being free for the Free Peoples, as there is no longer a Shadow Army there; in this situation, Nazgûl, Minions and Spiders figures (Corsairs wouldn't be affected anyway) are not eliminated because they are removed from play before the end of the battle, at a time when Dunledings are still Army units during "Death to the Forgoil".

• Noting the above, if the battle is going badly for Shadow and there is a risk of losing Nazgûl and Minions in the battle, he could deliberately take casualties such that only Dunlendings acting as Army units are left and then cease the battle. The Dunlendings revert to Faction figures at the end of the battle, so the Free Peoples would not be able to attack here after "Death to the Forgoil" ends, since there are no Shadow Army units in that region to attack.

• As Dunlendings act as Isengard Regulars during a "Death to the Forgoil" battle, "Borne up on the Wind" may bring Dunlendings from adjacent regions (as they act as Army units) web. Over-stacking is permitted during a battle (stacking limits are only checked at the end of the battle). Note: Although this implies that Dunlendings in other regions act as Isengard Regular during "Death to the Forgoil", this does not mean that any Dunlendings standing alone at an empty Settlement will take control of that region (i.e., they act as Isengard Regulars for the purposes of this battle only).

• It is not permitted to use this card if there are only Dunlendings in a region; they are required to be with a Shadow Army to play this card.

"Armed by Saruman" C (WM 10/20) Dunlendings

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played on the table before Dunlendings enter play (noting the condition: Isengard must be "At War"), this card will have no effect until the Dunlendings enter play. If played after the Dunlendings have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• "Death to the Forgoil" states "Dunlendings are considered as Isengard Regular units until the end of the battle"; therefore, "Armed by Saruman" effects do not apply during a "Death to the Forgoil" battle, i.e., there are no Dunlendings for the duration of the battle, so "Armed by Saruman" has no effect. web

• While this card is in play, Dunlendings can always be taken as casualties for Ent attacks; The "March of the Ents" Event card, or the "With Doom We Come" Call to Battle card. web

• While this card is in play, a Dunlending figure in the same region as the Fellowship acts as if it was a Shadow Army unit, but only for determination of Hunt re-rolls.

• Note that, unlike the play on the table Spiders Faction Event card "Huge and Horrible", Dunlendings do not affect normal Army stacking limits while "Armed by Saruman" is in play.

• While this card is in play, the Dunlendings add to the Combat Strength of the Shadow Army only if a Dunlendings Call to Battle card is played.

"The Craft of Shelob" C (WM 11/20) Spiders

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before Spiders enter play, or after they are eliminated, discard this card without effect (do not put the Shelob's Lair into play in either of these cases).

• Spiders cannot move into or through a region containing a Free Peoples Army, or into or through any region with an empty and unconquered Free Peoples Settlement. However, note that a Free Peoples Army may move into a region containing only Spiders.

• If this card is played multiple times (due to "His Will and His Malice" bringing the card back into the Shadow hand), only the Spider movement will happen. If the Shelob's Lair tile has been permanently removed from play (by being drawn for the Hunt or by being removed due to a card like "Premonition of Danger") a second use of "The Craft of Shelob" card will not bring the Shelob's Lair tile back into play.

"Evil Things" C (WM 12/20) Spiders

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before Spiders enter play, or after Spiders have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• Spiders cannot move into or through a region containing a Free Peoples Army, or into or through any region with an empty and unconquered Free Peoples Settlement. However, note that a Free Peoples Army may move into a region containing only Spiders.

• This card may cause a Hunt tile to be drawn; see the "We Shall Get It" entry for the full Hunt tile resolution sequence.

• This card may be played if the Fellowship is "At Sea" (see "The Western Way" card), but can only be used to move the Spiders, as the Shadow cannot draw Hunt tiles while the Fellowship is "At Sea".

"Children of Ungoliant" C (WM 13/20) Spiders

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played before Spiders enter play, or after Spiders have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• Spiders cannot move into or through a region containing a Free Peoples Army, or into or through any region with an empty and unconquered Free Peoples Settlement. However, note that a Free Peoples Army may move into a region containing only Spiders.

• As this card inflicts "Hunt damage" then it may be reduced by one of the Hunt protection cards ("Axe and Bow", or "Horn of Gondor"), if in play. If using the card option to reveal to prevent this damage, note that the Free Peoples cannot choose to reveal the Fellowship into an unconquered Free Peoples City or Stronghold, due to the restriction against the Fellowship being revealed in those regions. web

• This card could be played if the Ring-bearers figure is on "The Western Way" card, but Spiders cannot move onto "The Western Way" card to cause Hunt damage. Spiders may move into a conquered Grey Havens (or if a Shadow Army has besieged it), but the bold play condition prevents playing this card if the Ring-bearers figure is at any Free Peoples Settlement (even if it is conquered). Therefore, the "Children of Ungoliant" card cannot cause Hunt damage to the Fellowship while they are "At Sea".

"Huge and Horrible" A (WM 14/20) Spiders

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards web. If played on the table before Spiders enter play (noting the condition: Sauron must be "At War"), this card will have no effect until the Spiders enter play. If played after the Spiders have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• If Sauron is "At War" (the play condition in bold), this card may be played before the Spider Faction has entered play. It will remain in play until a Will of the West is used to remove it, or an Event card like "Wind from the West" discards it. [web] However, if this card is played after the Spiders are eliminated, it has no effect and is discarded immediately.

• Spiders count towards an Army stacking limit (10 in the open or 5 under siege) if this card is in play. If it is required to put units back into reinforcements to meet the stacking limit, it is allowed to select Spider figures for that purpose. Note: This rule is not written on the "Huge and Horrible" (it is listed in the rulebook WOME p27, and on the Spiders Faction reference card).

• While this card is in play, a Spider figure in the same region as the Fellowship acts as if it was a Shadow Army unit, but only for determination of Hunt re-rolls.

• Note that if "Huge and Horrible" is in play, Spiders moving alone still follow all normal Spider movement rules. Spiders cannot move into or through a region containing a Free Peoples Army, or into or through any region with an empty and unconquered Free Peoples Settlement. As with all Factions, an enemy Army can move into a region containing only Spider figures (if that region is free for movement).

"Her Own Offspring" M (WM 15/20) Spiders

• Faction Event cards are playable whether a Faction is in play or not and WOME p7 "Faction Recruitment Cards" points actually apply to all Faction Event cards [web]. If played before Spiders enter play, add Spiders to the starting setup. If played after Spiders have been eliminated, discard this card without effect.

• If the Spider Faction is in play, Spider Faction figures can be always recruited into Dol Guldur and Minas Morgul, even if those Strongholds are under siege, or conquered, even with a Free Peoples Army present. They may move out of that region freely unless a Shadow Army is besieged inside by a Free Peoples Army, in which case, that Spider figure joins that Shadow Army and may not move out of that region until the siege is lifted. [web]

• Spiders cannot move into or through a region containing a Free Peoples Army, or into or through any region with an empty and unconquered Free Peoples Settlement. However, note that a Free Peoples Army may move into a region containing only Spiders.

"His Will and His Malice" C (WM 16,17/20) No Faction, 2x cards

• If there are no cards in the discard pile, this card is still playable but has no effect.

• This card is playable even if no Factions have entered play (or if all Factions have been eliminated).

"Servants of Sauron" C (WM 18,19,20/20) No Faction, 3x cards

• If the last card in the Faction deck is drawn during the 3 cards draw, immediately take the discarded Faction cards, shuffle them, and place them as the Faction deck to continue drawing cards. The Faction deck is always renewed immediately as soon as the last card is drawn. [web]

• This card is playable even if no Factions have entered play (or if all Factions have been eliminated).

• 1x, 2, 3x, 4x in black before each card name is the number of those cards is in the base game. +1, +2 after the card name is the number added by each expansion. -1/+1 means 1 removed by expansion but also 1 added.

• LOME/WOME/KOME cards are highlighted by the first expansion that the card appeared in.

• "Mûmakil"/"Lord of Bats" are each mentioned twice here as each have effects at two different initiatives.

• Ater using a WOME Call to Battle card, take it back into hand at the end of the round; these cards may be played in every Combat Round of a battle in which Faction figures are available to activate that card.

• Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captains Sorcerer ability does not take effect if a Shadow WOME Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not from the Character/Strategy decks (WOME p11).

Free Peoples Combat cards

4x1x "Advantageous Position" (3) Book of Mazarbul [M], Kindred of Glorfindel [M], Rangers of the North [A], Swords in Eriador [M], The Power of Tom Bombadil [A]

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable if the defender is in Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. [web]

1x "Andúril" (4) Athelas [C]

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

1x1x "Blade of Westernesse" (6) Mithril Coat and Sting [C], You Know the Way There [C]

• LOME A Lesser Minion (the Balrog or Gothmog) may also be eliminated by this card.

• WOME "Fierce Folk" may cancel the Minion elimination hit of "Blade of Westernesse", but only if the Shadow Army is defending (as the defender's card resolves first in tied initiatives). Also, if there is more than one hit (from Combat roll or Leader re-roll), then "Fierce Folk" must cancel all Free Peoples hits to cancel "Blade of Westernesse" (this is because the Shadow player does not get to choose which specific hits are cancelled by "Fierce Folk", so would have to cancel all hits to prevent "Blade of Westernesse"); if at least one hit is not cancelled and there was a Leader re-roll hit, then "Blade of Westernesse" will take effect. [web]

• KOME Dark Chieftains are Minions and so may be eliminated by this card.

3x "Brave Stand" (3) There and Back Again [C], The Grey Company [C], House of the Stewards [C]

• Uniquely for Companions, Treebeard is only a Companion due to an ability (Fangorn is my name) so "Words of Power" will negate his status as a Companion entirely, and so he does not count as a Companion for "Brave Stand" if "Words of Power" is played against him. [web]

2x "Charge" (2) Círdan's Ships [M], Guards of the Citadel [M]

• WOME "Borne up on the Wind" may still activate if "Charge" eliminates the entire Shadow Army, to bring up to 2 Shadow Army units from adjacent region. Note: Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are not eliminated if transported Army units arrive in this way. (WOME p23) [web] [web]

• WOME "Hideous Speed" has the same initiative as "Charge" and the defender's card is always resolved first in tied initiatives. If the Shadow Army is defending, then "Hideous Speed" is resolved first. If Shadow is attacking, "Charge" is resolved first, and if that eliminates the Shadow Army, the battle ends immediately, preventing "Hideous Speed" from taking effect.

• WOME "Fierce Folk" is at initiative 6, so cannot be used to reduce hits from "Charge", which is a pre-Combat attack at initiative 2 and hits are applied immediately.

2x "Confusion" (4) Through a Day and a Night [A], Wisdom of Elrond [M]

• WOME If the Free Peoples Army is eliminated before the Combat roll by "Old Hatred", then there is no roll for "Confusion", as the battle ends immediately. [p31]

2x1x "Daring Defiance" (0) Gwaihir the Windlord [C], I Will Go Alone [C], We Prove the Swifter [C], The Western Way [C]

• If Treebeard is the only Companion in this battle and he is in Fangorn or a Rohan region, this card may be played but has no effect, as Treebeard has no Leadership to forfeit.

• If there are multiple Companions, one of which is Treebeard, the condition to forfeit all Companion Leadership can be met (even if Treebeard cannot forfeit any Leadership himself).

• KOME A non-Awakened or Corrupted Sovereign cannot activate this card as they are not Companions (they act as Leaders for all rules).

3x "Daylight" (3) Celeborn's Galadhrim [M], Riders of Théoden [M], The Last Battle [A]

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

1x "Ents' Rage" (3) The Ents Awake: Treebeard [C] This card is not present when the WOME expansion is in play.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable for attacks into or from Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. [web]

• Treebeard becomes active (Level 2) at the end of the round in which this card is used. If "Swarm of Bats" cancels the card effect, the Treebeard activation still happens (as the card was used). If Shadow plays "Black Breath" in the same round that Treebeard activates, Shadow will require 1 hit on the Leader re-roll to eliminate him. [web] If Treebeard was already active (Level 2) in this round, Shadow would require 2 hits on the Leader re-roll to eliminate him. [web]

• Treebeard does not provide any bonus to this card effect.

1x "Fateful Strike" (6) Bilbo's Song [C]

• LOME The effect for the Free Peoples from "Fear of their Masters" applies for both Combat rolls and Leader re-rolls, meaning that an unmodified 6 on the Leader re-roll if "Fateful Strike" has been played will generate 2 hits, enough to eliminate a Shadow Minion in the battle. [web]

• LOME Elrond and Galadriel can activate this card as they are Leaders (they also act as Companions for Combat cards so additionally satisfy the Companion condition for this card).

• KOME Awakened Sovereigns are Companions and non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereigns are Leaders, so can activate this card in either state.

• KOME Dark Chieftains are Minions and so may be eliminated by this card.

• Treebeard has no relevance for "Fateful Strike" as (i) if he is the only Leader or Companion, he has a Leadership of 0 so cannot generate a Leader re-roll, and (ii) if there are other Leaders present, they can activate this card independently of Companions, so Treebeard is not relevant. [web]

• WOME "Fierce Folk" cannot prevent the effect of "Fateful Strike" as the only consideration is "if your Leader re-roll scores one hit", so even if all hits are cancelled, "Fateful Strike" can still activate. [web]

3x1x "Heroic Death" (6) The Eagles Are Coming! [C], Mirror of Galadriel [C], There Is Another Way [C], Premonition of Danger [C]

• LOME Elrond and Galadriel count as Level 3 Companions for Combat cards (they each have Leadership 2, but it is their Level 3 that is relevant here, so they can be eliminated to cancel up to 3 hits). [web]

• KOME Awakened Sovereigns are Companions for all rules. Brand/Dáin/Denethor are each Level 1, and Théoden/Thranduil are each Level 2, hence they may cancel an equivalent number of hits to their Level.

• While LOME Elrond's The Household of Elrond ability is active, Elven Elites in Rivendell also act as Leaders, and so they are eligible to be chosen for elimination by the "Heroic Death" effect (but there is no good reason to do so as that would be cancelling 1 hit with an Elite Army unit worth 2 hits).

• If a LOME Hobbit of the Shire is targeted by "Words of Power", and that Hobbit is chosen for "Heroic Death", then the LOME Hobbit of the Shire The Art of Disappearing ability cannot apply (since this ability is targeted during the round by "Words of Power") and so the Hobbit will not be able to come back from elimination with that ability. [web]

• This card can be played for Treebeard whether inactive (Level 0) or active (Level 2) if in Fangorn or Rohan (since he is a Companion there). A Level 2 active Treebeard in Fangorn or Rohan may be eliminated to cancel up to 2 hits. A Level 0 inactive Treebeard cannot be eliminated as he is Level 0 so cannot take any hits. If "Words of Power" is played against an active Level 2 Treebeard, he is no longer a Companion and so the card no longer has effect.

1x1x "Huorn-dark" (3) The Ents Awake: Huorns [C], Majesty and Glory [C]

• The LOME Balrog provides +2 Combat Strength in battle. First, calculate total Combat Strength including from the Balrog. Then, if Combat Strength is 5 or more, cap that to a maximum of 5 Combat dice. Finally, apply the "Huorn-dark" effect to limit the Shadow Combat roll to 2 dice.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable for attacks into or from Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. [web]

• Treebeard becomes active (Level 2) at the end of the round in which this card is used. If "Swarm of Bats" cancels the card effect, the Treebeard activation still happens (as the card was used). If Shadow plays "Black Breath" in the same round that Treebeard activates, Shadow will require 1 hit on the Leader re-roll to eliminate him. [web] If Treebeard was already active (Level 2) in this round, Shadow would require 2 hits on the Leader re-roll to eliminate him. [web]

• Treebeard does not provide any bonus to this card effect.

4x1x "It is a Gift" (3) Elven Cloaks [C], Elven Rope [C], Sméagol Helps Nice Master [C], Phial of Galadriel [C], Safe Paths in the Dark [C]

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

1x "Like a God of Old" (2) It Is not so Dark Here [C] This card is not in the base game.

• If "Words of Power" cancels the only Awakened Sovereign in the battle, then "Like a God of Old" will be cancelled.

• If played on an Awakened Théoden in the first Combat round, this card will roll 3 dice, scoring a hit on 3+. Note that all Sovereign's (including Théoden) have Leadership 1; it is only on the first Combat round that Théoden gains Leadership 3 from his "Forth, Eorlingas!" ability.

• This card and "Durin's Bane", WOME "Hideous Speed", and WOME "Old Hatred" have the same initiative, so the defender's card is applied first. (i) If Shadow is attacking, "Like a God of Old" applies first and if the Shadow Army is eliminated then the Shadow cards would not be rolled for. (ii) If the Free Peoples is attacking, the Shadow card played would apply first and if the Free Peoples Army (or, in the case of "Hideous Speed", if a Sovereign who would use "Like a God of Old") is eliminated, then "Like a God of Old" would not be rolled for.

2x1x "Mighty Attack" (4) Axe and Bow [C], Horn of Gondor [C], Take Someone You Can Trust [C]

• LOME Elrond and Galadriel count as Level 3 Companions for Combat cards and so can activate "Mighty Attack". Forfeit their Leadership 2 to change one missed die roll to a hit.

• Treebeard does meet the condition to play this card (if he is in Fangorn or Rohan) but it would have no effect, as he has no Leadership (even if he is activated), so could not be used to change a miss to a hit.

• LOME "Fear of their Masters" only works on unmodified rolls of 6, so "Mighty Attack" changing a non-6 result into a hit does not provide an additional hit from "Fear of their Masters". [web]

• KOME "Battle is Vain" is at initiative 1, so negates Leadership before "Mighty Attack". If "Battle is Vain" cancels all Free Peoples Leadership, then "Mighty Attack" will be cancelled, but if Free Peoples remaining Leadership value is equal to or higher than that of at least one Companion in the battle, "Mighty Attack" can still be used (because "Battle is Vain" cannot target specific Free Peoples Characters/Leaders). [web]

1x "Nameless Wood" (5) The Ents Awake: Entmoot [C] This card is not present when the WOME expansion is in play.

• KOME If Mark of the White Hand (Corrupted Théoden's Weakness that causes a conquered Helm's Deep to act as an Isengard Stronghold) is active, then this card is still playable for attacks into or from Helm's Deep, because the Helm's Deep region itself is still a part of Rohan. [web]

• Treebeard becomes active (Level 2) at the end of the round in which this card is used. If "Swarm of Bats" cancels the card effect, the Treebeard activation still happens (as the card was used). If Shadow plays "Black Breath" in the same round that Treebeard activates, Shadow will require 1 hit on the Leader re-roll to eliminate him. web If Treebeard was already active (Level 2) in this round, Shadow would require 2 hits on the Leader re-roll to eliminate him. web

• Treebeard does not provide any bonus to this card effect.

2x "No Quarter" (5) Help Unlooked For A, A Power Too Great A

• WOME If this is played against "Fierce Folk" (initiative 6), the determination of "No Quarter" happens first (at initiative 5); hence, "Fierce Folk" cannot stop a "No Quarter" hit being generated.

2x1x "Orderly Withdrawal" (5) Three Rings for the Elven-Kings C, Wind from the West C, Swift Boats C This card is not in the base game.

• Cannot be played if the Free Peoples Army is defending inside a besieged Stronghold (including during "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld" or "The Fighting Uruk-hai" siege battles) but could be played if a besieged Free Peoples Army declares a sortie out of a besieged Stronghold. web

• If the Free Peoples Army is defending, the retreat is only mandatory if the Shadow player presses the attack. If the Shadow player stops the attack, the Free Peoples player cannot choose to retreat anyway (but may still reduce damage by one). web

• If the Free Peoples Army is defending, and it is impossible to retreat (i.e., no free region to retreat into), the Free People is still entitled to reduce damage by one. However, if it is possible to retreat (including into siege if at a Stronghold region), then that must be done (whether this is useful for the Free Peoples or not) if the damage reduction option was used. web

• If the Free People Army is attacking, and there is a good opportunity to press the attack, the Free Peoples may choose to not take the reduction in damage so that they are not forced to cease the attack.

• The cancellation of a hit is at initiative 6, but the cease or retreat part happens at "the end of the round", i.e., other card effects such as "Black Breath", "Great Host", "Onslaught" etc will take effect if played against "Orderly Withdrawal" before the cease or retreat might happen.

• The "Mumakil" additional hit is determined at initiative 5, and so "Orderly Withdrawal" is not counted as part of that determination (since it is at initiative 6).

• WOME "Orderly Withdrawal" and "Fierce Folk" have no overlap (even though both apply at initiative 6). One reduces hits on the Free Peoples Army and the other reduces hits on the Shadow Army.

• Example. A Shadow Army attacks a Free Peoples Army that is at a Stronghold region and the Free Peoples decides to have a field battle (i.e., this is not a Stronghold siege battle). If the Shadow Army presses the attack in a round where the Free Peoples has played "Orderly Withdrawal", and chose to cancel a hit, then the Free Peoples must retreat (either into siege inside the Stronghold, or to an adjacent region, if possible, noting that the Free Peoples is only required to retreat if he cancelled a hit). web

3x "Scouts" (1) The Red Arrow M, Grimbeorn the Old, Son of Beorn M, The Spirit of Mordor A

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

1x "Servant of the Secret Fire" (3) Wizard's Staff C

• This card is playable for any version of Gandalf (either of "the Grey" versions, or "the White").

4x1x "Shield-wall" (6) Faramir's Rangers A, Imrahil of Dol Amroth M, King Brand's Men M, Fear! Fire! Foes! M, Every Little is a Gain M

• WOME "Old Hatred" generates pre-combat hits, which are not counted when determining if "Shield-wall" takes effect (as it only counts Combat roll and Leader re-roll hits). Note that this is different from cards like "Mûmakil" and "Webs of Shadow" that do include hits from pre-Combat and other card effects.

• WOME "Fierce Folk" has no overlap with "Shield-wall" (even though both apply at initiative 6). One reduces hits on the Shadow Army while the other reduces hits on the Free Peoples Army.

• WOME "Webs of Shadow" additional hit is at initiative 7, after the "Shield-wall" effect at initiative 6. E.g., if Shadow scores one hit in the Combat roll and Leader re-roll, "Shield-wall" does not apply; if an additional hit applies for "Webs of Shadow", then "Shield-wall" cannot prevent that.

3x1x "Sudden Strike" (2) Challenge of the King [C], Dead Men of Dunharrow [C], Paths of the Woses [A], Long Battle [C]

• If "Words of Power" is used against Elrond, this will negate his Leadership, but also negates The Household of Elrond ability, so all Elven Elites with him do not have Leadership during this round if "Sudden Strike" is played.

• Treebeard has no Leadership (even if he is activated) so cannot be used with this card.

• WOME "Fierce Folk" is at initiative 6, so cannot be used to reduce hits from "Sudden Strike", which is a pre-Combat attack at initiative 2 and hits are applied immediately.

• WOME "Borne up on the Wind" may still activate if "Sudden Strike" eliminates the entire Shadow Army, to bring up to 2 Shadow Army units from adjacent region. Note: Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are not eliminated if transported Army units arrive in this way. (WOME p23) web web

• WOME "Hideous Speed" has the same initiative as "Sudden Strike" and the defender's card is always resolved first in tied initiatives. If the Shadow Army is defending, then "Hideous Speed" is resolved first. If Shadow is attacking, "Sudden Strike" is resolved first, and if that eliminates the Shadow Army, the battle ends immediately, preventing "Hideous Speed" from taking effect.

2x "The King's Banner" (4) Aid in Time of Need [C], Knowledge of the Seeing Stone [C] This card is not in the base game.

• Can only be used by a "King", which means any Awakened Sovereign (non-Awakened Sovereigns may not use this card), or Aragorn (it cannot be used by Strider, who has not yet become the King of Gondor).

2x "There is Hope for Victory" (4) Ever at Your Service [M], Men of Little Villages [M] This card is not in the base game.

• "Swarm of Bats" would prevent the Sovereign from awakening by cancelling this card.

• "Words of Power" cannot be used against the Sovereign that will be awakened at initiative 4, as "Words of Power" happens at initiative 1. However, "Words of Power" could block another Companion.

• "Black Breath" applies at Initiative 6 and so may eliminate the Sovereign who has just been awakened by "There is Hope for Victory" if the Shadow player scores enough hit on his Leader re-roll to do so (1 for Brand, Denethor and Dain, 2 for Théoden and Thranduil).

• "Foul Stench" negates the Free Peoples Army Leadership at initiative 3, but the Sovereign that will be awakened is at initiative 4, so would create new Leadership (which is 1 for all Sovereigns, unless it is Théoden on the first round, who gets 3 Leadership).

• WOME "Hideous Speed" applies at initiative 2 so it may eliminate a Sovereign before he is Awakened by "There is Hope for Victory" at initiative 4 as they will be eliminated as Leaders, and not as awakened Sovereigns. If Sovereigns are awakened already, note that awakened Brand, Dáin, Denethor are Level 1 so can be targeted by "Hideous Speed", but awakened Théoden and Thranduil are Level 2, so are unaffected by "Hideous Speed". Note that if there is more than one Sovereign who can be awakened in the battle and "Hideous Speed" eliminates one of them, "There is Hope for Victory" can still be used to awaken another Sovereign.

3x "Valour" (3) Éomer, son of Éomund [M], Thranduil's Archers [M], Dain Ironfoot's Guard [M]

• LOME The "Fear of their Masters" "unmodified roll of 6" is not enhanced by Valour, i.e., it does not then make rolls of 5 act as a 6 and inflict one additional hit; only "unmodified" rolls of 6 get this bonus.

WOME Call to Battle cards. May use these cards repeatedly in a battle if their Faction play condition is valid. [web]

"The King of the Dead" (2) [A] Dead Men Faction

• Although this card does not say "apply the result immediately" as on "Charge" or "Sudden Strike", it operates in the same way; hits are applied immediately before the Combat roll and Leader re-roll.

• This card and "Durin's Bane" have the same initiative, so the defender's card is applied first. (i) If Shadow is attacking, "The King of the Dead" applies first and if the Shadow Army is eliminated then "Durin's Bane" would not be rolled for. (ii) If the Free Peoples is attacking, "Durin's Bane" applies first and if the Free Peoples Army is eliminated then "The King of the Dead" would not be rolled for.

• "Borne up on the Wind" may still activate, even if "The King of the Dead" eliminates the entire Shadow Army, to bring up to 2 Shadow Army units from adjacent regions. Note: Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are not eliminated if transported Army units arrive in this way. (WOME p23) [web] [web]

• If playing this card eliminates the last Dead Men figure in play and the Army of the Dead was in the same region as the Free Peoples Army participating in this battle, then all Companions that were with the Army of the Dead immediately join that Free Peoples Army (for "The King of the Dead", this is at initiative 2, which is before the Combat roll). If the Free Peoples Army is under siege in a Stronghold, the Companions must join the besieged Army. If the Free Peoples Army is attacking, it is not possible for these Companions to join a rearguard (if one exists) as the Army of the Dead was involved in the battle by using this Dead Men Call to Battle card, so these Companions must join the attacking Free Peoples Army [web]. Companions joining a Free Peoples Army mid-battle cannot use any of their abilities or Leadership until the next round [web], but may be eliminated if the Free Peoples Army is eliminated, or by cards/effects that eliminate Companions, e.g., by "Black Breath" at initiative 6 or by "Hideous Speed" at initiative 2.

• "Hideous Speed" has the same initiative as "The King of the Dead" and the defender's card is always resolved first in tied initiatives. If Shadow is attacking, "The King of the Dead" is resolved first, and if that eliminates the Shadow Army, the battle ends immediately, preventing "Hideous Speed" from taking effect. If "The King of the Dead" causes the Army of the Dead to disband (by using the last Dead Men figure), then "Hideous Speed" may eliminate a Level 1 Companion that just joined the battle because of the disbandment, but only if the Free Peoples are defending, as the disbandment of the Army of the Dead would occur before "Hideous Speed" is resolved only in that scenario.

• "Webs of Shadow" will not activate if the Shadow Army is eliminated by "The King of the Dead" before the Combat roll ("A battle ends when the attacker ceases to fight, the defender retreats, or when one or both Armies are completely eliminated" [p31]). [web]

• KOME Brand may not forfeit a Call to Battle card for his Heir of Bard ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. (WOME p11)

"The Terror of the Dead" (8) [C] Dead Men Faction

• If the Free Peoples Army is eliminated, this card cannot be used to prevent the attacking Shadow Army from advancing into the region where the Free Peoples Army was (advancing after combat is an end of battle function, so cards cannot prevent it). [web]

• The decision to use this card to end a battle is made after the decision of the attacker to continue or end a battle. Hence, if a Shadow Army is attacking a Stronghold in a siege battle, the Shadow player decides whether to reduce an Elite to continue to a new round before the Free Peoples player decides whether to end the battle with this card (by eliminating a Dead Men figure), i.e., the Elite reduced will not be undone if the Free Peoples ends the battle with this card. [web]

• If the Shadow is attacking a Stronghold in a siege battle, and the Free Peoples has played "The Terror of the Dead", the Free Peoples must decide whether or not they want to use this card (since for tied initiatives, the defender's card is always resolved first) before the Shadow player must decide whether or not to remove a Corsairs figure to continue the siege battle to another round. [web]

• There is no restriction to using this card if the Free Peoples Army is under siege inside a Stronghold adjacent to the location of the Army of the Dead. E.g., for a besieged Free Peoples Army inside Dol Amroth with the Army of the Dead in Erech. If "The Dark Door" is in play, this card could be played for a besieged Free Peoples Army in Helm's Deep, when the Army of the Dead is in Erech.

• This card will prematurely end a battle started by "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld" or "The Fighting Uruk-hai", even on the first or second round (though these cards require a Companion to be present in the battle to be able to play a Combat card on the first round). web

• If playing this card eliminates the last Dead Men figure in play and the Army of the Dead was in the same region as the Free Peoples Army participating in this battle, then all Companions in the Army of the Dead immediately join that Free Peoples Army (for "The Terror of the Dead", this is at initiative 8 which is at the end of the round, and also the end of the battle due to this card effect). If the Free Peoples Army is under siege in a Stronghold, the Companions must join the besieged Army. If the Free Peoples Army was eliminated, the Free Peoples player has no need to activate this card effect (as it is optional).

• KOME Brand may not forfeit a Call to Battle card for his Heir of Bard ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. (WOME p11)

"Out of the High Airs" (1) C Eagles Faction

• Eagles may only move up to 4 regions from the defending Army for this card and may cross impassable borders for this. (WOME p17). E.g., (i) An Eagle figure in Eagles Eyrie could reach Rivendell (1 region) or Bree (4 regions) via the impassable mountain borders. web (ii) Eagles cannot be under siege as such, but can move to a Stronghold, whether a Free Peoples Army or a Shadow Army is under siege there. web

• Note that "the defending Army" can refer to the Free Peoples Army or the Shadow Army. E.g., if Eagles are in Eagles Eyrie and a Free Peoples Army in Bree attacks a Shadow Army in Buckland, then you cannot use this Call to Combat card, since Buckland is 5 regions from the Eagles, and note also that the Eagles move to the region of the defending Army, which can be a region containing a Shadow Army if the Free Peoples is attacking into an adjacent region.

• The Witch-king (either version) is a Nazgûl, so this card can negate his and all other Nazgûl Leadership; however, it will not negate the Witch-king's other abilities, such as The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability to redraw a card of the same type if he played a card on the first round of the battle.

• "Words of Power" only relies upon the presence of Nazgûl, so does not interact with "Out of the High Airs" at the same initiative, i.e., even though the defender's card always activates first, both "Out of the High Airs" will activate to cancel Nazgûl Leadership, and "Words of Power" may cancel one Companion's Leadership and special abilities, regardless of who is attacking and who is defending.

• KOME Brand may not forfeit a Call to Battle card for his Heir of Bard ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. (WOME p11)

"Speeding on a Gathering Wind" (7) A Eagles Faction

• Eagles may only move up to 4 regions from the defending Army for this card and may cross impassable borders for this. (WOME p17). E.g., (i) An Eagle figure in Eagles Eyrie could reach Rivendell (1 region) or Bree (4 regions) via the impassable mountain borders. web (ii) Eagles cannot be under siege as such, but can move to a Stronghold, whether a Free Peoples Army or a Shadow Army is under siege there. web

• Note that "the defending Army" can refer to the Free Peoples Army or the Shadow Army. E.g., if Eagles are in Eagles Eyrie and a Free Peoples Army in Bree attacks a Shadow Army in Buckland, then you cannot use this Call to Combat card, since Buckland is 5 regions from the Eagles, and note also that the Eagles move to the region of the defending Army, which can be a region containing a Shadow Army if the Free Peoples is attacking into an adjacent region.

• Free Peoples must either roll for no Eagles, or all Eagles in the region; you cannot choose to just use some of the Eagles in the region. Roll one die for each Eagle selected; eliminate an Eagle on each result of "1" and score one hit on each result of "6".

• If there is no Free Peoples Combat roll (such as if "Durin's Bane" eliminated the entire Free Peoples Army), although the Eagles are not eliminated, this card does not activate. web

• Note that this card may be played if a Free Peoples Army is attacking a besieged Stronghold, but doing so can only eliminate Eagles, since "A Shadow Army under siege is not affected" (the last sentence on the card).

• KOME Brand may not forfeit a Call to Battle card for his Heir of Bard ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. (WOME p11)

"With Doom We Come" (2) A Ents Faction

• Although this card does not say "apply the result immediately" as on "Charge" or "Sudden Strike", it operates in the same way; hits are applied immediately before the Combat roll and Leader re-roll.

• This card and "Durin's Bane" have the same initiative, so the defender's card is applied first. (i) If Shadow is attacking, "With Doom We Come" applies first; if the Shadow Army is eliminated then "Durin's Bane" would not be rolled for. (ii) If the Free Peoples is attacking, "Durin's Bane" applies first; if the Free Peoples Army is eliminated then "With Doom We Come" would not be rolled for.

• "Fierce Folk" is at initiative 6, so cannot be used to reduce hits from "With Doom We Come", which is a pre-Combat attack at initiative 2 and hits are applied immediately.

• "Borne up on the Wind" may still activate, even if "With Doom We Come" eliminates the entire Shadow Army, to bring up to 2 Shadow Army units from adjacent regions. Note: Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are not eliminated if transported Army units arrive in this way. (WOME p23) web web

• This card can be played if the Free Peoples Army is under siege inside a Stronghold, or if a Free Peoples Army has besieged a Shadow Army. E.g., If a besieged Free Peoples Army is inside Helm's Deep, and an Ent is in Westemnet, then this card may be played. The Ent used is always taken from the Entwood connected to the Ent figure that allows the Call to Battle card to be played. web

• "Hideous Speed" has the same initiative as "With Doom We Come", but the defender's card is always resolved first in tied initiatives. If the Free Peoples Army is defending, then "With Doom We Come" is resolved first, and if that eliminates the Shadow Army, the battle ends immediately, preventing "Hideous Speed" from taking effect. If the Shadow Army is defending, "Hideous Speed" is resolved first.

• "Webs of Shadow" will not activate if the Shadow Army is eliminated before the Combat roll ("A battle ends when the attacker ceases to fight, the defender retreats, or when one or both Armies are completely eliminated" p31). web

• If Treebeard is in play: (i) his Root and branch! ability applies even if he is inactive (Level 0) and activates even if he is not in this battle, or not in Fangorn or a Rohan region. This ability allows re-rolling one missed die for "With Doom We Come" (if the re-roll is 4+, it becomes a hit), unless Treebeard is in this battle when and "Words of Power" has cancelled his abilities, in which case, Root and branch! will not activate in this round. (ii) Treebeard will activate at the end of any Combat round in which an Ent Faction Call to Battle card is used (even if that card is cancelled by "Swarm of Bats" or Treebeard's abilities are cancelled by "Words of Power").

• KOME Brand may not forfeit a Call to Battle card for his Heir of Bard ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. (WOME p11)

"The Forest Is Rising" (8) [C] Ents Faction

• If the Free Peoples Army is eliminated, this card cannot be used to prevent the attacking Shadow Army from advancing into the region where the Free Peoples Army was (advancing after combat is an end of battle function, so cards cannot prevent it). [web]

• The decision to use this card to end a battle is made after the decision of the attacker to continue or end a battle. Hence, if a Shadow Army is attacking a Stronghold in a siege battle, the Shadow player decides whether to reduce an Elite to continue to a new round before the Free Peoples player decides whether to end the battle with this card (by eliminating an Ent figure), i.e., the Elite reduced will not be undone if the Free Peoples ends the battle with this card. [web]

• If the Shadow is attacking a Stronghold in a siege battle, and the Free Peoples has played "The Forest Is Rising", the Free Peoples must decide whether they want to use this card (since for tied initiatives, the defender's card is always resolved first) before the Shadow player decides whether to remove a Corsairs figure to continue the siege battle to another round. [web]

• The Entwood from which the figure is removed must be connected to the Ent figure that allows the Call to Battle card to be played. [web]

• This card will prematurely end a battle started by "Grond, Hammer of the Underworld" or "The Fighting Uruk-hai", even on the first or second round (though these cards require a Companion to be present in the battle to be able to play a Combat card on the first round). [web]

• KOME Brand may not forfeit a Call to Battle card for his Heir of Bard ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. (WOME p11)

Shadow Combat cards

2x "Battle is Vain" (1) The West has Failed [M], The Palantír of Minas Tirith [M] This card is not in the base game.

• Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron (either version), LOME Lesser Minions, and KOME Dark Chieftains cannot activate or forfeit Leadership for this card as they do not have Nazgûl Leadership.

• "Mighty Attack" is at initiative 4, so "Battle is Vain" will negate Leadership before "Mighty Attack". If "Battle is Vain" cancels all Free Peoples Leadership, then "Mighty Attack" will be cancelled, but if Free Peoples remaining Leadership value is equal to or higher than that of at least one Companion in the battle, "Mighty Attack" can still be used (because "Battle is Vain" cannot target specific Free Peoples Characters/Leaders). [web]

• "Andúril" has initiative 4, so "Battle Is In Vain" applies first. If "Battle Is Vain" cancels all Free Peoples Leadership, "Andúril" is cancelled, but if the remaining Free Peoples Leadership is equal to or greater than Strider's or Aragorn's, depending on which Companion is present in the battle, "Andúril" can still be used, since "Battle Is Vain" cannot target specific Free Peoples Companions or Leaders.

2x "Black Breath" (6) Morgul Wound [C], The Nazgûl Strike [C]

• Elrond and Galadriel count as Level 3 Companions in battles, so require 3 Leader re-roll hits to be eliminated by this card.

• While LOME Elrond's The Household of Elrond ability is active, Elven Elites in Rivendell also act as Leaders. However, they are not eligible to be eliminated by the "Black Breath" effect. [web]

• KOME "Black Breath" may eliminate a non-Awakened non-Corrupted Sovereign (as they act only as Leaders for all rules), or an Awakened Sovereign. Brand, Denethor and Dáin are all Level 1 when Awakened, so would require 1 hit on the Leader re-roll to eliminate, while Théoden and Thranduil are both Level 2, requiring 2 hits on the Leader re-roll (note that although Théoden has Leadership 3 in the first round of any battle, that does not change the fact that he is Level 2).

• Treebeard (inactive) is a Level 0 Companion but requires 1 Leader re-roll hit to eliminate him with this card, while Treebeard (active) is a Level 2 Companion, so require 2 Leader re-roll hits to eliminate. web

• Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron (either version), LOME Lesser Minions, and KOME Dark Chieftains cannot activate this card as they as do not have Nazgûl Leadership.

4x "Cruel as Death" (4) Cruel Weather C, Isildur's Bane C, Orc Patrol C, The Palantír of Orthanc C

• WOME If the Eagles "Out of the High Airs" card cancels Nazgûl Leadership, then this card will be cancelled.

• Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron (either version), LOME Lesser Minions, and KOME Dark Chieftains cannot activate this card they as do not have Nazgûl Leadership.

3x "Deadly Strife" (3) Horde from the East M, Return to Valinor A, Corsairs of Umbar A (replaced by Strongly Guarded A)

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

3x "Desperate Battle" (3) Pits of Mordor M, Monsters Roused M, Musterings of Long-planned War M

• KOME If this card effect is forfeited for Uglúk's I Command ability, it is replaced by an enhanced effect; the Combat roll and Leadership re-roll bonus is only given to Shadow.

3x1x "Devilry of Orthanc" (3) Dreadful Spells C, Denethor's Folly A, Threats and Promises M, Not on Anybody's Side C

• WOME If "Death to the Forgoil" started this battle, then Dunlendings meet the condition to play this card as they are Isengard Regulars for the duration of the battle.

3x "Dread and Despair" (3) Candles of Corpses C, The Breaking of the Fellowship C, Grond, Hammer of the Underworld C

• WOME If the Eagles "Out of the High Airs" Call to Battle card cancels Nazgûl Leadership at initiative 1, then this card will be cancelled as the Shadow Army will have no Nazgûl Leadership to forfeit.

• Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron (either version), LOME Lesser Minions, and KOME Dark Chieftains cannot activate or forfeit Leadership for this card as they do not have Nazgûl Leadership.

1x "Durin's Bane" (2) Balrog of Moria C (replaced by A Balrog is Come! C)

• This card may still be played if the LOME Balrog is inactive, or even if the Balrog has been eliminated.

• Note that the LOME version of this Combat card has an additional play condition to the base game version as it can be played not only in any battle within 2 regions of Moria, but also in any battle in which the LOME Balrog participates (though it may not be played if the Balrog is in a rear-guard).

• WOME "The King of the Dead" and "With Doom We Come" have the same initiative as "Durin's Bane". Therefore, if Shadow is defending, the Shadow card is applied first, but if Shadow is attacking, the Free Peoples card is applied first. This is important as the attacker's Army could be eliminated, which would end the battle immediately, preventing the other card from taking effect.

2x "Fear of their Masters" (3) We Won't Go Back C, The Lore of The Elven Rings C This card is not in the base game.

• Leadership that has been cancelled cannot be forfeited. Hence, if Gandalf the White's White Rider ability is used to cancel Nazgûl Leadership in the battle, then the first part of this card (+2 to the Combat roll for Shadow) cannot activate (since the Shadow player can no longer forfeit his entire Leadership). However, the card is still playable if any Minion is in the battle (even if that Minion is the Witch-king and his Leadership was cancelled), but this would only have negative consequences for the Shadow player, since the first part of the card will not activate, but the second part "each unmodified roll of 6 … inflicts one additional hit on the Shadow Army" will activate. The Shadow player could still choose to do this though, if, for example, the Witch-king, The Black Captain is in the battle, and this card is played on the first round, so that the Shadow player can draw another Character card using The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability. web

• If the Shadow player chooses to put all Nazgûl (including the Witch-king, if present) into a rearguard (requires at least 1 Army unit) at the start of the battle, then only non-Nazgûl Leadership is in the battle and so the first part of this card cannot be blocked by Gandalf the White's White Rider ability (or the WOME Eagles "Out of the High Airs" Call to Battle card), though the Shadow Army would still need to contain another Minion to activate the first part of the card. Note that the Free Peoples makes the decision on using White Rider after the decision on whether the attacker will form a rearguard.

• Note that the effect for the Free Peoples from "Fear of their Masters" applies for both Combat rolls and Leadership re-rolls, meaning that an unmodified 6 on the Leader re-roll will generate 2 hits if "Fateful Strike" has been played, enough to eliminate a Shadow Minion in the battle. web

• "Mighty Attack" can only change a die that is not an unmodified 6 so changing a miss into a hit does not get an additional hit bonus from "Fear of their Masters" as it was not an unmodified 6. web

• WOME If the Eagles "Out of the High Airs" card is played (initiative 1) and the only Minion is the Witch-king (as he is a Nazgûl), his Leadership will be negated, and so the first part of "Fear of their Masters" will not activate, but the Free Peoples will get the double hit on 6's.

3x "Foul Stench" (3) Nazgûl Search C, The Black Captain Commands C, Wormtongue C

• WOME If the Eagles "Out of the High Airs" card cancels Nazgûl Leadership, then this card will be cancelled.

• Saruman, The Mouth of Sauron (either version), LOME Lesser Minions, and KOME Dark Chieftains cannot activate this card as they do not have Nazgûl Leadership.

• Treebeard has no Leadership (even if he is activated).

3x "Great Host" (7) Many Kings to the Service of Mordor M, A New Power Is Rising M, Stormcrow M

• WOME If "Death to the Forgoil" has been played, then Dunlendings count as normal Army units for this card; the Shadow Army can potentially have up to 13 regular units in this battle (10 normal Army units, plus up to 3 Dunlendings), and this counts to determine the "Great Host" effect.

2x "His Power Waxes" (3) The Palantír of Barad-dûr M, Work of the Enemy M This card is not in the base game.

• This card can be played due to any type of Sovereign being in the battle, whether that Sovereign is non-Awakened non-Corrupted, or Awakened, or Corrupted.

• The presence of a Corrupted Sovereign can affect the battle with this card, but a Corrupted Sovereign is unaffected by the battle; if the Shadow Army is eliminated, the Corrupted Sovereign will remain in play. This is the only Combat card that allows a Corrupted Sovereign to affect a battle.

• If an Awakened Sovereign is in the same region as a Corrupted Sovereign (e.g. Awakened Dáin moves into an unconquered Dale that contains Corrupted Brand), then the Corrupted Sovereign effect of the card takes effect and the "otherwise" part is disregarded.

• If Uglúk is in a battle, after an eligible card (i.e., the play condition of that card must be valid) is selected, but before both players display their played cards, the Shadow player may declare that he will forfeit the played Shadow Combat card for this ability. This ability may be used repeatedly in a battle (even in every round that the Shadow plays a Combat card). See Uglúk's entry for more details.

0x "Lord of Bats" (0-4) The Shadow of Mirkwood This card is not in the base game.

• If The Shadow of Mirkwood is in a battle, after an eligible card (i.e., the play condition of that card must be valid) is selected, but before both players display their played cards, the Shadow player may declare that he will forfeit the played Shadow Combat card for this ability. This ability may be used repeatedly in a battle (even in every round that the Shadow plays a Combat card). See The Shadow of Mirkwood's entry for more details.

2x1x "Mûmakil" (3-5) The Shadow Lengthens [A], Shadows Gather [A], Shadow of Dol Guldur [A]

• LOME "Orderly Withdrawal" is not considered when deciding if the additional hit is applied or not as it is at initiative 6 (like "Shield-wall"), which is after the additional hit determination at initiative 5.

• WOME Hits from "Speeding on a Gathering Wind" are not considered when deciding if the additional "Mûmakil" hit is applied or not as "Speeding on a Gathering Wind" is at initiative 7, after the "Mûmakil" additional hit determination at initiative 5.

• Note: The wording of this card has been altered slightly to address an initiative timing issue (the following text overrides earlier printings of the game): "If, after the Leader re-roll, you scored more total hits than your opponent (including effects from any Free Peoples Combat card), score one additional hit." web

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

3x "Onslaught" (7) Orcs Multiplying Again [M], Shadows on the Misty Mountains [M], The Fighting Uruk-hai [M]

• WOME If "Death to the Forgoil" has been played, Dunlendings act as Isengard Regular Army units until the end of the battle so can be taken as casualties to activate "Onslaught".

• If The Black Serpent is in a battle, after an eligible card (i.e., the play condition of that card must be valid) is selected, but before both players display their played cards, the Shadow player may declare that he will forfeit the played Shadow Combat card for this ability. This ability may be used repeatedly in a battle (even in every round that the Shadow plays a Combat card). See The Black Serpent's entry for more details.

3x "Relentless Assault" (3) The King is Revealed [M], The Day Without Dawn [A], The Rage of the Dunlendings [M] (is replaced by Great Winged Creatures [M])

• WOME If "Death to the Forgoil" has been played, Dunlendings act as Isengard Regular Army units until the end of the battle so can be taken as casualties to activate "Relentless Assault".

• KOME If this card effect is forfeited for The Black Serpent's Red Wrath ability, it is replaced by an enhanced effect; Shadow gains 2 to his Combat roll without any additional hits on the Shadow Army (other than the 1 hit that is already required to activate Red Wrath).

1x1x "Servant of the Shadow" (3) Captain of Despair [C], Your Welcome Is Doubtful [M] This card is not in the base game.

• Nazgûl Leadership from the Witch-king that has been cancelled by Gandalf the White's White Rider ability cannot be forfeited to use this card effect. However, The Balrog, Gothmog, or The Mouth of Sauron are unaffected by the White Rider ability and so could be used for this card effect. web

• WOME "Out of the High Airs" card (Eagles, initiative 1) cancels all Nazgûl Leadership, including the Witch-king. Hence, the Witch-king is not able to forfeit his Leadership for "Servant of the Shadow", so "Servant of the Shadow" will have no effect in this situation unless another Minion is present to forfeit his Leadership.

• This ability can be used one time per battle if Brand, Corrupted Ruler is in play, in any battle on the board in which a North Army unit is in that battle. After Combat cards are revealed, at initiative 0, the Shadow player may declare that he will forfeit the played Shadow Combat card to instead use this ability to cancel the Combat card played by the Free Peoples (although only usable once per battle, Shadow can choose the Combat round in which this will be used). See Brand, Corrupted Ruler's entry for more details.

2x1x "Swarm of Bats" (0) The Shadow Is Moving [A], Return of the Witch-king [M], Madness and Horror [A]

• KOME If this card effect is forfeited for The Shadow of Mirkwood's Lord of Bats ability, it is replaced by an enhanced effect; Shadow gets a +1 bonus to his Leadership re-roll and cancels the Free Peoples Combat card.

3x "They are Terrible" (4) Flocks of Crebain [C], Foul Thing from the Deep [C], Lure of the Ring [C]

• WOME If the Eagles "Out of the High Airs" Call to Battle card (initiative 1) cancels Nazgûl Leadership, then this card will have no effect.

3x "We Come to Kill" (7) Half-orcs and Goblin-men [A], Hill-trolls [A], Olog-hai [A]

• No LOME/WOME/KOME issues identified yet.

3x1x "Words of Power" (1) The Lidless Eye [C], The Ringwraiths Are Abroad [C], Worn with Sorrow and Toil [C], The Gates are Closed [C]

• If used against Elrond, "Words of Power" will negate his Leadership, but also The Household of Elrond ability, so all Elven Elites with him do not have Leadership during this round if "Sudden Strike" takes effect at initiative 2.

• If a LOME Hobbit of the Shire is targeted by this card, and the entire Free Peoples Army is eliminated, then The Art of Disappearing ability cannot apply as all abilities of the targeted Companion are negated during this round. Hence, if a LOME Hobbit of the Shire is eliminated during a round in which "Words of Power" has cancelled his abilities, he will be eliminated permanently from the game. [web]

• WOME "Words of Power" only relies upon the presence of Nazgûl, so does not interact with "Out of the High Airs" at the same initiative, i.e., even though the defender's card always activates first, both "Out of the High Airs" will activate to cancel Nazgûl Leadership, and "Words of Power" may cancel one Companion's Leadership and special abilities, regardless of who is attacking and who is defending.

• Uniquely, Treebeard is only a Companion due to an ability (Fangorn is my name), so "Words of Power" will negate his status as a Companion entirely in that Combat round; hence, he will not be a Companion for "Brave Stand" and his Root and Branch! ability will not provide a bonus to the WOME "With Doom We Come" Ents Call to Battle card (which is the only Combat card that Root and Branch! affects). [web]

• If a base "The Ents Awaken" or WOME Ents' Call to Battle card is played in a round where "Words of Power" targets Treebeard, only his Leadership and Special Abilities are cancelled; the condition in italic at the bottom still applies, so he still becomes Level 2 at the end of this Combat Round.

WOME Call to Battle cards. May use these cards repeatedly in a battle if their Faction play condition is valid. [web]

"Borne up on the Wind" (7) [A] Corsairs Faction

• The Army units transported by this card cannot bring along Nazgûl, Minions, or Faction figures. [web] This is different from the "Ships of Great Draught" transport, which carries unlimited Nazgûl and Minions.

• The 2 transported Army units could come from 2 different adjacent regions.

• The Army units transported can come from any adjacent regions, even those regions that are outside of the movement restrictions of the Corsairs, e.g., an Army in Osgiliath could use this to transport units from North Ithilien, or an Army in Umbar could transport from Near Harad, noting the restriction that it is not permitted to transport units into a Shadow Army that is currently under siege.

• If the entire Shadow Army in the battle is eliminated, note that Corsairs Faction figures are never eliminated when a Shadow Army is, so this card can still transport 2 Shadow Army units, and this even maintains a siege if the Shadow Army is eliminated. Note: any Nazgûl, Minions, and Faction figures are not eliminated here if transported Army units arrive to prevent that (this is a new rule that only applies for Corsairs and this card, WOME p23) web web This also applies if a pre-Combat card caused the Army elimination (i.e., "Charge", "Sudden Strike", "The King of the Dead", or "With Doom We Come").

• This card may result in the Shadow Army having more than 10 Army units, but this is permitted for the duration of the battle. At the end of the battle, the Shadow Army may have to put the excess Army units back into reinforcements, but a post-Combat advance could split the over-stacked Army between two regions so that no unit needs to be removed for the stacking limit.

• If "Death to the Forgoil" started the battle, Dunlendings figures can be transported by this card from an adjacent region, since they are Isengard Regular Army units until the end of the battle (this does not affect other Dunlendings elsewhere on the board and is just an effect of the "Death to the Forgoil card). web

• KOME A Dark Chieftain cannot forfeit a Call to Battle card with his Combat ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability does not activate if a Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not Character/Strategy deck cards. (WOME p11)

"The Last Stroke of Doom" (8) c Corsairs Faction

• If the entire Shadow Army is eliminated, Corsairs figures are not, and so remain in the region.

• If the Free Peoples has played "The Forest is Rising" or "The Terror of the Dead", the decision on whether to use one of those cards happens before "The Last Stroke of Doom" (since for tied initiatives, the defender's card is always resolved first), so Shadow can decide on eliminating a Corsairs figure for this card only if he knows it is going to work. web

• KOME A Dark Chieftain cannot forfeit a Call to Battle card with his Combat ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability does not activate if a Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not Character/Strategy deck cards. (WOME p11)

"Old Hatred" (2) c Dunlendings Faction

• Dunlendings Call to Battle cards may not be used if the Shadow Army is under siege.

• During a "Death to the Forgoil" battle, Dunlendings figures act as Isengard Regulars, and so may not use Dunlendings Call to Battle cards ("Old Hatred" or "Fierce Folk")

• Although this card does not say "apply the result immediately" as on "Durin's Bane", it operates in the same way; hits are applied immediately and before the Combat roll and Leader re-roll.

• "Confusion" will not apply if the Free Peoples Army is eliminated by "Old Hatred" before the Combat roll as the battle ends immediately. p31 web

• "Shield-wall" may not protect against hits from this card as "Old Hatred" generates pre-Combat hits (like "Durin's Bane"). "Shield-wall" specifically only cancels a hit from the Combat roll and Leader re-roll.

• "Charge", "Sudden Strike", "The King of the Dead", and "With Doom We Come" have the same initiative as "Old Hatred"; the defender's card is always resolved first in tied initiatives. If the Shadow Army is defending, then "Old Hatred" is resolved first. If Shadow is attacking, the Free Peoples card is resolved first, and if that eliminates the Shadow Army (since those cards results are applied immediately, before the Combat roll), then the battle ends immediately, preventing "Old Hatred" from taking effect.

• Note that the Dunlendings Faction is not eliminated if the last Dunlending is eliminated (and the Faction die will remain in play, even if all Dunlendings are eliminated), and they also remain in play if Saruman is eliminated; he is required to bring them into play, but they survive his elimination. The Dunlending Faction is only eliminated if North and South Dunland are both controlled by the Free Peoples player.

• KOME A Dark Chieftain cannot forfeit a Call to Battle card with his Combat ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability does not activate if a Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not Character/Strategy deck cards. (WOME p11)

"Fierce Folk" (6) A Dunlendings Faction

• Dunlendings Call to Battle cards may not be used if the Shadow Army is under siege.

• During a "Death to the Forgoil" battle, Dunlendings figures act as Isengard Regulars, and so may not use Dunlendings Call to Battle cards ("Old Hatred" or "Fierce Folk")

• "With Doom We Come", "Sudden Strike", "Charge" are at initiative 2 and pre-Combat hits are applied immediately. Hence, "Fierce Folk" at initiative 6 cannot be used to reduce hits from these cards.

• "Blade of Westernesse" may be cancelled by "Fierce Folk", but only if the Shadow Army is defending (as the defender's card resolves first in tied initiatives). Also, if there is more than one hit (from Combat roll or Leader re-roll), then "Fierce Folk" must cancel all Free Peoples hits to cancel "Blade of Westernesse" (this is because the Shadow player does not get to choose which specific hits are cancelled by "Fierce Folk", so would have to cancel all to prevent "Blade of Westernesse"); if at least one hit is not cancelled and there was a Leader re-roll hit, then "Blade of Westernesse" will take effect. web

• "Fateful Strike" cannot be prevented by "Fierce Folk" as the only consideration is "if your Leader re-roll scores one hit", so even if all hits are cancelled, "Fateful Strike" can still activate. web

• "No Quarter" (initiative 5) is resolved before "Fierce Folk" (initiative 6); hence, "Fierce Folk" cannot prevent a Combat roll or Leader re-roll hit from generating a "No Quarter" additional hit. This logic would also apply to "Nameless Wood", but that card is not present when the WOME expansion is in play.

• "Orderly Withdrawal" and "Shield-wall" have no interactions with "Fierce Folk". Both apply at initiative 6, but the Free Peoples card cancels a hit on the Free Peoples Army, while "Fierce Folk" may cancel up to 3 hits against the Shadow Army (1 hit per Dunlending eliminated).

• Note that the Dunlendings Faction is not eliminated if the last Dunlending is eliminated (and the Faction die will remain in play, even if all Dunlendings are eliminated), and they also remain in play if Saruman is eliminated; he is required to bring them into play, but they survive his elimination. The Dunlending Faction is only eliminated if North and South Dunland are both controlled by the Free Peoples player.

• KOME A Dark Chieftain cannot forfeit a Call to Battle card with his Combat ability. (KOME p18)

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability does not activate if a Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not Character/Strategy deck cards. (WOME p11)

"Hideous Speed" (2) C Spiders Faction

• This card instructs the player to perform the elimination, i.e., the Shadow player chooses the Companion or Leader that will be eliminated.

• "Shield-wall" and "Orderly Withdrawal" cannot prevent this attack as "Hideous Speed" targets a Companion or Leader.

• "Charge", "Sudden Strike", "The King of the Dead", and "With Doom We Come" have the same initiative as "Hideous Speed"; the defender's card is always resolved first in tied initiatives. If the Shadow

Army is defending, then "Hideous Speed" is resolved first. If Shadow is attacking, the Free Peoples card is resolved first, and if that eliminates the Shadow Army (since those cards results are applied immediately, before the Combat roll), then the battle ends immediately, preventing "Hideous Speed" from taking effect.

• While LOME Elrond's The Household of Elrond ability is active, Elven Elites in Rivendell also act as Leaders. However, they are not eligible to be eliminated by the "Hideous Speed" effect. [web]

• If a LOME Hobbit of the Shire is eliminated in battle, he can use his The Art of Disappearing ability to prevent elimination; move him in an adjacent region [web]. If the Free Peoples Army is besieged inside a Stronghold, then put him to one side, and only place him in an adjacent region at the end of the battle (this has been added to the card in 2024, so any print before that will not include this); if the Stronghold is still under siege at the end of the battle, then he will remain in that region, as it has been ruled that The Art of Disappearing uses normal movement rules and so he is not permitted to leave that region if it is still under siege. [web]

• KOME A Dark Chieftain cannot forfeit a Call to Battle card with his Combat ability. (KOME p18)

• KOME "Hideous Speed" may eliminate a non-Awakened, non-Corrupted Sovereign (as they act only as Leaders for all rules), or some Awakened Sovereigns (Awakened Brand, Denethor and Dáin can be eliminated by this card as they are all Level 1, but Awakened Théoden and Thranduil cannot be affected as they are both Level 2 and this card can only eliminate Level 1 Companions).

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability does not activate if a Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not Character/Strategy deck cards. (WOME p11)

"Webs of Shadow" (7) [A] Spiders Faction

• The total hits count may be affected by Free Peoples cards up to initiative 7, i.e., "Heroic Death", "Shield-wall", or "Orderly Withdrawal" (initiative 6) state that they "cancel" hits, while "Speeding on a Gathering Wind" (initiative 7) may apply, but only if the Free Peoples are defending (as when two cards have tied initiatives, the defender's card is resolved first). [web]

• If the entire Shadow Army is eliminated after applying casualties, this card will not trigger, as Spiders are eliminated along with the Shadow Army units which happens before this card activates at initiative 7. [web]

• "Shield-wall" or "Orderly Withdrawal" (both initiative 6) cannot protect against the additional "Webs of Shadow" hit as is at initiative 7, which is after those Free Peoples cards take effect at initiative 6.

• KOME A Dark Chieftain cannot forfeit a Call to Battle card with his Combat ability. (KOME p18)

• Note: The wording of this card has been altered slightly to address an initiative timing issue (the following text overrides earlier printings of the game): "If, after removing casualties from the Combat roll and Leader re-roll, you scored more total hits than your opponent (including effects from any Free Peoples Combat card or Faction Call to Battle card), you may eliminate one of these Spider figures to score one additional hit." [web]

• After using any Call to Battle card, take it back into hand. Call to Battle cards may be used in every round that a Faction figure is within range to activate. Note that the Witch-king, The Black Captain's Sorcerer ability does not activate if a Call to Battle card is used on the first round of battle as they are not Character/Strategy deck cards. (WOME p11)

Hundreds of hours of research and documentation of the many complex card interactions have gone into this document over the last five years. Simplified Term	Correct Term	Definition
Ainulindale	Ainulindalë	"Music of the Ainur", from before the beginning of Time and the creation of Arda.
Anarion	Anárion	Brother of Isildur and the youngest son of Elendil, the High King of Gondor and Arnor.
Anduril	Andúril	The reforged sword from the shards of Narsil, also called The Flame of the West.
Barad-dur	Barad-dûr	Sindarin for "Dark Tower", also Lugbúrz in the Dark Speech. Completed by Sauron in the Second Age, destroyed following the victory of the Last Alliance of Elves and Men at the end of that age and rebuilt in the Third Age, 67 years before the War of the Ring.
Cirdan	Círdan	Círdan the Shipwright. A Telerin Elf, great mariner and shipwright, Lord of the Falas and then of the Balar, one of the wisest and perhaps the mightiest of the Moriquendi. He was the bearer of the Great Ring Narya, which he in turn gave to Gandalf.
Curunir	Curunír	"Man of Skill", the Sindarin name for the Wizard that Men called Saruman.
Dain	Dáin	Dáin II 'Ironfoot' (T.A. 2767-3019, aged 252 years). Lord of the Iron Hills and King under the Mountain. In his life, he fought in the Battle of Azanulbizar, the Battle of Five Armies and the Battle of Dale.
Deagol	Déagol	Also "Nahald". Stoor-hobbit of Gladden Fields. Best friend of Sméagol until his discovery of the Ring.
Druadan Druedain	Drúadan Drúedain	(sg. Drúadan) or Drúath (sg. Drû). A race of wild Men, also called Woses or Wild Men of the Woods by the Rohirrim.
Dunadan Dunedain	Dúnadan Dúnedain	(sg. Dúnadan). Men of the West, descendants of Edain and the survivors of Númenor. "Elf-friends" who sided with the Ñoldor. In the beginning of their history, the Dúnedain were blessed with a lifespan thrice the life of lesser men, yet this ever diminished over the course of the Third Age.
Ea	Eä	Literally "be" or "exist". Middle-earth was a continent on Arda. Eä refers to all of creation.
Earendil	Eärendil	Half-elven mariner who voyaged to Valinor. Father of Elros, the first King of Númenor, and of Elrond.
Eomer	Éomer	The son of Théodwyn and Éomund. After their parents' death, Éomer and his sister Éowyn were adopted by their uncle Théoden, King of the Rohirrim. He is the leader of the forces of Rohan who attack and kill the Uruk-hai who kidnapped Merry Brandybuck and Pippin Took.
Eowyn	Éowyn	A combination of her parents' names: Éomund and Théodwyn ("Horse-joy" or "lover of horses" in Old English, the language Tolkien adapted to represent Rohirric). Éo- sounds like "eh-ah" with the "ah" just barely pronounced, while y is the same sound as German ü or French u.
Feanor	Fëanor	Ñoldorin elf that departed from Valinor in the land of Aman, where the Ñoldor had lived with the Valar. He was born in Valinor, the only child of Finwë, High King of the Ñoldor, and was a craftsman, gem-smith, and warrior, the maker of the Silmarils and inventor of the Tengwar script.
Grima	Gríma	Gríma, called Wormtongue, was the chief counsellor to King Théoden of Rohan. Bought by the corrupted Wizard Saruman, he was his mole in the Edoras court and worked to weaken the Rohirrim. His treachery exposed, Gríma fled to Isengard and was entrapped in Orthanc with Saruman.
Grishnakh	Grishnákh	Orc Captain of Mordor. Led Mordor Orcs who joined Uruk-hai taking Merry and Pippin to Isengard.
Khamul	Khamûl	A Ringwraith and second to the Witch-king. Held Dol Guldur as Sauron's lieutenant. After the Witch-king was slain, he became the Lord of Nazgûl for a short period.
Khazad-dum	Khazad-dûm	In Sindarin "Hadhodrond", which became "Moria" after its fall into darkness.
Lorien	Lórien	"Dream Land", home of Galadriel and Celeborn. Also, another name for the Valar Irmo.
Lothlorien	Lothlórien	"The Dreamflower", older name for Lórien.
Mumakil	Mûmakil	Known in Westron as Oliphaunts. Large creatures resembling elephants; used in battle by Haradrim.
Namarie	Namárië	"Farewell", the name of Galadriel's lament in Lórien. "Galadriel's Lament in Lórien", which in Quenya is "Altariello nainië Lóriendessë"
Nazgul	Nazgûl	Ringwraiths in Black Speech. Úlairi (Quenya). Black Riders or The Nine. "Nine he gave to Mortal Men, proud and great, and so ensnared them. Long ago they fell under the dominion of the One, and they became Ringwraiths."
Numenor	Númenor	Island gifted to men, brought up out of the sea by the Valar in the early Second Age, after the final ruin of Beleriand. Originally called Elenna or the Isle of Elenna ("Starwards"), because the Dúnedain were led to it by the star of Eärendil, and because the island was in the shape of a five-pointed star.
Numenorean	Númenórean	The people of Númenor, descendants of the Edain.
Olorin	Olórin	Gandalf to the Men of Arnor, also 'the Grey' and later 'the White'. Originally named Olórin (Quenya). An Istar (Wizard), dispatched to Middle-earth in the Third Age to combat the threat of Sauron. Elves named him Mithrandir, known as Incánus in the South, and as Tharkûn to the Dwarves.
